State College Strike Ends; Hayakawa Balks At Terms

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Acting president S. I. Hayakawa today refused to accept in its entirety an amnesty section of an agreement ending the San Francisco State College student strike.

The agreement was reached yesterday between representatives of students who have been on strike for 113 days and the five members of a Select Committee appointed by Hayakawa.

However, at a morning news conference Hayakawa said he could not agree with seven recommendations dealing with discipline to students arrested on the campus—scene of many turbulent periods that included acts of violence and 678 arrests.

" . . . I cannot agree prior to any hearing what the limits of the penalty for a given offense will be," Hayakawa said.

"I do, however, agree that a review of current disciplinary procedures should commence immediately."

Hayakawa also told the news conference his position had not changed on personnel matters and indicated he considered the agreement between the strikers and the committee to be only a recommendation.

The strike leaders at a news conference yesterday indicated they felt it was a binding agreement.

"Dr. (Nathan) Hare's contract expires in June as already announced. George Murray's contract has already expired," Hayakawa said.

One of the 15 "non-negotiable demands" by the student strikers was that Hare be placed in charge of the college's black studies program. Hayakawa agreed previously to establishment of the program and named Hare as chairman but the Negro sociology professor rejected the appointment.

Another demand called for the reinstatement of Murray, a Black Panther, as a part-time English instructor. Murray's suspension, for allegedly advocating that Negroes bring guns onto the campus to protect themselves against "racist administrators," triggered the strike last Nov. 6.

Hayakawa also announced police would remain on campus

Senate Foes Ridicule Safeguard: Defense In Search Of A Mission

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate opponents of President Nixon's Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system today ridiculed the plan as "a defense in search of a mission" that would lessen and endanger U.S. security.

The ABM opponents, led by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., spoke sharply to the Nixon Administration's highest military chieftains, headed by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, at a hearing by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Gore.

At one point in the nationally televised hearing, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., got into a heated argument with Laird over Vietnam. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman used the occasion to criticize the Nixon administration's policy in the war. Laird refused to debate him on Vietnam.

Laird today repeated his contention that the Safeguard plan would protect U.S. missile sites so the United States could retaliate for any Soviet attack with ABM-protected U.S. missiles.

The defense secretary read from a formal statement; "We cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities..."

"Nor on our missile sites," Gore interrupted.

"It's easier to protect a few missiles than people," Laird replied.

Later, Fulbright, D-Ark., the Foreign Relations chairman, picked up the argument with Laird, switching the subject to Vietnam. He said the Administration was playing a "dangerous and tragic" game in Southeast Asia.

Laird retorted that he did "not believe it serves the cause of peace to carry on our

Nixon Gives Truman His Old Piano

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — President Nixon and Harry S Truman repaired their long-standing breach today with Nixon declaring that where the nation's strength is concerned, "We're not Republicans or Democrats—we are all Americans."

Accompanied by Mrs. Nixon the President visited the former chief executive at his home here. Truman and his wife awaited them on the front porch and exchanged cordial greetings before moving inside for some conversation. Nixon beamed at the Trumans but the 84-year-old former President—who had severed relations with Nixon more than 16 years ago in a hassle over campaign oratory—looked sober as he greeted his visitors.

Hickel Acts To Curb Off-Shore Drilling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel barred today oil leasing on some 55,000 acres off the coast of Santa Barbara, where a well blew out and oil polluted the beaches.

Hickel also issued more stringent petroleum operating regulations for the federal offshore area along the entire California coast.

He said that drilling and production in the Santa Barbara Channel would remain shut down indefinitely until the Interior Department is satisfied that its resumption would be safe.

Hickel said it might be necessary to abandon entirely a Union Oil Co. drilling platform, where the well mishap last Jan. 28 spread an oil slick over some 800 square miles of ocean as well as the area beaches.

Hickel revealed his plan, prompted by the Santa Barbara pollution, in a statement following a closed meeting with the House Interior Committee.

It came just ahead of a scheduled weekend visit by President Nixon to the polluted area. Nixon planned a helicopter inspection of the Santa Barbara beach area during his weekend visit to California.

"The program we are developing in response to the Santa Barbara tragedy will serve as a model for our future actions along the nation's entire coastline," Hickel said.

He said no decision has yet been made on canceling the Union lease or any others.

Reds Pound At 65 Bases

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese smashed at American bases with renewed fury today, hitting them with rockets, mortars and infantry assaults that caused serious casualties and losses of aircraft, vehicles and fuel.

In one of the heaviest series of blows since the opening of the spring offensive 27 nights ago, enemy rockets and mortars hit 65 allied bases and towns, and infantry assaults ripped into three of the bases.

It was the largest number of attacks since last Friday, when 70 bases and towns were hit.

All of the enemy infantry attacks were on American bases along the northwest approaches to Saigon, between 31 and 51

Tougher Pollution Ban Asked

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SANTA ROSA — Potent new powers to toughen California's water pollution laws, including a $6,000-a-day fine against polluters, were called for yesterday by the State Water Resources Control Board.

The porposed legislation would require polluters to pay the full cost of cleaning up their wastes, streamline legal steps to stop pollution, increase representation from the public on each of the nine regional water quality control boards, and specifically extend the state's jurisdiction to houseboats.

"We're all a little tired of being firemen," said board chairman Kerry W. Mulligan of Napa County of the need to overhaul the patchwork amendments made to the state's Water Quality Control Act since it became law 20 years ago. "Hopefully, these (revisions) will give us the tools to really do something for the future of California."

The legislative proposals, drawn by a study panel appointed by the board a year ago, were presented to the board in a meeting in the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors' chambers.

The study panel, which included Jerome B. Gilbert of Novato, former general manager and chief engineer of the North Marin County Water District, spent $75,000 on "probably the best value study the State of California ever has received," Mulligan said.

Gilbert now is executive officer of the state board, succeeding Mulligan, who was appointed chairman by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The key to the proposed legislation, Gilbert said, was the study panel's finding that activities and factors which may affect the quality of the waters of the state shall be regulated to attain the highest water quality possible after allowing for all the complex and often conflicting interests involved.

The seven-member study panel included representatives of conservation groups, industry and government.

Mulligan noted that the study panel's recommendations have been incorporated in a bill (AB 413) introduced by Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, D-Compton, chairman of the Assembly Water Committee. It was introduced so hearings could be scheduled, but with the understanding that the water board reserved the right to make minor changes, he said. Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael is a co-author.

Appointment of the study panel was authorized in a bill Porter got passed last year.

Cleaner's Shop Raided As Hippie Dope Depot

Throngs of hippies rushing to get their clothes cleaned?

The police didn't believe it either, and even though the Larkspur Cleaners was well decorated with psychedelic posters, it appeared to have an appeal far beyond the usual drawing power of cleaning establishments for the unwashed set.

Official suspicions led agents to make a marijuana buy from an employee of the shop, who happened to be a Marin County jail inmate spending his days working there on a work furlough basis.

Armed with a warrant for Steven Cowan, 22, after the Marin County Grand Jury indicted him yesterday for the sale Feb. 28, Larkspur police and agents of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau went to the shop at 274 Magnolia Avenue, about 5:30 p.m.

A search revealed "the largest amount of LSD I've ever seen," in the words of a drug agent, who placed a "conservative estimate" of the value of the illegal drug at $6,555.

The LSD was in a drawer on the back side of the shop's counter, agents said.

Arrested along with Cowan were another jail inmate who was working at the shop, John Robert Thiele, 19, of San Ra-

Crime Plan Is Approved; Secrecy Hit

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A master plan to upgrade law enforcement throughout the Bay Area, prepared at a cost of almost $50,000 in public funds, was adopted secretly last Saturday by the Association of Bay Area Governments' regional advisory board on comprehensive justice planning, it was learned last night.

No notice of the meeting, held at the Hotel Claremont, was given either to the press or to the public despite California's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act, which requires that 24-hours notice be given of such meetings.

The holding of the meeting was disclosed by ABAG's executive director, J. Julien Baget of Novato, at a meeting at the hotel of the association's executive committee.

Marin Supervisor John F. McInnis, a member of the executive committee, was highly critical of the advisory board's closed meeting — and of the board's forwarding its report to Sacramento without first having it reviewed by the executive committee. San Francisco

THE DRUG SCENE

Support Is Growing For Legal Marijuana

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

(Last of 10 articles)

Some controversies over marijuana are growing warmer.

Should "pot" be legalized? Or, at least, should severe penalties for possessing it be reduced?

Proponents of legalizing it are apparently growing in number.

They argue it is less dangerous than alcohol, which kills thousands of Americans each year. No one becomes physically addicted to pot, they add, and it doesn't kill anyone unless he accidentally harms himself under its influence. Marijuana, they assert, is safer than smoking regular cigarettes.

Proponents hold that people should have a right to enjoy a mild drug that brings them a sense of well-being, that offers a way to relax, to fantasize, to have social and intellectual communion with other people. They argue that if pot were made legal, many drinkers would give up alcohol in favor of marijuana.

Opponents counter that alcohol is so badly abused that five to six million Americans are outright alcoholics, and that marijuana has the same potential to produce an equal or greater number of people who would have problems from pot.

"Because we have rum-heads, there is no reason to have pot-heads," is one argument. Opponents question that many alcoholics would give up booze, and that six million "Marijuanics" might come along atop all the alcoholics. The cigarette smoker, they add, can go about his usual business while he smokes, but the marijuana smoker cannot.

On more of a middle ground, others argue that the real question is not whether marijuana is potentially dangerous, because all drugs, even aspirin, are. They oppose legalization because they say not enough is known yet about

Jordan Claims Bagging A Jet

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI — Jordon reported new attacks by Israeli jet fighter-bombers today and said antiaircraft fire shot down one plane half a mile east of the King Hussein bridge across the Jordan River, killing the pilot.

A military communique issued in Amman said two Israeli Air Force Mystere jets attacked Jordanian Army positions east of the bridge at 3:55 p.m. and that the wreckage of the plane fell on Jordanian territory.

It was the fourth time this week Israeli jets have been reported in action against Jordan.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Praises Youth

GENEVA (AP) — America's youth in spearheading their country's quest for racial equality, the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations Human Rights Commission said today.

"The young of America have truly led the nation in this quest, making the older generation rethink values, attitudes and a way of life," Rita E. Hausser declared.

It was most encouraging Mrs. Hauser said, that the "youth of all countries are united in spirit and motive, bases on their sense of shared humanity."

Worm Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence that a vicious and potentially lethal form of intestinal worm tormented North America's prehistoric cavemen was reported today by a team of Utah scientists.

The new findings suggest that cavemen were sickened by the parasite— a thorny-headed giant of the worm world — from eating such delicacies as crickets, grasshoppers, beetles, cockroaches and whole, small rodents which carried the devilish worms in their own intestines.

Researcher John G. Moore and two colleagues of the University of Utah said in the magazine Science they had found eggs of the worm moniliformis clarki in ancient, dried samples of human waste products discovered in Danger Cave, Utah.

Israeli Denies Nuclear Arsenal

NEW YORK (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said today his country has no nuclear weapons and has "decided not to be the first power to introduce nuclear weapons into the Middle East."

Eban, interviewed on the NBC "Today" show, said he did not believe any Middle Eastern power has nuclear weapons now.

Israel, he said, has the "scientific capacity" to produce such weapons but is not doing so.

To Ignore Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — South Africa indicated last night it would pay no more attention to a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for it to withdraw from Southwest Africa than it has to a similar demand from the General Assmbely

The council called for the withdrawal in a resolution adopted 13-0, with Britain and France abstaining.

"I can't see that this resolution has any meaning," South African Ambassador Matthys I. Botha said.

His government holds that the General Assembly acted illegally Oct. 27, 1966, when it declared that South Africa's League of Nations mandate over the big territory had been terminated.

Denies 'Looting'

MANILA (AP) — Departing U.S. Ambassador G. Mennen Williams has asked the Philippine government to name a panel to determine whether he and his wife are trying to loot the country of rare artifacts.

The Foreign Office said today the request had been turned over to the National Museum for study. After a newspaper campaign, the museum director, Gemma Araneta, had warned Williams and his wife not to disregard a law that states items classed as national treasures cannot be exported.

The U.S. Embassy has refused to comment on the controversy stemming from charges by a columnist for the Manila Chronicle that the wealthy ambassador and his wife were buying up cultural treasures to take home with them.

Stickers Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has rescinded its order telling its active duty personnel they could not display political bumper stickers on their cars, the Armed Forces Journal said today.

The Journal said Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor wrote Sen. Sam L. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., that "Army personnel will, in the future, be permitted to display political bumper stickers on their private automobiles. This of course does not affect the Army's long-standing policy of noninvolvement in partisan matters."

Ervin, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, had urged Resor to cancel the order.

New Panelists

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has named four newcomers to the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, which is responsible for keeping him posted on the government's entire intelligence effort and recommending ways to make it more effective.

Nixon also renewed the board by executive order yesterday. It is headed by retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and has nine other members.

Liza Minelli Denies Aussie Leader Link

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Actress-singer Liza Minelli says she was "all a flutter" over a dressing room visit by Australian Prime Minister John Gorton which figured in a row in his country's House of Representatives.

And so were her mother-in-law and sister-in-law, who were present the whole time last July 1, declared the slender black-haired daughter of Judy Garland in an interview yesterday.

"We were all a flutter. It was like the president coming back," she said of the prime minister's visit in Sydney. "My mother-in-law and sister-in-law were there and we lined up in a sort of receiving line."

Miss Minelli agreed with the prime minister that any story linking their names in a scandalous way as a result of this tete a tete was a pure fabrication. "Vicious lies," was her description.

Speakers in the Australian House of Representatives had said that as they understood it Miss Minelli wrote an article for the British magazine Private Eye recounting experiences with Gorton at night clubs in Bali and Australia.

Albert James, a member of the opposition to Gorton's Liberal party governments, said it was reported the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had paid $15,000 for the article and peddled it to African, European and American publications. This was flatly denied in Washington.

The House ended by voting not to investigate the matter and Gorton won a standing ovation from his Liberal Party followers at a special meeting last night.

"The entire story," Miss Minelli said, "is untrue and ridiculous. It is so ridiculous that I laughed when I first heard it. I sent a telegram to Mr. Gorton and his wife expressing my regrets and assuring them that I was taking legal action to find out who started this lie.

"I've never written any article. I don't even have time to write letters," said Miss Minelli.

No state has a higher low point than Colorado or a lower high point than Florida. Colorado's lowest spot, along the Arkansas River, towers 3,350 feet above sea level. Florida's loftiest altitude — 345 feet — lies in Walton County.

Additional 10 Lunar Trips Set

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — If the first manned lunar landing comes off as planned in July, a space official says, it will be followed up by a series of others for "a sum total of 10 voyages to the surface of the moon."

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the Air Force Association convention yesterday:

"If we do make the first touchdown this summer, we'll follow that with three similar voyages, each time increasing the scientific equipment."

Each of the first four moon landings, he said, would leave equipment to measure lunar surface disturbances and to reflect laser beams back to earth.

The six later landings, he said, could be set up in areas of the most significant interest and could include overland exploration.

"We're talking here really about man's conquest of the seventh continent," he said, noting that the moon has about the area of North and South America.

$50,000 In Bonds Approved For Sale

Old Adobe School District trustees yesterday approved the sale of $50,000 in bonds to be redeemed over an 11-year period.

Supt. Dean Magowan said the funds would be used to purchase additional school sites, plans for new buildings and a six-classroom addition to La Tercera School. The bonds may be put up for sale in late May or June.

Tennessee Campus Building Destroyed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A two-story science building at Lane College in Jackson, Tenn., was destroyed by a suspicious fire and violence hit widely scattered high schools. But the longest student strike in the nation ended at San Francisco State College. (See story, page 1.)

The president of predominantly Negro Lane College, Dr. C.A. Kirkendoll, said, "I personally believe it was arson." Lane reopened eight days ago after a 10-day shutdown due to a student boycott, extensive vandalism and other suspicious fires.

Kirkendoll said he thought the fire was "triggered" at a campus meeting called by the Black Liberation Front. The fire department reported no injuries in the blaze.

Officials at Denver West High School said a teacher who was termed a "racist" by students would be transfered at his request, in the wake of a rock-throwing melee that led to more than 20 arrests and three injuries.

Students threatened to strike the 1,800-student high school and two other schools.

Police waded into a crowd of about 300 students and used chemical Mace to subdue protesters. A television cameraman was arrested and charged with hitting a policeman.

In Forrest City, Ark., about 200 students threw rocks at a junior high school to protest the dismissal of a teacher who had been active in civil rights work.

Rev. J. F. Cooley, who taught seventh grade, was fired by the school board Wednesday without explanation. He had organized demonstrations at a grocery store opposite the all-Negro school to protest a limit on the number of students permitted in the store at one time.

The high school and junior high school in New Brunswick, N.J., remain closed after students battled yesterday.

Police arrested 11 students at Harper High School on Chicago's South Side after fighting between whites and Negroes spread outside the building. Bloom Township High School in a Chicago suburb remained closed after disorders Wednesday.

At other schools:

Buffalo, N.Y.—Students at the State University at Buffalo planned to confront Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today at a campus ceremony, to press demands that led them to seize the administration building for 16 hours Wednesday.

The State University Construction Fund ordered a halt in construction at the nearby Amherst campus, after protesters charged that construction unions at the site employed no Negroes.

Houston, Tex.—Mark Rudd, a leader of last spring's protests at Columbia University in New York, defied an administration ban and spoke at the University of Houston without incident.

Chicago—Two students and a campus guard were injured in a cafeteria brawl at Chicago State College, which canceled classes. The school has been troubled for more than six months. Negro students seek the resignation of President Milton Byrd, a white.

Albuquerque, N.M.—City officials held up final approval of a contract to make the Civic Auditorium available for the national SDS convention. Officials will meet today with SDS spokesmen and the Federal Alliance of Free City States, in whose name SDS sought the facility.

SDS has court action pending against the University of Texas, which barred the convention from its Austin campus.

Recording Star Will Turn 104

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The world's first recording star, who in 1887 played the piano for Thomas A. Edison's first phonograph recording, will be 104 Sunday.

Harriet Atwood made the historic recording in West Orange, N.J. Edison sent his young assistant, George Atwood, down the street to get the neighborhood music teacher to play for the new machine on which they were working. Atwood came back with Harriet Hadden, who became Mrs. Atwood.

Sunday the patients at Terrace Hill Nursing Home here will have a party for Mrs. Atwood, who's been living at the home since 1956.

Mrs. Atwood's husband, who died in 1933, helped Edison perfect the phonograph and then went on to become an electrical engineer with Western Electric. He helped develop the dial telephone system.

Innocent Plea To Jail Escape

Arthur Victor Bornn, 21, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of escaping from the Marin County Jail in 1966. A preliminary hearing was set for March 25.

Judge Hadden W. Roth refused to reduce Bornn's bail from $11,000 after learning from a probation officer of Bornn's extensive criminal record which began with bicycle stealing as a child and most recently included a term in a federal prison for car theft.

Bornn was re-jailed Wednesday when he appeared at Marin County Jail to ask for his possessions left behind when he escaped a bailiff in Marin Superior Court almost three years ago.

He still faces sentencing on car theft and burglary charges to which he pleaded guilty in 1966.

Citizens Organize To Support Local Police

A Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee was founded today and it is expected that committees in at least six other Marin cities will be announced soon.

Raymond C. Kesner, Larkspur committee chairman, said that San Rafael and combined Tiburon-Mill Valley committees have been formed and that committees are in process of being set up in San Anselmo, Corte Madera and Novato.

The committees have three main purposes, said Kesner. They are: To support and encourage local police in performance of their duties; to support the concept of control over police authority at the municipal level and to resist the growing danger of a 'federal police force' through federal aid and grants; and to reject "the establishment of 'civilian police review boards' by whatever name they are called and to reject irresponsible harrassment of the police by dissident, anarchist or subversive groups."

A countywide group, Marin County Support Your Local Police Committee, was formed in May 1967 by the John Birch Society, but no longer exists.

Kesner said the county committee had a different approach — that of trying to sell its programs to the police chiefs, but met with a cool response from the chiefs, who felt there were political implications they wished to avoid.

The new committees being formed were initiated at a suggestion of the John Birch Society but are not sponsored by the society, said Kesner. Five Birch members are on the Larkspur committee, however, Kesner being one of them.

Committee supporters, the chairman related, are asked to sign a form which states that their endorsement is of the program alone and does not necessarily represent endorsement of any other organization.

The Larkspur committee has 29 sponsors and, through its program of calling on citizens, distributing literature and bumper stickers, hopes to boost this to several hundred, Kesner said.

Asked if he sanctions the committee, Larkspur police Chief Howard H. Clark said, "I can't say I sanction it because I would want to study it more. I feel I'm being greatly supported already.

"We have the support of people. By the mere fact the people pay their taxes and behave themselves, they are supporting the police department . . . that's the type of support I want."

Kesner, who lives at 113 Sycamore Avenue, is a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison.

Kesner says his committee believes there is an all-out effort to take away local police authority and give it to the federal government. "If this comes about," he said, "it will be through such groups as the Association of Bay Area Governments or the Bay Area regional organization."

Color TV Stolen

Burglars entered the home of Ruth J. Jackson of 3 Owlswood Drive, Larkspur between 7:10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. yesterday, and stole a brand new $500 color television set, Mrs. Jackson reported to police. Entry may have been through the kitchen door, said police.

Dock Employers Asks Help To End Labor Fuss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dock employers asked federal court intervention today in a spreading tie-up of cargo container shipping in West Coast ports.

Longshoremen have refused since Monday to handle prepacked containers and vans in a dispute over the jobs involved in packing and unpacking the containers.

More than 300 workers have been fired in six ports—San Francisco, Oakland, Seattle, Portland, Long Beach and Stockton.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli declined Wednesday to grant an immediate restraining order asked by the Pacific Maritime Association in an injunction suit.

The PMA charged the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union with defying an order by arbitrator Sam Kagel to work cargo containers "as directed by the employers."

Zirpoli said the issue required a full court hearing. His own court commitments will require assigning the cae to another judge, he said.

Gang Torture Death Leads To Arrests

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan's East Village, once the seat of East Coast hippiedom, is now the turf of tough motorcycle gangs. The gangs' bitter rivalry, police say, led to the fire-torture slaying of a gang member.

Police arrested a gang chief and his lieutenant last night and charged them with homicide after an intensive investigation into the death of Ray Edward White, 21, of Dayton, Ohio.

Detectives, who received little cooperation from gang members, said they believed the murder may have resulted from the victim's attempt to hold membership in both the Pagans and a rival gang, the Alien Nomads.

Arrested and held without bail were Franklin Frank, 21, president of the Pagans, and Anthony Brucardi, 17. Police said they were seeking two other men in connection with the death.

White's nude body was discovered Monday in a tenement apartment, trussed with piano wire so he would strangle himself if he struggled. He had been doused with a flammable liquid and set ablaze.

The latest arrests brought to 32 the number of persons, many of them gang members, seized during the investigation this week on charges ranging from possession of dangerous weapons to possession of narcotics.

In gang jargon, the Pagans are "bikers" meaning they are among the few who own motorcycles. The Nomads are so-called "subway bikers" who affect the black leather dress but don't own the expensive machines.

Logging To Start Near Bolinas

Logging operations on the 1700-acre Ethel Righetti ranch between Bolinas and Olema probably will start next week, according to Marin County Fire Chief Louis Bloom.

Chief Bloom said he has received a copy of a logging permit issued by the California Division of Forestry, Santa Rosa office, to a firm from North Bend, Ore. Principals in the firm are Robert L. Matthews, Jerald R. Humbert, and George E. Walker, who give their address as Box 265, North Bend.

The permit allows timber cutting from March 17, 1969, to December of 1971.

Youth Admits To Misdemeanor

Ronald Ernest Gustafson, 20, of Mill Valley has pleaded guilty to a lesser charge, car tampering, then the original felony charge of car theft.

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court ordered him to return for sentencing April 18.

A co-defendant in the case, Michael Joseph Bailey, 18, of San Francisco, was earlier certified to Juvenile Court.

The youths were arrested Jan. 5 in Tamalpais Valley, when sheriff's deputies said they drove an auto belonging to a Larkspur man a few blocks and began stripping it of wheels and battery.

Testimony Of 'Game Playing' In Mutiny Case

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (UPI)— Testimony today indicated a number of prisoners had to be picked up and boidily returned to confinement during a sitdown at the Presidio stockade in San Francisco.

Lt. John J. Tierney, the officer who directed attempts to quell the disturbance, opened the second full day of testimony in the mutiny court-martial of five of 27 soldiers.

While Tierney testified, Col. John G. Lee, a bald rotund man who is presiding officer at the proceedings, sat sideways to the court, leaned back in his chair and clipped his finger nails.

"A couple (of the demonstrators) played games," Tierney said. "At first they went along easily when an MP grabbed them, then went limp later on."

at least until April 11 so the strikers could show that peace could be maintained on campus. At that time, he said, if no further troubles arise, he will review his amnesty decision.

When asked whether his decisions could change regarding Hare and Murray, Hayakawa said the agreement did not involve their status. As to the students reaction to his decision on amnesty, Hayakawa replied:

"I don't know, I don't know, I don't know."

With that statement, Hayakawa ended the news conference abruptly.

Attorney Frank Brann and Bishop Mark Hurley, who led a citizens' effort to mediate the lengthy dispute, described the pact as a "monumental agreement." Brann said it will "provide a model for colleges around the country."

Benny Stewart and Jerry Varnardo, spokesmen for the striking groups, announced the settlement to students at an impromptu rally. They said they won all 15 of their "non-negotiable" demands.

The student leaders said an agreement on amnesty for the approximately 400 students among the demonstrators arrested would be signed. The amnesty question had been one of the major stumbling blocks. They said there would besome suspensions, but no expulsions.

OIL

erations will be allowed on Santa Barbara tracts already leased as soor as the geological information needed to assure safety is available, Hickel said. He declined to estimate when that might be.

California already has a state-proclaimed oil sanctuary, extending to the three-mile limit off Santa Barbara, from which all oil operations are banned.

But the federal government has been leasing tracts outside that limit for oil and gas operations, except for a buffer zone along the state sanctuary.

Hickel formally declared that buffer zone, 21,000 acres, an ecological preserve, and added that another 34,000 acres still unleased south of this preserve will be made an additional buffer zone with no drilling or production permitted.

Open Campus Session Set

A panel discussion designed to pacify neighborhood opposition to the open campus policy at Terra Linda High School will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the school cafeteria.

Panel members will be Marge Ryan, commissioner of spirit; Mark Regan, commissioner of student activities; Gray Barker, sophomore student council representative, and Rick Mulhaupt, student body president. Principal Frank Stocking will be moderator.

Mulhaupt said he hopes the neightbors can "cool" some of their feelings against the open campus. He said the student council wants to demonstrate to the Esmeyer residents its eagerness to alleviate problems of litter and parking that may have arisen from open campus.

NIXON

He did bow low when shaking hands with Mrs. Nixon.

Several hundred townspeople gathered behind wooden police barricades across the street from Truman's white frame dwelling. Most cheered Nixon's arrival, but a small group waved colored placards criticizing the military and Nixon's proposal to go ahead with deployment of a thin antiballistic missile system.

A grand piano has turned out to be the unlikely peace symbol to end one of the nation's nastiest political feuds — The Nixon-Truman split.

Over the years, charges of treason, cronyism and political ineptness by Nixon and threats of physical reprisals by Truman have marked relations between the two—with playing the piano the only apparent common point of interest.

Nixon moved to heal the breech when he scheduled a stop today on his trip to California for a visit with Truman. The chief executive took along the White House piano often used by Truman as a gift.

Any ties between Nixon and Truman came to an end in 1952 when Nixon, running as the GOP vice presidential candidate, charged the retiring president with coddling Communists in the government.

Truman and other Democratic leaders were "traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe," Nixon charged.

Truman reacted angrily to what he considered an attack on his patriotism. He was quoted as calling Nixon an SOB and once said he never wanted to see Nixon because "it would just start a fight. "That's the awfulest thing a man can be called—a traitor. When I get started on that, I don't want to swear, I want to punch someone."

Their paths have seldom crossed since. They last met at a Washington dinner in 1964.

The rest of Nixon's time after arriving in California late today was to include a helicopter tour of the Santa Barbara beaches despoiled by an oil slick from a runaway offshore well.

Tomorrow Nixon and his wife Pat will go to the San Juan Capistrano Mission famed for its annual springtime visitation by swallows.

bargaining or negotiations in public at this time."

Earlier, Fulbright remarked on the ABM proposal that "we have more than enough" missiles, and Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., said the United States and the Soviet Union were about equal in offensive strength.

"This moment of parity is the time to negotiate," Case said.

In his formal statement, Laird estimated that the Soviet Union could kill 15 per cent of the American population with as few as 200 missiles, while it would take 1,200 U.S. missiles to kill 45 per cent of the Russian population.

Gore said at the outset of the hearing that Nixon's decision to go ahead with the ABM system, even on a scaled down basis, was a mistake.

The Tennessee senator noted that the ABM originally was advertised to defend against a possible Red Chinese missile attack, but said the Chinese don't have any intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"Your principal argument was that the deployment of the ABM's around two Minuteman missile sites ....would preserve the integrity of our deterrents," Gore told Laird.

With the nuclear strength the U.S. now has, he said, the ABM would be an expensive and unnecessary frosting on the cake.

"What country, in the face of all this, would consider that it could launch a nuclear attack upon the United States without suffering utter devistation in looking at Laird. "It would be madness."

WAR

miles from the capital. Twelve Americans were killed and 47 wounded, while known enemy losses were 38 dead, U.S. spokesmen said.

Ten of the Americans were killed and 28 were wounded in one attack on an artillery base.

Other targets included Da Nang Air Base, the biggest north of Saigon, the nearby Marine air station at Marble Mountain, no reported casualties or damage; a U.S. Army transportation base near Cam Ranh Bay, 180 miles northeast of Saigon, moderate damage and some Americans wounded; an American fuel storage depot near Qui Nhon, 260 miles northeast of Saigon, "light to moderate damage," and the headquarters of the U.S. 1st Marine Division at Da Nang, of the 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands and of the 1st Infantry Division, north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command also reported the loss of 11 more helicopters and a jet fighter-bomber. One helicopter and the jet were shot down Wednesday and yesterday in the northernmost provinces, killing two men and wounding five. Most of the other helicopters apparently were destroyed by enemy shelling in the past week.

The report raised aircraft losses from all causes in the Vietnam war to 2,452 helicopters and 2,615 fixed-wing planes, the U.S. Command said.

REPORT

Supervisor Terry Francois, the chairman of the advisory board, was asked to report to the executive committee at its next meeting on April 17.

Only enough copies of the plan to supply the regional advisory board were printed, he said, and none will be available for viewing until additional copies are printed.

The man hired by ABAG to conduct the crash study, Robert A. Mullen, was not at work today because of illness, his secretary reported. She said additional copies will be available early next week.

She said the meeting was closed to the public "because that's the way it was planned."

The study to draw the plan was started in January by ABAG to qualify for federal funds for law enforcement programs under the Crime Control and Safe Streets Act.

The federal funds are to be available to local governments for recruitment and training of police, public education, construction of facilities, control of riots and disorders, and development of community service programs. In most cases, federal grants will cover up to 60 per cent of the cost of a local program.

The plan was to be based on the findings of task force studies of education and training, law enforcement, the judical process, corrections, juvenile delinquency, organized crime, riots and disorders, and narcotics, drugs and alcoholic abuse.

The regional plan was due to be submitted Saturday to the California Council on Criminal Justice. The state is to submit its plans to the federal government by April 1.

Guilty Verdict On Burglary

A jury in Marin Superior Court yesterday found Allan Ludviksen, 23, of San Francisco guilty of the burglary of a Belvedere residence on Aug. 15, 1967.

After a trial of three days, the jury deliberated about three hours.

Judge E. Warren McGuire referred Ludviksen to the probation department and set sentencing for April 15. Ludviksen is free on his own recognizance.

WATER

enforcement provisions "would make it unprofitable to violate," said Burton J. Gindler, a member of the study panel. Under present law, little can be done to make it expensive to violate the antipollution laws, he said.

The proposed fine "may sound large to some people, but perhaps it's not large enough in light of what happened in the Santa Barbara Channel — but it's a good start," he added.

(The San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board has asked that the fine be $100,000 a month, with a 10 per cent increase for each additional month a polluter fails to comply with antipollution regulations.

(Assemblywoman March K. Fong, D-Oakland, has proposed the monthly fine be set at $100,000 per 100,000 population in the cases of public agencies guilty of pollution.)

The proposals to change the composition of the regional boards would increase their membership from seven to nine persons. Instead of only one representative of the public at large, there would be three.

The other six include: one person associated with water supply, conservation and production; one associated with irrigated agriculture; one associated with industrial water use; one associated with municipal government; one associated with county government, and one from a nongovernmental organization association with recreation, fish or wildlife.

Gilbert, noting that the study panel's final report will not be ready for about six weeks, said it will include "strong recommendations" to regulate discharges from pleasure boats and ocean vessels.

Discharges from houseboats, the panel declared, "constitute a significant source of waste," and "may impair the beneficial uses of the waters of the state to the detriment of the health, safety, and welfare of the people of the state." Discharges of waste from houseboats, it said, "are not adequately regulated."

(Houseboats on Marin's waterfronts have been the objects of long but unsuccessful local and state government antipollution efforts.)

The proposed legislation also would hike the annual salaries of the five state board members from $20,000 to $25,000.

The legislation has the support of the Reagan administration. The governor, in his "state of the state" message to the Legislature in January, said the findings of the study panel should "be enacted at the earliest possible moment."

fael, and the owner, Robert A. Cogswell, 22, of Larkspur.

Cowan was booked on the earlier marijuana sale charge plus suspicion of possessing a dangerous drug for sale. Thiele was rebooked on suspicion of possession for sale of danger-drugs, and Cogswell was arrested on suspicion of violating as well as suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Agents said they found a marijuana cigarette in his possession.

A fourth youth, painting a poster in the rear of the shop was not arrested nor was a woman customer picking up her dry cleaning.

Agents said that the cleaning shop was carrying on a "volume business"—but not in cleaning clothes.

They did not care to speculate whether any of the illicit drugs were finding their way back to the county jail with Thiele and Cowan.

Both men are serving sentences for pior drug sale convictions.

The three were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today, and Cowan in Superior Court Monday on the grand jury indictment.

OLD WEST LOOK BANNED

A Call Made For Wiping Out Floating Dice Games

Those outdoor crap games in Marin City's commercial area should be wiped out, Marin City Community Services District directors agreed last night.

Law enforcement officers reported they can keep breaking up the games, but arrests are difficult to achieve.

An officer would have to see the dice and the money and either see or hear someone covering a bet, Dewes said. "We just can't get that close. As soon as they see a patrol car, they stand up."

Lt. Ellis Seibert of the Marin City substation said he got a call of gambling near the stores Tuesday and when he arrived two minutes later, there was no one there.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said patrolling will discourage the gambling and curtail it to a degree. "We'll keep the pressure on. If we get calls, an officer will respond."

C. J. Williams, one of the merchants, said, "This place is on the spot. We know there's gambling all over the county, but they hide it." He said it was bad to have gambling in front of the stores, where it is seen by children.

Chairman Douglas J. Quiett said at least the gamblers shouldn't have their games "out in the open where it affects a number of people."

Director Frank Phillips Sr. said the community should work on solving the problem. "It's really a disgrace that more businessmen aren't here to express their views," he said.

The board also received a letter from the Session of St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church of Marin City urging the district and Marin City Council to begin discussions with the community and county agencies toward establishing locally administered law enforcement for Marin City.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos had been invited to the session, but he was represented by Stinson, who explained that the sheriff was unable to attend.

Another Snow Outing Planned

The Gallinas Village Community Services District board agreed last night, according to secretary Marguerite Clark, to sponsor another snow trip in about two weeks, depending upon availability of charter buses.

Gallinas Village Community Services District directors also:

COMMENDATION — Thanked Diane Belben, senior at Terra Linda High School, for handling reservations for the last snow trip. "She brought in the whole junior improvement association," said Mrs. Clark.

EASTER EGG HUNT—Voted to assist the junior improvement association in sponsoring an Easter egg hunt at Pueblo Park between Descanso Way and Hacienda Way, probably on the morning of April 5.

Pair Arrested As Suspects In Shoplifting

Two persons were arrested within minutes of each other yesterday at the Disco store in Larkspur and booked into Marin County —ail on suspicion of shoplifting, police said today. They are Helen L. Zoubok, 18, of 132 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, and Gerard J. Sirocky Jr., 24, of San Francisco.

Sirocky was placed under citizen's arrest by store clerk Harold Smith at about 6:40 p.m. after Smith said he saw Sirocky walk out of the store with a pair of 79-cent socks without paying for them.

Smith, police said, chased the man for a block whereupon Sirocky threw the socks at Smith, Smith brought Sirocky back to the store and called police.

A few minutes later, clerk Donald Streeper said he stopped Miss Zoubok, who was going out of the store with two cards of eye liner and an auto dimmer switch pedal, valued at $3.47, police said.

Marin City Pair Backed For Panels

Marin City Community Services District directors last night recommended two residents for appointment to key posts after a call for local coordination on such recommendations.

Elihu H. Johnson of 31 Buckelew Street was recommended to fill a vacancy on the Marin County Redevelopment Agency created by the resignation of Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr.

The Marin City Council had recommended Mrs. Brooks and Johnson, but there was some debate because the council had acted while the services district board was still awaiting response to its call for suggested nominees from the community.

Director Frank Phillips Sr., who also is a council member, said he didn't know anything about the council acting on recommendations until he read it in the newspaper.

Banks explained that he polled council members by telephone on the recommendations and Phillips wasn't reached.

The council and the services district should work together on such recommendations, Phillips said.

Chairman Douglas J. Quiett said such "hangups" have to be eliminated if the community organizations are to present a unified front for Marin City.

Phillips emphasized he was critizing the council's procedure in nominating Johnson, not Johnson himself.

The Marin City CSD board also:

TB X-RAY — Supported a bid by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council to have the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association send its mobile X-ray unit to Marin City for chest X-rays.

BAY FILL — Tabled a request from the Citizens Alliance to Save San Francisco Bay to support a bill extending the life of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

PLANNING GRANT — Granted use of office space a the Manzanita Center as the district's contribution toward providing matching services needed for the Marin City Council to obtain a $50,000 federal planning grant.

WORKABLE PROGRAM — Designated the Marin City Council as an advisory committee to Marin County on its workable program for community improvements. The county needs a program to qualify for federal housing funds, and the council will be advisory on matters concerning Marin City.

VICE CHAIRMAN — Elected Alvin C. Bynum vice chairman.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until a special joint meeting with the Marin County Housing Authority at 8 p.m. Thursday at Manzanita Center, with the next regularly scheduled meeting April 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the center.

Man Booked In Drug Probe

Marin County Sheriff's deputies yesterday booked Robert Desmond McKendrick, 35, of Vallejo Street, Inverness, and a female companion into county jail on suspicion of drug violations.

The woman was released without charge and McKendrick was held on $500 bail to appear in court today.

Deputies made the arrest at 10:35 a.m. in the parking lot of the Parkway Cafe at Point Reyes Station and reported findin¼ marijuana, dangerous drugs and drug paraphernalia on McKendrick and in his car.

Youth To Enter Drug Center

Judge Hadden W. Roth gave permission in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for a youth, arrested on anrcotics charges after the death of a 16-year-old girl March 1, to leave jail and go to a teen-age drug treatment center.

He released Stephen Carl Ellsworth, 20, of San Rafael on his own recognizance on the condition that he move into "Teen Challenge" in San Francisco.

A representative of the center described it as a Christian-oriented drug treatment facility. He said about 85 per cent of youths admitted were successful in stopping drug use.

Ellsworth faces a charge of being under the influence of narcotics at the time of the death of Willeen Harper of San Francisco in a Corte Madera motel.

Also awaiting trial on the same charge are William John Helms, 20, of San Anselmo, and Curtis Lynn Ross, 18, of San Quentin.

LeMay Named In Countersuit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Retired Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was sued for $40,208.59 by an electronics company that charged he had used his job as chairman of the board as a springboard to other positions.

The suit by Networks Electronic Corp. of Chatsworth, was an answer and counter claim to a $5.33 million suit filed against the company by LeMay.

The legal battle concerned the circumstances under which LeMay left the company to become the vice presidential running mate of George C. Wallace on the American Independent Party ticket last year.

LeMay's breach of contract suit charged the company tried to fire him when he went into politics because his candidacy was "unpopular" with some stockholders.

THE LAST SWIM OF WINTER

A stalwart swimmer dips into the frigid Baltic Sea beneath an ice-covered pier at Kiel, Germany. When onlookers expressed surprise at his actions Wednesday, the swimmer declared, "When I swim again, it will be spring." Of coure, he didn't have to wait long; spring began yesterday, and it is doubtful the water was much warmer.

Kennedy For Lifting China Barrier

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called for an overhaul of U.S. policy toward Communist China, including pulling U.S. troops off Formosa and giving Communist China a seat on the U.N. Security Council.

Kennedy, in a speech last night, also called for removing all travel and nonstrategic trade barriers with mainland China and opening consular missions there until diplomatic relations are established.

The Massachusetts Democrat told the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations, "Surely, in the entire history of American foreign policy, there has been no fiction more palpably absurd than our official position that Communist China does not exist."

Kennedy, the Senate assistant majority leader, called on the Nixon administration "to rectify the errors of the past" by offering Peking "a clear and attractive alternative to the existing impasse in our relations."

Negotiations with the Communists should begin "at the earliest opportunity," Kennedy said.

The senator proposed that the China seat in the U.N. Security Council and General Assembly be given to the Communists. He said Nationalist China might retain General Assembly membership and that diplomatic recognition should be maintained with the Nationalists. He also proposed the "demilitarization" of Formosa.

The Whisky Ring was a conspiracy by whisky distillers and federal revenue officers to defraud the government on liquor taxes.

Braun-Maine Murder Trial Bills Added Up

UKIAH (AP) — The 45-day Braun-Maine murder trial cost Medocino County $62,000, Dist. Atty. Duncan James says.

That amount, he said yesterday, did not include the cost of his office nor of the sheriff's office.

The trial, longest and costliest in the county's history, was moved from Ukiah to San Jose in a change of venue after defense attorneys said their clients could not get a fair trial in this Northern California Community.

Thomas Braun, then 19, from Ritzville, Wash., was convicted last Nov. 14 of first degree murder in the slaying of Timothy Luce, 17, Ukiah on Aug. 21, 1967 near Upland. Braun was sentenced to die in the gas chamber.

His companion, Leonard Maine, also 19 and from Ritzville, was convicted of second degree murder and received an indeterminate sentence.

Both also were convicted for th kidnap, rape and assault with intent to murder of Luce's girl friend, Susan Bartolomei. She was driven from the Ukiah area to the foothills near Sonora and left for dead alongside a country road.

Miss Bartolomei remains speechless and is partially paralyzed as a result of bullet wounds in the head.

James said the trial costs inludes $42,767 paid ot to attorneys Merle Orchard and John Poulos, appointed by the court to defend Braun and Maine. Other payments included $5,000 in witness fees, $8,400 in jury fees and $6,500 for psychiatric services.

$1,600 Value On Items Taken

Stereo equipment, guitars and other items valued at a total of $1,600 were taken from an apartment at 430 Canal Street between 11:20 a.m. and 3:55 p.m. Wednesday, police said yesterday.

Betty Lou Pfleiderer reported the property owned by her and her roommate, Noreen A. St. Pierre, was taken through a sliding glass door after the lock had been pried, police said.

The theft of a set of Burmese jewelry valued at $850 was reported Wednesday by Mildred Irene Pratz of 3 Lillian Lane, San Rafael. She told police the necklace, earrings and bracelet were taken from a windowsill in her living room.

Officer Acquitted In Fatal Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 10-week trial of white policeman Michael O'Brien ended with his acquittal on voluntary manslaughter charge in the shooting death of George Baskett, a Negro truck driver.

Defense Attorney J. W. Ehrlich predicted O'Brien, suspended since the shooting, would be returned to duty. But O'Brien faces a police commission hearing, as yet unscheduled, on charges of "unofficerlike conduct."

O'Brien, 28, showed no emotion as he heard the verdict yesterday. With an escort of police officers, he quickly left the courtroom with his arm around a weeping red-haired girl friend. He refused comment.

The all-white superior court jury of seven men and five women returned its verdict after 23 hours of deliberation extending over four days.

O'Brien was charged with shooting Baskett, 28, in a dispute that flared with a group of Negroes after a passing car scraped a boat O'Brien and another off-duty white officer were returning to a garage near the Hall of Justice.

In the trial, Ehrlich contended that O'Brien had fired in self defense as Baskett swung at him with a stick.

He said O'Brien was kicked and threatened by angry Negroes before his encounter with Baskett.

Prosecution witnesses testified that Baskett picked up the stick only after O'Brien had warned that he was going to shoot.

They said Baskett was trying to knock O'Brien's service revolver from the officer's hand when he was shot.

The first Negro in the Georgia Legislature since Reconstruction was Leroy Johnson, elected to the Georgia state Senate in 1962.

Jet Guard Gets Hero's Welcome

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Mordechai Rachamim, the young Israeli jetliner guard, who fatally shot an Arab guerrilla attacking an Israeli jetliner in Zurich last month, arrived to a hero's welcome in Jerusalem last night.

Police tried to protect Rachamim, 22, but admirers surged around him and hoisted him on their shoulders. Someone thrust a bouquet of roses into his hands.

"I want you to understand that my trial has not taken place and that I am therefore not at liberty to talk," he told reporters.

Swiss authorities released him on $23,000 bail and a guarantee from Israel that Rachamim would be returned to stand trial for the Feb. 18 shooting.

College Board Shuns Planning For Possible Tax Hike Defeat

Like a persistent prizefighter, trustees of the Marin Junior College District refused last night to consider defeat.

The board balked when Louis H. Herkenhoff, acting College of Marin president, and the college cabinet offered suggestions on possible ways of trimming the college program if the bid for voter approval of a 77-cent tax override fails April 15.

Last night's meeting was the last before the tax vote.

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy was the first to object to any discussion of austerity measures before the election.

"I would like to see us go on a positive basis," she said, "rather than sit up here and say to the people that if you're not going to vote for this, your child may not be able to come to school here.

"These tactics never produce positive support. There are other districts in this county which have said these things and they have had to re-evaluate."

"We should let the people draw their own conclusions as to what could happen," said Trustee Robert E. Oliver.

The suggestions by Herkenhoff and the cabinet included choices to limit enrollment, setting an earlier deadline for enrollment to eliminate late arrivals, restudy of new faculty needs for 1969-70 and a reduction in courses.

Theodore C. Wellman, board president, suggested a workshop session with staff to establish priorities if the override fails. The board has said it needs the new tax, which would last until 1973, for operating expenses and expansion, in addition to a current, 35-cent override which expires in 1972.

Student John Ruchenski told the board he detected "deafeatism" in its ranks, although Wellman said the mood was "just the contrary."

"I think a large number of us are optimistic," offered Herkenhoff, "although we're not going blindly down the primrose path."

The board ultimately voted to defer the tentative proposals for discussion after the election, probably of a workshop.

Also in connection with the election, Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond reported that students were playing a large role in efforts to gain passage of the tax.

Wellman announced a board workshop with the citizens advisory panel on the election at 8 p.m. Thursday in the curriculum laboratory at the county schools office in Corte Madera.

Marin Junior College District Board Also:

TRANSFER — Approved interdistrict attendance agreements, although Mrs. Deedy expressed opposition to the policy of permitting exchange with about 50 other districts of up to three students each without charge. Trustee Donald K. Felt also said steps should be taken to restrict enrollment to district residents.

CENTER — Asked for preparation of bid specifications for a complex of portable buildings in the main parking lot off College Avenue to accommodate faculty and administrative offices because of the demolition of Harlan Hall. The office center is expected to cost about $265,000.

NONTEACHING — Asked the staff and nonteaching employees to fix a new calendar for an election to decide whether the employees want to join the civil service system. Board members feared "misinterpretations" during a proposed meeting to discuss election issues might jeopardize the board's attempt to pass a tax override. The meeting had been set for April 8.

BIOLOGY — Employed Dr. Hamdi A. Tamimi as marine biology teacher for the spring semester at $6,227 while the regular instructor, Gordon Chan, is on leave.

AUDIT — Hired the certified public accountant firm of Sodermblom and Co. of San Rafael to audit the district books at $2,500 for 1968-69 and student accounts at $650. The price for the district audit increased $700.

EASEMENT — Approved an agreement to move a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. power line easement to a remote corner of the Novato campus site.

CRUSADE — Learned that $2,057 had been donated in the 1968 United Bay Area Crusade drive by faculty and staff, up $116 over 1967 and amounting to 97.9 per cent of the quota.

HAIR — Heard Trustee Charles W. Gray express concern about the college's right to set appearance standards as a result of temporary dismissal from the track team of star pole vaulter Jeff Hicks because of long hair. Diamond said Hicks was put back on the team, although his hair remained long.

ADJOURN — Endoresed Felt's proposal to adjourn meetings not later than 10:30 p.m.

COMMITTEE — Announced the appointment of Wellman and Gray to the college committee which will review procedure for selecting a permanent president.

CLOSE — Adjourned in memory of Margaret E. Olney, daughter of a founder of the College of Marin, who died Tuesday.

Indians Get California's Water Aid

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California lawmakers are insisting today on safeguarding the water claims of Paiute Indians from Nevada — despite what the Nevada legislature might think.

The California Assembly Natural Resources Committee refused yesterday to accept Nevada - approved language in a water compact dividing Sierra waters between the two states.

The Indians and Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel contend the compact, which took 13 years to draft, threatens water rights of the Paiute tribe at Pyramid Lake and the lake could run dry.

Pyramid Lake is 30 miles north of Reno, at the terminus of the Truckee River. Since 1903, much of the river has been diverted into an irrigation district and the level of Pyramid Lake has declined steadily.

The California legislative Committee inserted a new section into the compact which declares that nothing in the document shall in any way limit the Indians' right to water.

Sentinel System Will Be Discussed

Broken Home Program Is Under Study

A new program to help Marin County children whose homes are being broken by divorce is being considered by the Marin County Community Mental Health Center, the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board was told last night.

Dr. Leon Wanerman, director of children's services at the center, told the advisory board that the center already has underway a program to give attention to children who have recently lost a parent by death. He did not indicate when the new program for children of broken homes would begin.

In a review of the center's children's program, Wanerman told the advisory panel that Marin's services are among the most extensive in the country. Not only does his staff perform more than 1,000 client interviews for diagnosis and treatment each month, he said, the center also operates many programs to prevent mental disturbances.

Wanerman said one therapist can give direction to a group of 10 teachers, who in turn can help a total of 300 students and more indirectly, 1,000 family members.

Cash Is Stolen

Louis W. Fenske reported to San Anselmo police yesterday that, between 11 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday, someone entered his home at 186 The Alameda and stole $330 in cash, a gold wrist watch valued at $100 and a pair of $25 gold and pearl ear rings. The burglars were believed to have entered through an unlocked rear door, Fenske told police.

Northridge Worries Fail To Dampen Town's Dinner

Approximately 25 Corte Madera town officials gathered at Bob's of Marin last night for their annual dinner meeting and although there was an official agenda the affair turned out to be mostly social.

Even the specter of Mill Valley's Northridge plan — touched on briefly by councilman Harold B. Wagstaff — failed to diminish the appetites to any appreciable amount.

While most of the councilmen, commissioners and board members were enjoying their meal, Wagstaff quickly outlined the proposal and called the plan "an intrusion into a virginal area."

Mill Valley's Northridge plan allows for the construction of roads in the Northridge area to serve planned residential development there. Corte Madera officials fear that the plan will increase traffic on Corte Madera Avenue to more than 350 cars per hour if adopted.

Wagstaff noted, however, that it appeared that even Mill Valley's planning commission had some doubts about the plan and that it was not receiving wholehearted support in Mill Valley as of yet.

At the annual dinner meeting last night were members of Corte Madera's planning commission, town council, sanitation district, park and recreation commission, board of adjustment, board of design and town department heads.

The dinner was scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. but an elongated social hour and the televised UCLA-Drake University basketball game took precedence and the dinner-meeting didn't begin until about 8:30 p.m.

The city officials also heard brief reports on the Westshore development, proposed improvements of San Clemente and Tamalpais drives, Bay Area regional government and city-county tax equity.

College Ballot Draws 27 Student Hopefuls

Twenty-seven students filed candidacy petitions yesterday to run for all student body offices except treasurer in next Wednesday and Thursday's election at the College of Marin.

The Interim Committee was to screen the petitions at noon today for eligibility. Among the candidates are three for student body president — Charles Maltzahn, Conrad Harris II and Mike Conroy

Train Sabotage Spurs Tips Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Southern Pacific Co., charging "calculated and deliberate" sabotage, is offering a $10,000 reward in the wreck of a freight train.

"It was only a matter of luck that the train crew escaped injury or death and we intend to find whoever was responsible," said vice president William D. Lamprecht of the derailment Wednesday in a marshy area five miles west of Fairfield-Suisuin.

The state tree of Massachusetts is the American elm.

$25,000 QUESTION

Who Will Patch Payroll System?

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

Question: Does Marin County have to spend $25,000 to modernize its data processing system for school payrolls, which all officials concerned agree is on the "brink of disaster?"

Definitely yes, according to County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis and his top business lieutenant, Byron Mauzy.

Probably not, according to Joseph B. Leach, director of the county's data processing department which is responsible for the school payroll. But he adds "if Hollis gets the money, that's fine with me," because it would be turned over to Leach's department.

"We don't know yet," according to County Administrator Alan Bruce, who said no conclusions have been made on what recommendation his office will make on the request. Reliable sources close to the administrator's office, however, said flatly that the money would be cut out of Hollis's budget.

The decision ultimately will be made by the board of supervisors.

Leach will recommend in his own budget that his staff modernize the payroll system, but he will not ask for extra money specifically for the school payroll.

In effect, Hollis's proposal would give Leach money for outside help to do what Leach contends is already being done "within this department . . . and within our present budget."

Said Leach: "You don't hatch the eggs any sooner by putting on more hens."

It is needed, Hollis maintains, to avert a catastrophe. Mauzy told the county board of education last month that the system is hopelessly outmoded and overburdened, a point on which Leach heartily agrees.

"We're not going to get the checks out some day and then we're all going to be in hot water," Mauzy said. The payroll handles about 11,000 checks a month.

Adding a generous filip to the discussion is an offer by Radio Corporation of America to do what Leach says he is doing and Mauzy says he wants done, but for nothing.

Essentially, the problem is that the present system of preparing data for the county's computer is based on a tabular system used for so-called "first generation" computers while the county's current "third generation" computer is based on a tape system.

Mauzy and Leach agree that the "software" — or information preparation — phase of the data processing operation has to catch up with the "hardware" — the actual computer function — phase.

Leach says he is already modernizing the payroll system "in shop," utilizing the "extra hire" of Francis Wells, an electrical engineering graduate from the University of California at Berkeley who took computer programming training at the College of Marin. Wells is paid at a rate of $829 a month.

Mauzy questions whether Wells has enough training to improve the system to the extent desired. Leach told the Independent-Journal he did not know whether Wells was qualified enough because, so far, the schools office has not given him a detailed list of what it wants. "We've asked the schools to come up with a list of specifics on what they want changed . . . we've jogged them but still haven't got it," he said.

Mauzy told the I-J the schools office has come up with "about four or five handwritten pages" of suggestions and is preparing specific examples of needed improvements.

The modernization of the payroll system was supposed to have been done under a $15,400 contract awarded by the supervisors to Information Systems Design, Inc. of Oakland last year. The company was paid $9,862 on the contract but then defaulted and, under threat of court suit, returned the money.

County Auditor Michael Mitchell said $4,250 of the returned money was given to Leach's department to begin work on modernizing the payroll system. That amount, however, was not enough, Leach said, "so I'm stuck to do what I can with what I've got." He did not say how much money would be needed but said the $25,000 requested by Hollis was "plenty enough."

Mauzy says that Leach's method is "just patching a system that needs to be completely overhauled." Because of more and more deductions being added to paychecks by law — such as tax shelter annuties, health insurance and the like — the present system has been "patched so much, there are things in there that nobody knows anything about," Mauzy says.

Even though the schools office is asking for money for the job and Leach says he is already working on it, it may turn out that neither way finishes it. RCA, which will supply the county with a new computer this September if approved by the board of supervisors (possibly next week), has offered to do it free.

In a letter to Leach dated March 7, H. A. Berman, an RCA sales representative, proposed that RCA revise the school payrol system.

Mauzy, speaking for Hollis, said of RCA's offer, "We don't care who does it," but he added, "We don't want to see RCA takes the job and then take three years to do it. It has to be done now."

Robb Escapes Mortar Injury

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb, son-in-law of former President Johnson, escaped injury last night when a Viet Cong mortar round exploded in the building where he was working.

The 82m.m. mortar ripped through the building's tin roof, killing two Marines and wounding two others. Robb's office walls were splattered with shrapnel, but he was in another room a few feet away at the time.

Robb spent his first five months in Vietnam as a Marine rifle company commander and now works as a logistics officer at 1st Marine division headquarters. He is scheduled to return to the United States in May.

$3.2 Million Sought For Petaluma Work

The Petaluma City Council by 5-2 vote yesterday approved a compromise plan to place four capital improvements bond issues totalling $3.2 million before the voters in the June 10 election.

Offered as the second proposal of the day by Councilman Albert L. Battaglia, the plan for four separate issues still could not draw unanimous support from the council, which has long debated the approach to the voters while agreeing on the need.

The four issues provide relocation of Petaluma Boulevard, $1.5 million; widening of Caulfield Lane to Petaluma Boulevard and a pedestrian overcrossing at the Washington Street Highway 101 overpass, $1,214,000; police and fire improvements, $230,000; park improvements and land acquisition, $100,000. Bond contingencies and engineering costs at $160,000 bring the total to $3,204,000.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert will put the plan into ordinance form to be approved at a council meeting in the near future.

Voting against the plan were Councilmen John W. Cavanagh Jr. and Robert S. Lipman. Lipman argued that the Petaluma Boulevard project should not be separated from the Caulfield Lane project. "If we separate it, it will stick out like a sore thumb and won't pass," Lipman warned.

Others argued that the controversial Core Area Plan should be separated from other street projects so that residents wouldn't feel they would have to accept it in order to get other more desirable projects accomplished.

In the compromise, plans for the $300,000 reconstruction of McDowell Boulevard South fell by the wayside. In the attempt to keep the issues within the $3.2 million city bonding capacity, the council decided that the McDowell project must be financed through gas taxes.

Also deleted in the final decision was $50,000 for acquisition of land for the future expansion of the civic center complex. Cavanagh argued unsuccessfully that it be included on the police and fire issue.

Polling the council informally on two other bond issue plans, the panel was divided four to three. A 5-2 margin was required to place the issues on the ballot.

The world's largest sedan?

That little thing? The largest?

Well, certainly not in length. And, most assuredly, not in width.

But when you start counting the things you can get inside its trunks, that's quite another story.

Here are the cold hard facts:

The trunk on the largest conventional sedan measures 22 cubic feet. (And some of this room is taken up by a spare tire.) The Squareback will carry four passengers and 31.2 cubic feet of things. And with the rear seat down you get a giant 48.9 cubic feet of carrying space.

How did we make it so big?

It's really not too complicated. Where most cars have an engine, we have a trunk. (Our engine is tucked behind the rear wheels where all good VW engines are tucked.)

And where most cars have a flashy rear deck, we have more car. (This is what makes a Squareback a squareback.)

But even with all this space, the Squareback is only 7½ inches longer than the bug.

Oakland Mayor Slaps Bay Plan Port Policy

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's master plan for the bay was attacked last night by Oakland Mayor John H. Reading for "hamstringing" his city's port development.

The plan should exempt ports from the jurisdiction of whatever permanent agency may be set up to regulate bay fill, Reading told the executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Citing Oakland's "unique" chance to cash in on the growing maritime industry to solve its unemployment problem, Reading said the plan should "give us a chance to do it, and not tie our hands."

Specifically, he objected to the plan's failure to set aside some 200 acres on the north side of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge for a new port facility to handle containerized shipping. One in five jobs in Oakland "is related in some way to our seaport," he said.

Rebutting Reading was the executive director of the BCDC, Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley, who said it would be "potentially disastrous" to start exempting one sort of development from the plan. Others then would want freeway fills, or dumps or airports exempted, he said, thus starting a chain of exemptions that would undermine the plan for the bay.

The executive committee referred Reading's objections to Victor Jones, a University of California professor preparing a position paper for ABAG to take on various proposals for regional government. A special ABAG general assembly is to be held later this spring on Jones' recommendations.

After the meeting, Bodovitz told newsmen that Oakland's fill plans north of the bridge have run as high as 500 acres.

The question of the north port was left open in the master plan, Bodovitz noted, but added that "Richmond has the same social problems — and a port site that would require less fill."

A 200-acre Oakland port fill "might be a down payment," he said. "These things have a way of growing," Bodovitz said.

Unless Oakland's fill plans were regulated, he added, the city might fill just to help attract new maritime industry. "Once it's filled, you always can find something to do with it," even if new maritime industry did not come," he said.

(Two of Oakland's state legislators, Sen. Nicholas C. Petris and Assemblyman Don Mulford, have introduced bills to continue the life of BCDC, which is to go out of business late this year. Both bills propose that the Legislature adopt the BCDC plan.)

The Rohnert Park Model City Commission last night received a preliminary report on the fast growing housing needs of Sonoma State College students.

Warren R. Tappin, associate dean in charge of housing, said the preliminary results of a housing survey show that privacy is the first prerequisite for the students. He said the ultimate in student living seems to be a place in the country for $30 a month.

Looking at the problem more realistically, Tapping warned the city developers to plan ahead for future construction. He said the present enrollment of 3,000 will at least double by 1974.

No mention was made of plans by the state to construct a dormitory on campus. The city council and chamber of commerce have urged the state to reconsider the plan, before causing unfair competition for off-campus apartment owners.

Students attending also urged privacy in housing designs, but builders questioned whether they could develop such buildings economically.

Students also complained about the high cost of living in Rohnert Park and charged that food prices in local markets are too high. None last night complained about merchants refusing to cash checks, City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan reported.

In the past, merchants have irked students by refusing to honor checks, and citing a series of bad checks.

PRISON FILM MAKERS IN COURT

Hub Request Endorsed

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The City of San Anselmo's application for a $13,750 federal open space land grant to expand Sorich Park was endorsed last night by the executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The grant would help the city buy 5.63 acres adjoining the park at a total cost of $27,500. It would be added to the 62-acre undeveloped park.

The ABAG approval was conditioned on approval of the park plan by the county because the parcel, at the end of San Francisco Boulevard, is outside the city.

The federal government requires ABAG endorsement before it will consider making such a grant to a local government.

Officer Age Limit Raise Is Favored

An applicant for a peace officer's job should not be turned down just because he has turned 35, the Marin County Personnel Commission decided in a 4-to-0 vote yesterday.

Chairman Bella Aaron said the lifting of the age limit would be particularly useful in hiring sheriff's matrons because a 40-year-old woman could be just as effective as a woman of 22.

The motion, by Robert B. McCreadie, asked the board of supervisors to eliminate the age limit of 35 for peace officers and asked the Marin County Retirement Board to change its rules to allow new peace officers over 35 to join the county retirement system.

Muriel Appenzeller seconded the motion. Chairman Aaron and new commissioner, I. Wayland Bonbright of Ross, made it 4 to 0. A Bruce McKenzie arrived too late to vote on the motion.

The personnel commissioners asked for an early workshop session with the supervisors, at the suggestion of McKenzie.

McKenzie said that new personnel rules and regulations that are being drafted by the commission can be tossed out the window if different rules are agreed upon in the current management-employee bargaining sessions. "Why rewrite the rules if they can be superceded by collective bargaining agreements?" asked McKenzie.

The Marin County Personnel Commission also:

NEW RULES — Completed a preliminary review of new rules and regulations that would update old rules adopted in 1951 and asked personnel director Maren Rinne and the county counsel to make a new draft, incorporating various changes and deletions made in the 27-page document.

PROBATION PERIOD — Extended the probationary period for county probation officers from the present six months to one year. Mrs. Rinne said most professional positions including nurses and sheriff's deputies have a probationary period of one year.

HEARING POSTPONED — Postponed the setting of a hearing date for gardener-groundsman Sterling F. Bradley, who was discharged last November because of a back ailment. Commissioners agreed to wait unti the county retirement board decides whether Bradley should get work-incurred disability retirement.

Rohnert Park Club Slates Open House

The Rohnert Park Homeowners Association will celebrate its sixth anniversary with an open house at the new community and recreation center on April 17 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. William Ayers, secretary, said the association directors felt the community should be invited to tour the building since dedication ceremonies will be delayed until late spring when landscaping is more complete.

Facelifting Sought For Novato Block

A tentative plan for facelifting one side of one block of the Novato downtown area was presented yesterday to Novato Chamber of Commerce directors.

Robert D. Carrow, chairman of the chamber's civic improvement committee, reported that the 1200 block between Dean's Rexall Drug and the Central Valley Bank has been chosen as a pilot project to test applicability to the entire business district, according to secretary Billie Garl.

The proposal is to install a new uniform facade on the entire block front and place utilities in that block underground.

Louis Ghiringhelli has offered to donate the strip of land in the middle of the block for a planted rest area, according to Mrs. Garl.

The absentee property owners must still be approached by the chamber for 100 per cent cooperation on the revitalization plan before it can go ahead, she said.

The chamber board named Jerry A. Bonner to head a committee to determine if the chamber could provide entertainment for the Western Weekend fair, Mrs. Garl said. The chamber board voted to spend up to $400 for the project, she said.

The board also voted to endorse the 77-cent override tax for four years for the Marin Junior College District at the April 15 election, she said.

The board will poll its members as to whether to endorse the absorption of the Novato Sanitary District by the North Marin County Water District, also before the voters on the April 15 election.

It accepted the resignations of Otto Haiungs and David Young and named attorney John A. Trumbull and Bonner to fill their terms.

HST's Plush Private Car For $77,000

VERNON (AP) — The plush railroad car that carried Harry S. Truman coast-to-coast in his 1948 "give 'em hell" presidential campaign will be returned to his home state of Missouri.

On a dusty railroad siding in this industrial Los Angeles suburb, a Kansas City building contractor bid $77,000 yesterday to become the third owner of the midnight blue and gold private car.

"I buy this car on behalf of Alex Barket, who wants to bring it back to Kansas City in honor of the great S te of Missouri," said Robert . Koste, representative of Metropolitan Construction Co. of Kansas City, as the auctioneer gaveled the lively bidding to a close.

In Kansas City, Mrs. Barket said her husband "bought it out of his great admiration for Mr. Truman."

As he signed a check for $80,850, including tax, Koste said Barket may place the 28-year-old car in an industrial park, Bryams Ford Park.

Anguillans Protest British Occupation

ANGUILLA (AP) — The British government is preparing to pour public works aid on the tiny Caribbean island of Anguilla, but the islanders show no signs of liking the carrot any better than the stick they're now getting.

About 1,000 Anguillans—one sixth of the island population—paraded past the schoolhouse headquarters of the British command yesterday, led by Acting President Ronald Webster on a motorbike and waving the flag of Anguillan independence, orange dolphins over an aqua sea.

The British troops seemed fascinated by the gaily dressed protesters, who sang their freedom song to the Battle Hymn of the Republic and carried such placards as "Brutish British Go Home" and "Take Your Troops to Rhodesia."

But the British commissioner for the island, Anthony Lee, told Webster that the government in London recognized neither him nor his declaration of independence.

"The British government view," Lee told newspmen after a confrontation with Webster, "is that this is an illegal situation going nowhere fast."

Webster in turn said the Anguillans would not recognize Lee's authority. The Anguillan leader said he proposed an immediate referendum permitting the people to decide whether they want (1) independence, (2) association with Britain as a state of their own, or (3) a return to the St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla federation, from which the island seceded two years ago.

Plea Set Today In Stab Case

Leonard Fay Thurman, 26, of Texas, who is visiting his parents at Hamilton Air Force Base, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for assault with a deadly weapon. He was ordered to return today to enter a plea.

Thurmond's arrest stemmed from the stabbing in the back of a 21-year-old Air Force sergeant in a car near Black Point yesterday. Four companions said that Thurmond stabbed John M. Griffis with a pocket knife when Griffis told him there was no more beer.

Griffis was not seriously injured.

TIRE LEGISLATION ASKED

Assemblyman John Foran, D-San Francisco, chairman of the Assembly Tranportation Committee, displays an automobile tire which has prompted proposed legislation to outlaw hazardous white wall tires. Foran said certain segments of the tire industry are converting black wall tires into white walls by cutting out the strip in the sidewall and replacing it with a white rubber strip which sometimes causes cutting of the tire's cords. Report Favors County Treatment In Crimes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An Assembly staff report suggests that the state could save money by encouraging counties to rehabilitate criminals at home rather than sending them to state prisons.

The report, presented last night at a meeting of the Select Committee on the Administration of Justice, may be the basis for legislative proposals, said Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R - Riverside, the chairman.

The study found that sending a man to a state prison is about eight times as expensive as putting him on probation in his home county. And it found that about half the men entering prison each year are no more serious offenders than many placed on probation at home.

"There is as yet no evidence that increasing the use of probation would subject the public to any significantly increased danger," the report says.

The Assembly researchers also said they could find no evidence that an expensive penalty — sending a man to prison — is any more of a deterrent to crime than an inexpensive penalty — like putting him on probation.

By encouroging counties to rehabilitate offenders at home, the report says, the state could eliminate the need to spend money building prisons.

San Anselmo Bus Station May Remain

The San Anselmo Greyhound bus depot may not have to close since three qualified applicants have been found to take over as agent when Mrs. Ada McVerry retires in April.

This was reported yesterday at a meeting of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Lois Mason said today. She refused to release applicants' names at this time, saying that the agent is expected to be named soon.

Greyhound announced to the city council March 11 that it may close the depot at 718A San Anselmo Avenue since efforts to find a new agent were unsuccessful. The chamber has been working with prospective applicants to find a replacement, Mrs. Mason said.

Directors set 12:15 p.m., April 10, to discuss the proposed business license tax revision, in a meeting to be at the San Anselmo Theological Seminary.

Report of a survey showed that there is little interest right now in keeping businesses open at night, Mrs. Mason said.

Angel Island Yearly Study Wins Backing

Plans for Angel Island should be reviewed annually to evaluate the impact of tourists on the ecology and landscape, the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission declared last night.

In a resolution approved by a 5-0 vote, commissioners said the state's revised preliminary plan — which limits commercial development to the east garrison and designates the remainder of the island for more passive recreation activity — deserves support.

Commissioners also praised the state for its "constructive creative" approach to the question of transportation to and from the state park, according to Russell L. Melquist, assistant to the city manager.

Concessions on the island must be of a nature which will not destroy the island's natural or historic values, be located on the east side of the island and be designed and constructed to blend with surrounding areas, the resolution declared.

Commissioners Polly O. Smith and George McKegney were absent.

Nuclear Test Shots In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission fired an underground nuclear explosion today after evacuating a family and closing roads 75 miles from the test in case of an avalanche.

The AEC said there was no movement of snow at 11,918-foot Mount Charleston. The family was later returned to their home.

The sixth explosion of the year at the Nevada Test site had the force of from 20,000 to 100,000 tons of TNT.

A test equal to less than 20,000 tons was fired yesterday.

Six Persons Injured On Rain-Slick Roads

Six persons were injured on rain-slick Marin County highways yesterday and today, California Highway patrolmen said.

George Bowman Bridgett, 39, of 82 Forest Lane, San Rafael was reported in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion, head and neck injuries.

Officers said Bridgett's 1966 Volkswagen was northbound on Highway 101 near Sausalito's Monte Mar overcrossing at 3 a.m., yesterday, when it apparently slid, hitting the center divider, rolled over and threw Bridgett out.

Bridgett was cited for unlawful condition of his car's rear tires and an expired driver's license, patrolmen reported.

Traffic was slowed down for 25 minutes last night on the north end of Richardson Bay Bridge after a Sausalito woman's car stalled on the bridge at about 9 p.m. and was struck from the rear by another.

Officers said Miss Rostad's car stalled in a northbound lane and was struck in the rear by Geppert's vehicle. Miss Rostad's car then hit a vehicle driven by John Francis Doyle, 20, of 412 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael.

Joy Annette Green, 22, of Santa Rosa, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with chest injuries, broken ribs and scalp cuts suffered in an accident on Highway 101 at Alto Hill.

She told officers that she was southbound on Alto Hill when the wheel "whipped" out of her hand and her car shot to the left, hitting the center divider. Her passengers, Glen M. Maxwell, 22, of 22 Two Ranch Station, Petaluma and Susan E. Quale, 21, of 10 Corte Cordova, Greenbrae, were uninjured.

Mrs. Audrey Mae Barnett, 50, of 807 Estancia Way, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for scalp cuts and bruises and cuts after the car she was driving hit a utility pole at San Pablo and San Pedro Roads, San Rafael, officers said.

Mrs. Barnett was cited by patrolmen for driving a car with two smooth rear tires.

Cathy Wachsmuth, 18, of 18 Janet Way, Tiburon, received multiple scratches after her car reportedly went out of control at 2:15 p.m. yesterday, on Highway, just south of the Corte Madera overpass, officers said. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Tomales High School Pay Scale Approved

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night adopted the Tomales High School District pay scale for the unified district when it takes over on July 1, according to Supt. Charles E. McCully.

This was the highest pay scale in the newly unified district and will be applied to the elementary districts over a two-year period, McCully said. Elementary teachers will receive half the difference between their present salary and the higher scale in fiscal 1969-70 and the second half in fiscal 1970-71, he said.

The Tomales High School pay scale adopted last night starts at $6,600 and goes to $12,690 in five steps and 12 ranges. The total cost of the salaries to teachers next year, including half the difference in increases will be $409,037 compared to $403,517 the current year, he said.

The Shoreline Unified School Board Also:

BENEFITS — Approved giving a group dental plan, prepaid prescription plan and vision service plan, plus a choice of Blue Cross or Kaiser Hospital plans to employees at a cost of $26.70 per employee per month.

CONSULTANT — Approved an application for National Defense Education Act funds for a social studies consultant for 10 days.

JUNIOR HIGH — Discussed possibility of forming a junior high school of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades in those of the present Tomales High buildings which have not been condemned as unsafe for earthquakes. The board did not take any action on using these buildings which are the gymnasium, music room and portable classrooms.

DISCUSSION — The board discussed, but took no formal action on the addition of one teacher each at Tomales and Bodega Bay Elementary schools; increasing from halftime to fulltime the psychologist in the district, and the need for an additional school bus.

Dixie District To Offer Human Relations Seminars

Seminars in human realtions will be held for Dixie School District parents beginning April 15 and continuing for five consecutive Tuesdays, the Dixie District Human Relations Committee decided last night.

The first seminar is set for 8 p.m., April 15 at Miller Creek School, with registration open only to Dixie parents because space is limited, said corresponding secretary Catherine Banks.

After the first registration, seminars will be opened to the public at large if space is available, Mrs. Banks announced.

The seminars will be divided into these categories:

Dialogue in black and white, panel leader Charles Mason, a Marinwood accountant; youth speaks, with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Dyslin of Terra Linda as leaders; political action, Thomas F. Campanella of Terra Linda; religion in schools, Mrs. Troy E. Lewis of Terra Linda, and contemporary black history, Lanny Berry of Lucas Valley.

About 65 members of the Dixie committee met last night at Bernard Hoffman School, with president Marion Cederblade in charge.

The committee normally meets on the thrid Thursday of each month, but next month's meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 16, at Bernard Hoffman. Speaker will be George Johnson, director of the East Bay project.

$1,125 In Home Items Are Stolen

Four cases of burglaries and petty pilferage were reported today by the sheriff's department.

A burglar entered a laundry room window at the apartment of Judy M. Lewis of 1141 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, and took $1,125 in assorted goods. Missing were a stereo set, speakers and amplifier with a tape deck, a portable television set and skiing equipment.

Elwood's Restaurant on Highway 1, Stinson Beach, lost a case of beer Wednesday. Bartender Harry Shurtleff told deputies a hippie type asked to use the back bathroom, then tossed the case out the door to friends who were parked behind the restaurant. He described the thief as wearing only a pair of boxer shorts.

A burglar took $12 to $15 from the home of Patrick E. Carroll of 301 Melrose Avenue, Homestead.

While Pacific Gas and Eelctric repairmen were switching on the power on a line they fixed at 4189 Chileno Valley Road, someone walked off with 200 feet of copper wire valued at $35.

Plea Of Guilty To One Charge

I- JSpecial Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 27-year-old military policeman pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of malicious mischief growing out of the theft of mail from a Mill Valley post office box identified in a "teaser" advertisement in the Berkeley Barb.

The M.P., Gene Poor, who is stationed at the Presidio, asked U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert to dismiss a charge of mail theft. Poor is to appear in court for a decision April 17.

Readers of the Barb were urged to write to the post office box "for a swinging time." Poor was accused of stealing two letters from the box on Jan. 18 and returning later to smash the glass to try to steal more letters.

Four Lose Appeal On Court Gag

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four antidraft demonstrators, convicted of criminal contempt for ignoring a pretrial order not to discuss their case with newsmen, have lost an appeal.

The State Court of Appeal affirmed the lower court order which had barred Steven Hamilton, Michael J. Smith, Stewart Albert and Jerry Rubin from talking about their arrest and the demonstration at the University of California Berkeley campus.

(Hamilton and Smith, the latter a former Corte Madera resident, are among the so-called Oakland Seven, whose trial on antidraft charges entered the final argument stages yesterday.

(They and five other are accused of conspiring for others to commit misdemeanor trespassing and obstructing police during 1967 antidraft demonstrations outside the Oakland Induction Center.

(Their jury is expected to begin deliberations Tusday afternoon.)

The four were convicted of committing a public nuisance and unlawful occupation of real property or structure in the trial.

The original case was the outgrowth of a November 1966 mass rally protesting the presence of armed services recruiters on the U.C. campus.

At a pre-trial hearing, the judge ordered all parties, including law officers, attorneys and U.C. officials, not to discuss the case with news media. On Jan. 13, 1967, three days before the start of the trial, the defendants held a news conference in front of the Berkeley Municipal Court building.

Borst Is Guilty In Kidnaping

After deliberating three hours yesterday, a jury in Marin Superior Court found Jerry Stalnley Borst, 22, of Novato guilty of kidnaping and raping a Novato housewife as well as kidnaping her two young children last July 9.

A charge of kidnaping with intent to commit robbery was reduced to simple kidnaping by the jury.

Borst was accused of forcing the 28-year-old woman at knifepoint to drive to a country road, raping her and then tieing her and leaving her there. He also threatened her two little children who were in the car with her.

The abduction took place from the parking lot of a Novato shopping center.

Judge Thomas J. Keating took under submission a motion from Borst's attorney, Albert Rizzo, to have Borst examined to determine if he is a menatlly disturbed sex offender. He will announce his decision Monday, he said.

Kidnaping carries a prison sentence of one to 25 years and rape not less than three years.

Support Is Growing For Legal Marijuana

the long-term effects from regular use of pot.

And still another view is that prohibition of marijuana may be pushing many youngsters to use it, just as Prohibition of alcohol pushed many people toward drinking.

Arguments over reducing legal penalites for possession of marijuana involve such points as whether severe laws really discourage use of pot — some authorities say yes, others no — and whether such laws lead to contempt not only of drug laws but law in general.

Many parents are worried, or convinced that marijuana is a stepping stone to injecting or "mainlining" heroin.

"The distance from the dare to try 'pot' to 'mainlining' is very short," says J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

But other authorities disagree strongly. College students scoff at the statement. Few of them apparently use herioin. They do not themselves see or know of a progression from mild marijuana to opiates.

On the other hand, heroin and other opiates are in fact common in ghetto areas, and there is evidence that some heroin addicts had first been exposed to marijuana.

The charge that marijuana leads to use of addicting drugs needs to be critically examined, says the Task Force on Narcotics and Drug Abuse of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration in a 1967 report.

"There is evidence that a majority of heroin users who come to the attention of public authorities have, in fact, had some prior experience with marijuana," the task force says.

"But this does not mean that one leads to the other in the sense that marijuana has an intrinsic quality that creates a heroin liability. There are too many marijuana users who do not graduate to heroin, and too many heroin addicts with no known prior use of marijuana, to support such a theory. Moreover, there is no scientific basis for such a theory.

"The most reasonable hypothesis is that some people who are predisposed to marijuana are also predisposed to heroin use. It may also be the case that through the use of marijuana, a person forms the personal associations that later expose him to heroin."

On the question of any association between marijuana and crime, "the differences of opinion are absolute and the claims beyond reconciliation," the task force says. It holds that neither side in this debate can prove their case.

One likely guess, it adds, is that "given the accepted tendency of marijuana to release inhibitions, the effect of the drug will depend on the individual and the circumstances. It might, but certainly will not necessarily or inevitably, lead to aggressive behavior or crimes. The response will depend more on the individual than the drug," since there is not evidence that marijuana changes a person's basic personality structure.

Much stiffer penalties governing even simple possession of various mind-influencing drugs were imposed by Congress last fall. It became a misdemeanor — subject to fines and jail terms — to possess LSD, or to possess barbiturates and amphetamines unless you could prove that they had been prescribed for you. State laws also have been becoming tougher.

The next five to 10 years may well see a hundred fold increase in the number of drugs capable of affecting the mind, top authorities predict. Some will become new boons to treat mental and emotional ailments. And some likely will be used illegally, or abused.

Meanwhile, scientific research is being stepped up to answer vital questions about the mind drugs, and to fill in serious gaps in knowledge about them:

Exactly how many high school or college students—or adults — are using or abusing drugs, and what kinds? Why do people use or not use various drugs? What really are the psychological, social, physical or genetic effects from occasional or long-term use of various drugs?

The National Institute of Mental Health is granting funds in increasing amounts to qualified researchers, seeking answers to just such kinds of questions.

One research target is to learn what are the long-term effects of marijuana when used regularly, as against occasional smoking of the kind of "sticks" of varying potency that are available to most users in this country.

Better answers to some questions can be obtained now because the truly active ingredient in the marijuana plant, tetrahydrocannabinol or THC, has been synthesized and purified. The real, effective dose that an animal or person gets can be controlled in such experiments.

Research is deepening into other types of mind-influencing drugs.

For example, in one recent experiment with LSD, Dr. Milton H. Joffe fo the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs found that monkeys who take LSD for five or six days suffer an impairment in their learning ability.

The monkeys became less efficient in making fine discriminations about colors, shapes, patterns, and brightness. Such effects lasted for five or six months.

In human terms, Dr. Joffe says, this could mean that taking a couple of LSD trips might affect a student for an entire semester.

Medical researchers also are testing drugs that promise to help heroin addicts break their habit. Two such drugs are methadone, and cyclazocine.

Questions and issues about most of the mind-influencing drugs burn in fires of emotions and opinions.

Scientific research promises to bring forth more badly-needed facts to help the public deal more effectively in the future with a plethora of drugs.

Jury Indicts McCoy, 11 Others

Charged with marijuana possession were McCoy, James T. Bartee, Robert McKendrick, 35; Sandra Barton, 48; Cecile Korte, 34; William David Candelario, 19; Walter Hansen Doyle, 22; Olag Valeri Minakov, 30; Robert John Ellison, 23; Joseph John D'Amore, 38; Kris Anthony Stenz; and William Dennis Kalfas, 25.

McKendrick was also charged with possessing cocaine, peyote and DMT. Doyle, Minakov and D'Amore were charged with the misdemeanor offense of possessing devices for smoking narcotics.

All were arrested in January and their cases had been set for a preliminary hearing In Municipal Court today before the indictment was handed up.

Life Insurance Firm Plans Move To Marin

Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. of Los Angeles will move its headquarters to San Rafael, it was learned today.

Lowell B. Martin, president of the company, said Western Travelers plans to acquire a two-acre site on Northgate Drive where a one-story executive office building will be erected. Executive and administrative personnel will occupy temporary offices at 4380 Redwood Highway, Northgate Industrial Park, during construction, Martin said.

The proposed office building will also serve as headquarters for Mutual Fund Associates, Inc., now located in San Francisco. According to Martin the forthcoming move is the result of a decision to house the combined staffs of the two companies under one roof. Both are affiliated with Putnam Management Co. of Boston, manager of Putnam mutual funds.

He said Carrol Snyker of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce provided information used by the life insurance company in a statewide survey which led to the selection of San Rafael for its new headquarters. Harold Valceschini of Coldwell, Banker and Co., San Rafael is representing Western Travelers in the transaction. Realty broker Robert H. Busse is reported as owner of the property, which is near Northgate Shopping Center.

Martin said that Western Travelers and Mutual Fund Associates together employ an office staff of more than 75 persons, with a combined annual payroll in excess of half a million dollars. He said Marin residents will be hired as replacements for employees who are not moving north with the Los Angeles company.

Originally formed in 1892 in Omaha as Western Travelers Accident Association, the company changed its name in 1959 when a California charter was obtained to conduct the business as a capital stock life insurance company. It recently reported life insurance in force in excess of $100 million. Sales are conducted by an agency managed by Mutual Fund Associates. Approximately half of its 900 registered representatives are licensed to sell life insurance.

Planners' New Magazine Reveals Facts On Marin

Of Marin's 332,920 total acreage, 20.7 per cent (68,922 acrses) is owned by public agencies, according to the first issue of an information bulletin series published this week by the Marin County Planning Department.

Entitled "Marinfo," the bulletin will be issued about once a month, but with no regular schedule.

Planner Raymond J. Ahearn, who is in charge of the bulletin, said the idea for the publication came from the many inquiries from citizens and from public agencies in the county and statewide.

"We spend a lot of time supplying answers to these queries, and we thought this would be the simplest and most economical way to disseminate the information developed."

About 150 to 200 copies of the first issue were mailed out this week. Subscription to "Marinfo" is $2 per year. Public and civic agencies will get copies routinely without cost.

The top of the front page is gold bordered and has blue printing, but the rest is mimeographed. The entire printing and mimeographing job is done by county equipment and personnel. Ahearn said the cost is minimal, and the subscriptions and the 25 cents charged for single issues will cover expenses.

The first issue is devoted to public ownership of land in Marin. Subsequent issues will cover such topics as income, employment, agricultural preserves, population estimates, bulding activity, and open space.

The 20 per cent public ownership of land in Marin County is average in comparison with other Bay Area counties, said Ahearn. Statewide, 48.87 per cent of California is publicly owned. Public ownership percentage in San Francisco is 48.64 and in Alameda, 23.69, followed by Marin with 20.7. At the bottom is Sonoma County, which is only 4.03 per cent publicly owned.

Among public agencies, the federal government is the biggest landowner in Marin, with 36,547 acres, the bulk of this Point Reyes National Seashore totalling 32,217 acres.

Next comes the water districts, with 18,963 acres.

The state owns 10,170 acres, mostly in state parks such as Mount Tamalpais, Samuel P. Taylor, and Tomales Bay State Park.

Cities own 591 acres, and school districts 1,715 acres.

Ex-Governor Orval Faubus Remarries

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Mrs. Elizabeth Westmoreland were married today in a private ceremony in a Baptist church. It came three weeks after his first wife divorced him.

The former governor said he met Mrs. Westmoreland in mid-1967 when she went to his home in Huntsville to discuss "Info '68," a television program for the Democratic party. She was the program's commentator.

Faubus, 59, was divorced March 1 by his wife of 37 years, Alta, and friends had known for some time that he intended to marry the 30-year-old divorcee who has two children, an 11-year-old girl and a 9-year-old boy.

The former governor said the couple already has a house at Harrison. Faubus is the head of Dogpatch USA, a tourist theme park south of Harrison, which is in extreme north Arkansas.

National Officer Will Give Speech

Dr. John L. Gompertz, president of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, will be the guest speaker at the Marin TB-RD Association's annual installation dinner April 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the San Geronimo Golf Club.

Dr. Gompertz will speak on possible effects of merger proposals for smaller local groups within regional TB-RD associations.

All Christmas Seal contributors are eligible to vote for directors candidates. Reservations for the dinner must be made by April 1 at the association's Greenbrae office.

$1,000 In Cash, Jewelry Stolen

The home of attorney David T. Giannini at 32 Sienna Way, San Rafael, was entered Wednesday night by burglars who stole an estimated $1,000 in cash and jewelry, according to police.

Police said the thieves slipped a locked kitchen door to enter the house. Jewelry boxes and cash were missing from a bedroom.

Students Told To Use Talent To Save Earth

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"What have we been doing on our planet?" David R. Brower asked about 150 College of Marin students in Olney Hall yesterday.

Then the Sierra Club executive director — now involved in a stormy campaign to retain his job — explained how man had started 300,000 years ago with "nothing more formidable than a shaped stone."

"We were hunters and gatherers," the white-haired conservationist said. "Then we started agriculture. Then we went into mining and the balance began to topple.

"Now we're a step beyond — we're adding things — chemicals that may make it impossible for life to use it (the earth) anymore . . . we settle for a profit from cotton, corn, tobacco . . . and suddenly the impact is hitting home. It hit me particularly hard when Apollo 8 did its loop.

"What are we doing to the earth? We're trying to make it as sterile as the moon."

Brower noted that the Aswan High Dam in Egypt had goals of electricity and irrigation but said "now life-giving nutrients that were formerly delivered to the land and Mediterannean Sea are piling up in a reservoir above the dam, unusable and, as a result, a Mediterannean sardine fishery is already doomed."

He cited similar dams being proposed in Brazil, Southeast Asia and Alaska.

Americans are 6 per cent of the population and we're using 60 per cent of the world's resources. We should not encourage everybody else (other countries) to use a similar rate," said Brower.

"What do you do about it?" he asked the students.

"You've got to do something, Rachel Carson is easy — one woman who did her homework, minded her English and cared and she upset the chemical industry. There is Ralph Nader who I think fixed Detroit. On the local scene you had a young English and law student, David Pesenen, who fought to keep an atomic reactor off Bodega Head."

Brower urged the students to put their talents to work "to keep something bad from happening." Referring to the great oil slick, he said, "If we (the Sierra Club) had worked harder last year, we might have done something in Santa Barbara."

In a question period, Brower said that Walter J. Hickel, Secretary of Interior, has the most important conservation job in the country and "he doesn't know what conservation is about."

Brower said the Sierra Club lost its tax status because it tried to save the Grand Canyon from being dammed.

A student asked if Bower wanted to keep people out of wilderness areas. He replied he would like to see 10 per cent of the land left to its own natural maintenance — "you might say let God be the caretaker. Let's go over all the 90 per cent and do better. Start right here in Kentfield and I'll take on Berkeley."

Brower is on a leave of absence to campaign for election as director. There are two slates of candidates, the Active Bold Constructive Sierra Club, which Brower represents, and the Concerned Members for Conservation, which seeks to fire him.

Ballots, now out, are to be returned April 12. Five directors are being elected to take office in May. The new board will select its executive director.

Asked what he will do if he loses, Brower, a club member for 35 years and director since 1952, said he will have to get a job elsewhere. But, he said, "if our side loses, all of us will try to continue to work for the club."

Home Mortgage Costs Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home mortgage interest rates increased sharply in February, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported today.

The average contract interest rate for all lending institutions providing new home mortgages rose from 7.16 per cent to 7.26 per cent. On existing homes, the rate climbed from 7.18 per cent to 7.28 per cent.

At mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations, the home mortgage industry's mainstays, the rate climbed from 7.08 per cent to 7.23 per cent and from 7.11 per cent to 7.25 per cent, respectively.

She's New 'Second Lady'

By EDITH M. LEDERER

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's new Second Lady is the kind of woman who goes shopping for a household ladder and ends up buying her husband an engineless Rolls Royce.

Jeanne Reinecke was a Universal starlet who trained with Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis, Piper Laurie and Jeff Chandler, had bit parts in eight movies, but gave it up to marry her first husband.

After his death, she became active in Republican politics and seriously considered running for Congress. Instead, she married former Congressman Ed Reinecke, now the state's new lieutenant governor.

MRS. JEANNE Raybeck Mietus Reinecke, 43, met Reinecke at a 1966 Congressional Club fund-raising party in Southern California. He proposed four dates later and their engagement party turned into a wedding.

"I think some kind of electric thing happened when we met. They were raffling off a Cadillac and I missed winning it by one number but Ed still says to this day he won me," she says.

Jeanne — a striking redhead who resembles Susan Hayward — and Ed had invited 100 friends and relatives, including a minister in a business suit to their engagement party.

"NO ONE KNEW we were getting married — not even Ed's campaign manager . . . .We put on the 'Wedding March' and nobody heard it. . . . Finally, the pastor stood on the step an said 'We have gathered together . . .' and he married us then and there.

"Ed's campaign manager told us later he was standing by a potted palm . . . holding a glass of Scotch when he realize what was happening. He said it was to sacred an occasion and he poured the scotch into the potted palm.

"It was the only wedding I've ever been to where at the end everyone applauded," she says.

The Reineckes' honeymoon inclued a stop in Sacramento for Governor Reagan's inauguration. Then, it was off to Washington with Mrs. Reinecke's three children by her first marriage — Mark, 11, Mimi, 10, and Tommy, 9.

DURING HER two years in Washington, she started a chapter of ARCS, Achievement Rewards for College Scientists, an organization which raises funds to send outstanding science students through college.

She also continues her work with mentally retarded children and played Mrs. Santa Claus at the Christmas party at the California Educational School in the San Fernando Valley, which she helped start with her first husband, the late Dr. Albert Mietus, who was a Los Angeles physcian.

One day, she says, she heard that a neighbor in Fairfax, Va. who was moving was selling some household things. She says she found they had a ladder for sale and went to buy it — but she bought a 1933 Rolls Royce Phantom II instead.

"My husband has always tinkered with making little model cars . . . and I just couldn't resist . . . I bought it, put a big red ribbon around it and . . . when I gave it to him I said, 'that's your birthday, anniversary and Christmas present for the next 10 years.' We still kid about it," she says.

WHENEVER REINECKE had a few extra minutes, Mrs. Reinecke says, he would go out to their big double garage to work on the Rolls.

"The day Governor Reagan called him to tell him about lieutenant governor, he had the whole garage covered with parts," she says.

Reinecke flew to California immediately. The Rolls is still in Fairfax — but is expected sometime soon.

"We may never ride in it," Mrs. Reinecke says, "the only thing I know is that the longer we keep it, the more of an antique it gets."

When it comes to her husband's future in politics, Jeanne Reinecke thinks positively. She says they bought a home in Sacramento rather than renting

NOW FURNISHING the home that she and the lieutenant governor have just bought in Sacramento, Jeanne Reinecke has drawn on her knowledge as a licensed interior decorator. Here she pauses to pet their new German shepherd pup "Herr Schultz." At bottom, she hangs a picture to her liking in the living room.

Marin County Not Immune To Injuring Little Children

By BETTY FROST

Last year an estimated 30,000 children in the United States were so brutally handled that they required medical attention, according to Dr. C. Henry Kempe, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics, University of Colorado and co-editor of the book "The Battered Child," published in June 1968.

Nor is Marin County immune to cruel treatment of children. Dr. Patricia Hallinan, assistant public health officer for the Marin County Health Dept., and director for Crippled Children Services for Marin County, says she has personal knowledge of 13 cases here within the last four years. At least one Marin child has died of abuse.

IT IS NOT STRANGERS who abuse the child, but the parents or guardians who repeatedly injure children. Attacks often begin shortly after birth, and a number of cases were observed where children three to six months of age were injured.

"Children under three thus brutalized cannot speak for themselves," Dr. Hallinan said. "Fifty per cent of these children go back to more battering. We know that one out of three children returned to the parent or guardian is killed."

The parents who are brutal to their children "can come from any walk of life, any financial bracket," Dr. Hallinan emphasized." "There are all professions, all ethnic groups and even couples who adopt children will batter or beat the child to death. It takes two parents to batter — one to use physical violence and the other to permit. The battering parent has been, most often, a battered child himself, perpetuating the tragedy from generation to generation. Many of these people need help psychiatrically, and can be turned into good parents," he said.

A COMMON FORM of brutality to children is to fling them into a wall, causing head injuries, sometimes so severe that they leave permanent brain damage, and a typical side-effect, fracture of the long bones. In the past it was very hard to identify the injuries as caused by brutality.

Dr. Kempe's work gives physicians a set of battered child fine symptoms and syndromes to watch for. They include multiple fractures in different stages of healing, all fractures or head trauma in children under three, shaft fractures from direct blows, dislocations, malnutrition, neglected skin infection, bruises, burns, bites, black eyes, scalding, subdural hematomas, suffocation, poisoning, shootings, stabbings, dropping, sexual molestation, or internal injuries, such as ruptured spleen or bowl.

Observation of the battered child reveals that while receiving medical care for his injuries he cries hopelessly and does not look to the parents for help and consolation. He shows no emotion when discharged from the hospital.

THE PARENTS show a lack of concern, are evasive and contradictory as to the occurrence which caused the injury. If pressed they become belligerent and uncooperative. They are critical of the child and angry with him for being hurt. They do not ask about prognosis, treatment or discharge from the hospital.

Recently enacted legislation in California states in part "in any case of a minor brought to a physician, surgeon or resident, and it appears from observation that that minor has suffered physical injury, not accidental, a report by telephone and in writing should be made immediately to the police, sheriff or district attorney."

THE 1968 LAW, Dr. Hallinan observed, has absolved physicians, allied workers and agencies from liability, while lack of reporting is regarded as a misdemeanor.

Once the battered child syn-

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Walk In Dark Hallways, Call The Manager For Light

DEAR HELEN:

What would you do with a light bulb snatcher?

There is one loose in my apartment building. Every time I go out somewhere, the snatcher strikes again. When I come home, I have to climb the stairs in the dark. I almost broke my neck a few times, the hall was so black.

Light bulbs aren't that expensive so someone would steal instead of buy them. What's behind this?—IN THE DARK

DEAR ITD:

Don't walk up those stairs in the dark! Ring for the manager each time a light bulb is missing and insist that he replace it before you chance that black hall. Perhaps the "snatcher" is only playing jokes or saving money, but he might be another Boston Strangler.

Sorry to alarm you, but I'd suggest you look for a better-supervised apartment building. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I've been married 17 years and separated three, for reasons of drinking and other women.

We get along better now than we did when we were together, but he won't come home, though he visits often. He keeps saying he loves me, but I have to call before I go to his apartment so that I won't "surprise" him. Sometimes a woman answers the phone; he swears she's the maid. At 6:30 p.m.?

It's like he's dating me. He says there's no one else and expects me to be true but he says we aren't ready to live together yet. We might start fighting again.

How much longer shall I go on this way? — ALMOST HOPELESS

DEAR AH.:

Just long enough to call and leave a message with the "maid." Like, "Dear Husband, Come home tonight, for keeps, or see my lawyer in the morning." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our kids say most parents have too many hang ups. Every time we get after them, they try to psychoanalyze us. "Don't get uptight" is their favorite expression. They don't seem to realize a house is run on schedule and if everybody had this don't-care attitude, we'd look like shantytown around here.

How do we answer them in their language, so it won't sound like nagging, or we won't have to use violence (which I'm about to)? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

Why not agree with them? Put this note on their bulletin board: "You're darn right I have hang-ups, and if you had more, I'd have less. Like — Hang up your clothes; hang up the towels; hang up the phone; hang up the dish cloth, ironing board, dustmop, broom, etc. after you finish using them! If you don't, I'll get very 'uptight' on restrictions — not to speak of 'tight' about allowances!" — YOUR EVER-LOVIN' MOTHER. — H.

Michele LaVoy Is On Cherry Blossom Court

MICHELE LA VOY

Michele Marie LaVoy, Dominican College freshman student, woke up one morning to find that she is a princess.

To be exact, a Cherry Blossom Princess representing the state of Nevada in the National Cherry Blossom Festival from April 8 to 13 in Washington, D.C.

For Michele it will mean a week filled with dances, pageants, receptions, fashion shows, an embassy tea and the annual Parade of Princesses. At the spin of the Wheel of States, one of the 53 princesses representing each state and territory will be chosen Queen of the Festival.

Miss LaVoy will travel to Washington, D.C. on Wednesday to prepare for the special reception that Nevada Senator Allen Bible has planned on March 28 to introduce the princess to Nevada residents in the nation's capital.

The 20-year-old student says that the appointment was a complete surprise to her and that her parents, Col. and Mrs. John H. LaVoy also deny any knowledge of the selection. Colonel LaVoy, USMC, is with the office of the Secretary of the Navy in the Pentagon. The family is currently living in Alexandria, Va., where Michele will spend Easter with her parents and three brothers.

Born in California Michele has lived in Reno and attended elementary and junior high schools there. Her great grandparents first settled in Nevada in 1868.

She said that from the time she first visited Dominican College "years ago," the San Rafael campus has always been her goal. During her first year in college, she has been elected a freshman representative to the college legislative conference and secretary-treasurer for her dormitory, Meadowlands, and plays on the college tennis team. She hopes to become a teacher in art or the primary grades. Her hobbies include tennis, swimming, horseback riding, art and choral singing.

It is an exciting time for the college freshman. She has mailed her measurements to the festival committee that is having a special dress made for each princess. The committee is also making appointments for hair styling and choosing each princess's special escort.

"And I guess Mother and I will have to do a little shopping," remarks Michele.

Mrs. R. J. Bettencourt Is Parlor President

Mrs. Russell J. Bettencourt of Mill Valley, new president of Sea Point Parlor 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West, is a lifelong resident of Marin County and has been a member of the parlor 10 years. She has previously served in the offices of first vice president and secretary.

She is also active in the SPRSI of Sausalito and is secretary of the Cabrillo Club of Sausalito.

Geraldine, or Jerry, as she is better known, is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and has been employed for the past eight years at a toy store in Mill Valley.

She and her husband, who is with the American Distilling Company in Sausalito, have four children: Mrs. Konrad Knudsen and Richard Bettencourt of Sausalito; Susan, 18, and Michael, 14, of Tennessee Valley.

The Bettencourts have eight grandchildren. Mrs. Bettencourt says these grandchildren are what she enjoys most, together with the Christmas family reunions when she prepares dinner for 38 people. Cake decorating is her special hobby.

Mrs. George Kirkland is past president, and other new officers are Miss Susan Bettencourt, first vice president; and Mmes. Joseph McAleese, financial secretary; Edward Surles, recording secretary; Konrad Knudsen, treasurer; and Ray Rodrigues, Fred Gustafson and George Nunes, trustees; John Erkelens, inside sentinel; and Robert Quayle, outside sentinel.

CHILDREN

drome has been detected and reported to the authorities, the cases are handled by the Juvenile Court.

"Too often the private physician does not want to be involved, and the Judge accepts at face value the pleas of the parents to have the child returned to them. Someone must protect the child," Dr. Hallinan said.

IN MANY AREAS, including Marin, the child has no legal representation. In an effort to afford the battered child fair treatment, other areas, such as Los Angeles, obtain a lawyer to represent the child.

"In the matter of protection for battered children I admit to being a crusader," Dr. Hallinan stated. "Sometimes injuries are said to have resulted from a fall from a crib that could not possibly have been suffered in a routine tumble. The woman who stands by while some big brute punches her child around has not even the protective instinct of a beast of the field. I recently read of a sow who stood between her litter and an attacking bear and drove him off," he related.

The doctor offered this specific advice, "The battered child can be reported to the Marin County Probation Office or to the Marin County Social Services or to the Sheriff. A battered child may be reported to me and I will then report to the proper authorities. I also could help any of the parents who are doing this to their children, to prevent any desperate injury to their child which may make them hopeless cripples, mentally defective, and blind. These parents may call on me during my office hours at the Marin County Department of Public Health, and I will try to counsel and advise them about what to do," he concluded.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

We live in a time when the ability to communicate with our fellow man is absolutely vital. Yet, strokes, other catastrophic ailments and accidents every year strike down a number of Marinites, leaving them speechless. It is in recognition of the seriousness of their plight that Marin's Easter Seal Society has launched a group therapy program aimed at helping them to regain their speech. The Marin Magazine reports on it tomorrow.

Mary Golden is the holder of a copyright on the Wedgwood Method of Perfect Pattern Drafting, which she teaches at her Wedgwood Academy of Fashion and Dress Design. It is, she says, a simple technique by which the home dressmaker can produce garments that fit her as well as any custom-made fashion house dress or gown. She tells you more about it and her school in a feature article in tomorrow's issue of the I-J weekend supplement.

one because she was sure he would win in 1970 — and any other year.

A LICENSED interior decorator, Mrs. Reinecke is now busy choosing paintings, color schemes and furniture for the spacious two-story white house in Sacramento's north area. The Reinecke' German Shepherd "puppy", Herr Schultz, has his own red doghouse on the back patio overlooking the pool.

As half of what she calls the Reinecke "team," Mrs. Reinecke says she is looking forward to the 1970 election campaign when Reinecke will seek a full term.

"I hope to help my husband. I think that sometimes a little tender loving care is what men need after a hard day. You have to have energy and I have my vitamins right here" — and with that, she pulled a bottle of vitamins from the pocket of her navy-colored coat dress.

Marin Civic Ballet Names New Officers

MRS. MAX THELEN JR.

A woman who plans to live in England for three months "just for the experience" will head the Marin Civic Ballet Association this coming year. Mrs. Max Thelen Jr. of San Rafael is the new president of the association and will, along with her husband and their four children, spend the summer in England.

Phyllis Thelen was graduated from Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and Connecticut College for Women in New London, Conn. She also studied at the San Francisco Art Institute and College of Marin. The Thelens have lived in Marin 10 years and are the parents of Nancy, 15, Jane, 14, Max, 11, and Bill, 9.

Phyllis assists public school teachers with art programs and enjoys printmaking with a new art (etching) press in a shared studio. She is a member of the Citizens' Civic Center Committee and enjoys skiing with her family. She has been a member of Marin Civic Ballet Association six years and is active in other organizations including Fair/Marin, the P-TA, Marin Society of Artists, Junior Theater of Marin and the Marin Charitable Foundation.

The ballet group performs a number of times throughout the year. They give one benefit performance for some group, the last being for the Marin Art and Garden Center; they sponsor the Nutcracker Suite to raise funds for sending association members to the annual ballet festival; and give demonstration performances for schools. In December they appeared in Dixie School District schools and this spring will perform in Mill Valley schools. The group also participates in the concert/lecture series at College of Marin and presents a program at the Marin Art and Garden Fair in July.

REVIEW

Singer Proves A Real Talent

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Soprano Jean Murphy was the talented young artist heard last night in the second recital of the Young Artist Series presented in Caleruega Hall of Dominican College in cooperation with the Dominican College Music Associates.

Miss Murphy was accompanied by Sister Mary Dominic, O. P., concert pianist and teacher whose assured skill gave the young singer the kind of support that adds to a soloist's security.

The program consisted only of Schubert's "Die Schone Mullerin," a German song cycle on poems of Wilhelm Muller dealing with the many emotions aroused in a young man by a pretty miller's daughter.

Having accepted the romantic period's flowery language and other conceits, one could settle back and enjoy Schubert's truly beautiful music.

Miss Murphy had a voice of clear, lovely quality and considerable power. It was very flexible both in vocal technique and in her dextrous handling of the German diction, and she was able to communicate mood and meaning effectively.

She was also poised in manner and attractive in appearance. She improved in vocal security as the cycle progressed.

Art Show Time

The 10th annual art auction of the Marin Society of Artists will be at 1 p.m. — not 2 p.m. — March 30 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The later time was incorrectly reported to the Independent-Journal, as was an earlier error about the day of the event.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Bible" — Strikingly filmed stories from Genesis. Picture will be interpreted according to involvement, belief and knowledge of viewer.

"Unsinkable Molly Brown" — Warm, high-spirited, entertaining musical. Pleasant story, striking scenery, gay costumes and interiors of the period.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Bullitt" — Crackling cops-and-killer thriller. Filmed in San Francisco with terrifying auto chase. Violence goes all out in blood and gore for shock effect.

"Charly" — Poignant dramatization of a fictional case history of the first human subject of a new type of brain surgery on a mentally retarded young man. Thought provoking, sensitive performances from the cast.

"Great Catherine" — Film's potential as an exceptional historical comedy drama is dissipated when it becomes repetitious and lapses to crude boring slapstick.

"Heart is a Lonely Hunter" — A rather sad story about a deaf-mute who in his loneliness touches the lives of many. Compassionate tale is tenderly told and played with rare perception.

"Impossible years" — College girl is arrested in a student demonstration. Both parents and teen-age daughter deserve a better image than this film projects.

"The Party" — Inane slapstick comedy. Bubbling actor crashes a lavish Hollywood party; disaster strikes from the minute he arrives. Bathroom vulgarity is crudely juvenile.

"Secret War of Harry Frigg" —A satirical spoof of the military. Paul Newman makes his first appearance as a comedian and a name cast supports him with gusto.

"Subject Was Roses" — Prizewinning stage play faithfully transferred to screen. An intensely developed portrayal of three personalities, superb actors create the feeling of a real and universal situation.

"Wrecking Crew" — Spy comedy. Those who enjoy Dean Martin and pretty but dumb girls who act with him, will be entertained.

BORDERLINE

"Duffy" — The sophistication of this tale of modern piracy wears very, very thin.

ADULTS ONLY

"Belle De Jour" — French film about a beautiful woman who leads two lives, at home with her husband and in a brothel. Sensational sex orgies.

"Candy" — A 17-year-old girl wanders through a series of sexual adventures with the strangest assortment of characters ever presented on the screen. Massively dull, ugly pornography.

"The Magus" — Confused fantasy-drama involves mystery suspense and explicit sex and nudity. Its obscure message is that "we all must learn to love."

"Secret Ceremony" — A sham mother-daughter relationship in this unrewarding melodrama about the preverse games sick people play. Like a freak show it leaves one with nothing but a disagreeable aftertaste. (Parents Magazine)

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Italian-style Dining To Take Over At Quan Lin Restaurant

Look for another Italian-type restaurant to open soon in San Rafael.

There is dining room and kitchen remodeling now going on at Quan Lin of Marin, and it is likely to continue for another week or two weeks.

When completed, owners Angelo Camilleri and Joe Scotto plan to reopen that department with Italina food, not Chinese, as was here before. And they are talking of giving the place a more suitable name, probably Ang Joe's — a contraction of Angelo and Joe combined.

There is still another Angelo in this picture, by the way. He is Angelo Camporeale, who has reitred from the Marin restaurant business twice but just can't seem to stay inactive. He will be in charge of the new food operation.

If you remember, he used to have Angelo's in San Anselmo before his first retirement. Later he and his wife Vera took over the Hickory Pit in San Rafael, only to sell out there last October to the Fabbris and retire again, this time in Antioch. It appears they will be moving back to Marin.

The menu isn't all planned out, but look for some of Angelo's former specialties and some traditional Italian dishes. There will be lunch and family-style dinner service Mondays through Saturdays and also dinners on Sundays, starting somewhat earlier than during the week.

THERE MAY HAVE BEEN one idea in the mind of Lou Sabella when he began compiling that photographic display of early fishing scenes for the lobby at Sabella's of Marin, but this array of pictures and model ships also seems to serve another worthy purpose.

I have always felt sorry for certain diners-out at restaurants on crowded evenings who must wait for a table. These are the ones who are not cocktail drinkers — or have children with them, so they cannot relax in the bar with a drink until their names are called.

The usual alternative is to stand in line. But since the exhibit was installed, at least something interesting is offered for the waiting interlude.

Not that the cocktail lounge isn't also interesting. Bob Stewart is at the organ console Tuesday through Saturday nights and he usually plays to a circle of enthusiastic listeners.

The seafood menu at Sabella's is particularly inviting these days and is probably as extensive as any in the Bay Area. Quite possibly it is also the largest, but I haven't checked out everything at San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf, so can't be sure.

This writer's suggestion for a very tasty fish dish in the moderate price range: The red snapper — the way it's fixed at Sabella's, that is.

IT WAS ANTICIPATED that Senor Alfredo's Mexican Restaurant in the former Safeway building on San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo would be opened at least by April 1, but now that hardly seems likely.

It isn't that owner Alfred Barthel isn't ready to go; it's a strange matter of trees. The San Anselmo Planning Commission has denied him a use permit until trees are planted in front of the building.

Latest word is that the restaurant will not open before April 15 — and that may also hold for the post office, which has the additional problem of getting its lock boxes installed.

I HAVE RECEIVED a copy of the menu for Bellucci's Spaghetti House opening next Thursday at the Skylark Motel across from Hamilton Air Force Base.

As indicated last week, it's quite reasonable. The special Italian dinner is $1.95, including soup, salad, toasted garlic roll or cheese roll, spaghetti and meat sauce, dessert and beverage. In addition there is a list of several inexpensive a la carte and take home specials.

The Italian sauces used will be from the original recipes of the Bellucci family which came from Calabria in the southern part of Italy.

CAFE BON VIN Wednesday provincial nights are being expanded, starting next week with a French Easter party. Fred Cherry plans on added courses with dishes rarely found in this country and featuring the holiday fare of France.

He is still serving the fresh complimentary caviar during Sunday morning brunches — when the sturgeon cooperate, that is. Since these are fresh sturgeon eggs, nothing is used to disguise the flavor. They are served only with warm toast, sweet butter and a gold spoon.

BOB STEWART
Plays at Sabella's

IF IT APPEARS there is no organ music at San Rafael Joe's on Monday nights, this is not the case. Gordon Tucker is at the new Baldwin PR-220 console then, and Larry Vannucci plays the keys the rest of the week, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Acutally the PR-220 was originally Gordon's organ, he was the first in the county to order and receive one. But Hector Rubini and Guido Farina at Joe's were so anxious to have it there he let them take it and reconciled himself to a place well along the waiting list for a replacement. It may be months before he gets another one, so popular is this new instrument.

BURGE'S DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT at Ignacio, which Ed Burge closed last month, announcing he would remodel it into a coffee shop and cocktail lounge type of establishment, will be the scene of an auction Monday, March 31, at 10 a.m. Present equipment is to be sold.

There has been no further announcement on the reopening date. In fact, remodeling has not even started.

SPACIOUS IS THE WORD for dining room, cocktail lounge and kitchen at the new Holiday Inn now under construction at Northgate Drive and Manuel T. Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda.

There seems to be plenty of room inside and there are windows galore. And I counted five gas ranges awaiting installation in the kitchen, so good patronage must be expected.

But don't look for an immediate opening. Another 60 days at the earliest would be my guess; say May or June.

WITH SPRING OFFICIALLY HERE and the weather a little softer, there should now be more traffic to the coast. And at Stinson Beach it's almost time for the Sand Dollar's seasonal opening.

Scheduled reopening date is Friday night, April 4. Dinners will be served Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights only. If last year's hours still prevail, the bar will open at 5 p.m. on Fridays and 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Dinners should be from 5 to 10 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and to 9:30 on Sundays.

Postman Suspended Over Long Tresses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 23-year-old postal carrier who refused to cut his below-the-shoulder-length hair was ordered suspended without pay yesterday.

A three-man review board decided Michael C. McPharr violated a post office department bulletin issued Aug. 1 which required that employee's hair and beards be neatly trimmed.

Proposed Church Merger Rejected

NEW YORK (AP) — A proposed merger with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern) has been turned down by rank-and-file representatives of the Reformed Church in America.

The Reformed Church has 384,750 members in 939 parishes across the country while the Southern Presbyterian Church has 960,776 members.

"A lot of conservatives out in the Midwest apparently were afraid of being swallowed up," Barbara Mahannah, an administrative assistant for the Reformed Church, said Wednesday.

Four Candidates' Nights Announced

Candidates will appear at Marin Terrace School, April 7; Alto School, April 8; Tamalpais High School's Ruby Scott Auditorium, April 9 and Tamalpais Valley School April 10. All programs will start at 8 p.m.

WINE DISCOVERIES at CAFE BON VIN

FESTIVAL FOOD (Wednesday)
So many people have liked our "Provincial Nights" we will become a trifle more ambitious. Every Wednesday from now on: "Festival Foods of France." Holiday fare — uniquely French, rarely found in this country. Preceded by a "Tasting of Wine Discoveries" as before; but now it's a comparative tasting — so you may match the merits of an import with its domestic counterpart.

CALIFORNIA NIGHT (Thursday)
Louis Martini and his wines our first session — March 27 — followed by visits from Steve Mirassou, Robert Mondavi, Mike Elwood, and others. A California Vintage Banquet follows each tasting and discussion — more wine, and one or more heirloom recipes of the visiting vintner's family. Dinners limited to 60 — so reservations a "must."

DOCTOR'S CAP (Sunday)
And eleven other happy entrees new to this country ... served from 11:30 to 2:30 every Sunday (except Palm and Easter Sundays when regular dinners will start at noon). Fresh caviar served free (occasionally), champagne, Marseilles coffee, attentive service — brunch at Cafe Bon Vin is generally acknowledged to be the second best thing to do on Sunday.

GALA OCCASIONS (Fri., Sat., Sun.)
Cafe Bon Vin's nationally-known Gala Dinners (lavish feasts of the French Court — 10 courses, 9 wines) have become the proper way to celebrate an auspicious occasion, to reward such meritorious accomplishments as the achievement of another birthday, or to treat yourself benignly. If the need for great pleasure exists, but appetite is less than gala, there are smaller dinners from $4 of fewer dishes — chosen from the legendary Epicurien Gala. And always there are Fred Cherry's Wine Discoveries to taste, discuss, and taste again.

MARIN CHOSEN AS HOME

Family Hangs Up Its Ice Skates After 17 Years

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

After 17 years on ice, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams and their two teen-aged offspring like having their feet on terra firma in Marin County.

The Williamses, who have lived at 400 Canal Street in San Rafael since last May, are all former stars of the Ice Follies but have decided it is time to settle down.

"After 17 years of packing suitcases, the grass always looks greener on the other side," said Pat Williams, who is the mother in the family act. "So we decided to get on the other side to see how we like it, and we like it."

She and her husband own and operate the Footlight Restaurant in Belvedere with Richard Lane, former controller of the Ice Follies.

Being on the greener side also means that 16-year-old Debbie and 13-year-old Robbie are going to public school for the first time in their lives. They have always been taught before by their father, correspondence courses and private tutors.

"It's really different," said Debbie, who played the second female lead of Bianca in the recnet Terra Linda High School production of "Kiss Me Kate"' "In some ways it's harder and some ways easier."

Like most teen-agers, she didn't like the pop tests that teachers like to give. "They didn't do that in correspondence school," the pretty, dark-haired teen-ager said.

Robbie is entirely happy with school on a day-to-day basis, because "he can't go to school in his pajamas," according to his mother. He also admits to having a bit of trouble with Spanish, although he has performed both in Mexico and Cuba. It is harder to write it than speak it, he said.

Debbie said she misses the Follies "a little" but also likes being "settled down." Both she and Robbie, whose bronze baby ice skates are displayed in the Williams' comfortable apartment, learned to skate almost as soon as they could walk.

Debbie has also cut a single rock and roll record with a Napa group called The Unwritten Law and is a soloist on the Ice Follies latest album. Both youngsters appeared in television commercials during the family's short stay in Hollywood before joining the Follies.

The parents started out on roller skates and during a European tour with a group called the Skating Vanities, Williams learned to ice skate. When they returned to the U. S., he went with an ice show and she with a roller skating team. "Then we decided to get married and I had to learn ice skating," Mrs. Williams said.

They skated for eight years with Holiday on Ice before the short stay in "the rat race in Hollywood" and then joining the Follies.

They picked Marin County to settle, they said, for a variety of reasons. Natives of Columbus, Ohio, they were familiar with Marin because the Follies rehearse every year in San Francisco and about half of the skaters live in the county.

Williams and his partner hope to expand operations in the county, eyeing possibly a boat marina, skiing facilities and, eventually, a "big sports complex which the county really needs," he said.

The Williams are now looking for a house nearer to Terra Linda High where they also intend to send Robbie, in a large degree because they are sold on the talents of the school's drama coach, Mrs. Sally Rupp, and the students who "worked like troupers" in producing "Kiss Me Kate."

Not only were the Terra Linda performers enthusiastic, his wife chimed in, they were exceptionally talented. "We had a party of 10 people — all professional show business people — and we couldn't rave enough about how good they were."

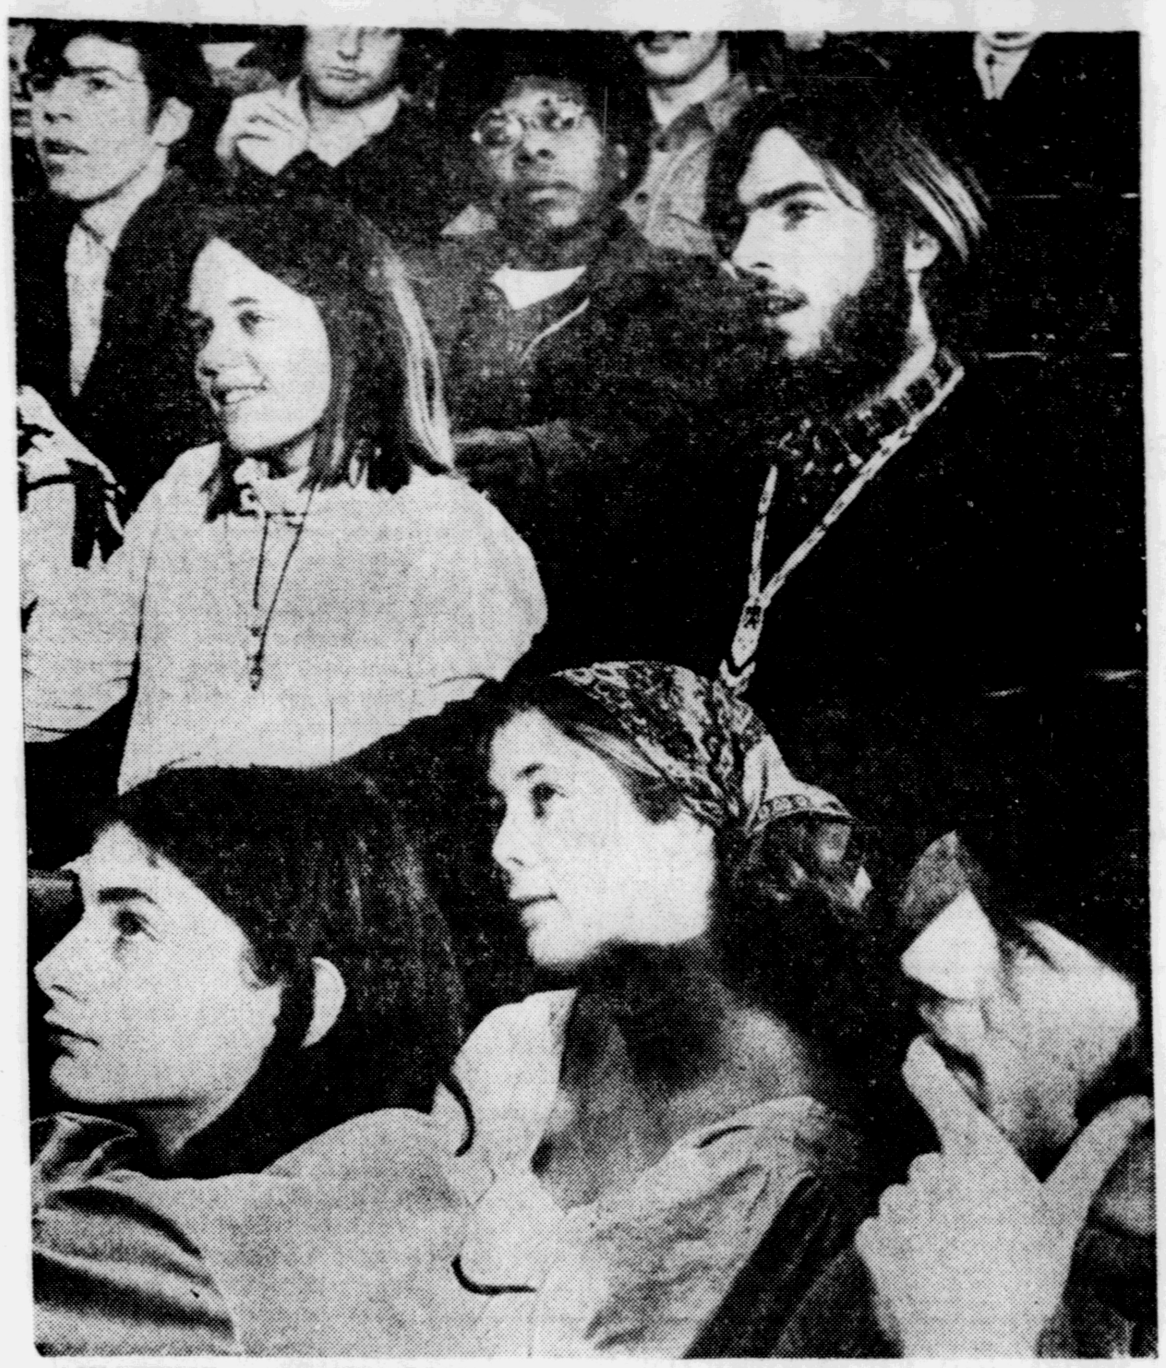
A LIVE-IN REVIVAL

Instant Ministers In Sonoma



AWAITING ORDINATION — Sonoma State students hear Hensley declare that as ministers of his church their chief obligation is to be themselves. "Become what you want and go out and tell the world what you are," he said. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

By BONNIE BARD

Combining the spirit of an old-time revival meeting with a trypical hippie live-in, Rt. Rev. Kirby J. Hensley, self-proclaimed bishop of the Universal Life Church, yesterday ordained everyone on the Sonoma State College campus as ministers of his church.

Forced indoors by heavy rains, more than 300 students gathered in the music building at noon, the appointed hour the religious leader was to arrive to participate in the college's Rites of Spring Festival. The colorful group, however, had to wait another two hours for his grace because the weather cut short his plane trip from Modesto at the Livermore Airport, forcing the remainder of the trip by auto.

The group used the time to set the mood for the event. An impromptu band of drums, a guitar and vibraphone provided background music for the spontaneous singing of hymns and protest songs. A bright red Frisby appeared mysteriously in the crowd and sailed throughout the room for a temporary diversion.

The frivolity ceased when spokesmen announced the impending arrival of Hensely and asked the students to take on a prayerful solemnity. The quiet didn't last, for as the minister entered the room, shouts went up and a shower of flowers fell.

Television cameramen jockeyed for position as Hensley apologized for the delay and promised all would be ministers before the afternoon was out.

"All we ask of our ministers is they be themselves," Hensley said. "Become what you want and go out and tell the world what you are."

The minister explained that the Universal Life Church believes in the reality of people being individuals — not just numbers.

Offering the students heaven on earth, Hensley said, "Heaven is where you have what you want and hell is when you don't have it. Do you want to die first?" Shouts of "no" rang out as the students joined fully in the spirit of the event.

"We're a giant jigsaw puzzle and can't put it together until every piece is found and put in place," he said, urging students to find their true identities.

Hensley called for people to stop rejecting each other and drew a strong response with: "Wars and killing must stop."

A drab looking man who could easily pass for a quiet elementary school teacher,

JAUNTY BISHOP — Kirby J. Hensley wears a crown of flowers for his mass ordination of Sonoma State College students. The self-proclaimed bishop says concern for the individual is "the secret of heaven on earth."

Hensley espoused political activity as well as religion. He said he had run for president in 1964 and 1968 and predicted he was on the way to the White House.

He asked students to love one another and called sexual relations the strongest tie between people. "Get turned on," he urged.

A student asked, "How can we love Reagan and Rafferty?" Hensley appeared stumped, but said, "We can love them because they're human beings, but just how— now that's the $64 question."

Bringing an end to the questioning, the bishop raised his arms toward the heavens and intoned solemnly, "By the powers vested in me by the State of California and the Universal Life Church, I pronounce everyone in this building and on this campus a minister of the church.

"Cal yourself a pastor, priest or rabbi," he said. "Be whatever you want."

No charge was made for the ordination documents passed among the throng, but friends of the minister passed a faded brown felt hat in hopes of getting enough donations to pay his transportation costs.

After the mass ordination, Hensley said he began the religious organization in Modesto in 1962 when he put a sign in front of a building that said simply, "church." He now claims worldwide membership, including the Beatles, a university professor, two active judges and the sheriff of Sacramento County.

Although admittedly illiterate, Hensley claims to have memorized the entire U.S. Constitution and the Bible.

Faced with misdemeanor charges concerning his church operation, Hensley predicted the matter wouldn't get far in the courts. Noting young men have been penalized by Selective Service draft boards for trying to avoid the draft by claiming to be ministers, Hensley maintains that those who failed were bluffed out of victory. "Hundreds have avoided the draft with this document," he said, waving a ministerial certificate. He said, however, he doesn't counsel against the draft.

Doctorate of divinity degrees are also available from the church, but involve a series of lessons that cost $20. The twice-wed Hensley has performed many marriages and claims 2,200 churches have been chartered by Universal Life Church, Inc.

Hensley estimated that he has ordained 40,000 ministers and admits the documents are practically worthless.

Saying he isn't out to destroy other forms of religion, he said, "When we flood the market with divinity degrees, the divinity schools will die out. When we flood the market with ministers, we'll get back to the individual. That's the secret of heaven on earth."

Strong Opposition At Second Tamalpais Unification Hearing

By JERRY MEGAHAN

The proposed breakup of Tamalpais High School District into three unified school districts ran into strong opposition last night, including a threat of legal action, at the second of three hearings on the proposal.

Unanimous objection had been voiced at Wednesday's hearing conducted by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization at Sir Francis Drake High School, and the plan fared little better last night at Redwood High School, which would be unified with all elementary schools in its attendance area.

Although many school district residents feel that Redwood High School would benefit most from the split, only a half-dozen speakers gave the proposal even qualified support. At least 25 other taxpayers, teachers and students voiced firm opposition when they got to the podium.

The most vehement naysayers in the crowd of nearly 300 were the students and faculty of Redwood High itself.

Members of the committee repeatedly stressed that the three-district proposal was a tentative one, designed to get the Tamalpais district out of its unification dilemma by the 1972 deadline set by the State Board of Education.

That admission led several members of the audience to accuse the committee of sacrificing the schools and the students in the name of political expediency.

"We let politics affect our decision on the Novato Elementary School unification and I've had a guilty conscience ever since," said Wendell D. Ames, a Redwood High teacher who was chiarman of the committee when the first report on Tamalpais unification was made. "Novato has had to live with the nightmare of financial difficulties in the schools ever since.

"I beg of you to wait a while and see if you can come up with a better solution. I think it would be a crime to split up the excellent Tamalpais High School District."

The most emotional aspect of a meeting that at times resembled the libretto of an Italian opera was the racial aspect of the plan. Many black Marin residents feel that the split will result in de facto segregation.

"If you make the split, it would segregate Redwood High School," said Redwood student Barbara Brooks. 'Black people want the same education you want for your children. You people worry about taxes; I'm worried about my education and my chances to get ahead in this world."

John Thompson of the Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union followed that with a bigger bombshell. "We stand ready to test the legality of any unification plan which would tend to promote de facto segregation in the Tamalpais district," he said.

Other speakers pointed out other defects in the plan such as the three-hour bus run for students from the Bolinas-Stinson area to Sir Francis Drake High School, the committee's problems in deciding on an equitable voting plan for the proposal, further overcrowding at Drake and increased taxation in areas least able to pay.

Curtis P. Kamai, a Larkspur School District trustee, was one of the proposal's few supporters. He suggested that it might be easier to pass bond issues in the smaller split districts and that smaller districts would be easier to administrate.

Leo Sousa, a Reed School District trustee, agreed with Kamai's arguments and added that splitting the district might lead to getting construction of high schools in Tiburon and San Geronimo Valley off the drawing boards.

Howard Harvey, another Larkspur trustee, saw more sinister forces at work. "I see a very strong teacher's association which is indoctrinating students for its own purposes. It is a disgrace to the community to see the type of people who have been speaking here."

That statement triggered a warm exchange between Harvey and trustee Bette Wallace of the Tamalpais High School District and strong denials from a large group of students.

Board members complained that regulations for unification changed every time the state legislature met. "And no one could foresee the rigid interpretations by the State Board of Education since the most recent adjustment of regulations," said committee chairman Rachel P. Conner.

"No one is entirely happy with the present proposal," said school committee member Galen Williams. "We invite you to help us if you (members of the audience) can come up with a better idea."

The third and final round of public hearings on the unification proposal will be held at Tamalpais High School Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Cotati Police Chief Quits, Listing 'Personal Reasons'

Cotati Police Chief John W. Curtis resigned last night effective April 15, lisiting "personal reasons" and declining to elaborate.

Members of the city council accepted his resignation without comment. Curtis becomes the fourth member of the police department to resign since the new council was formed last April.

Officers William Flohr, Theodore Johnson and Gary Pitts preceded their chief in resigning.

"It's just for personal reasons and not a problem or lack of cooperation," Curtis said. "The residents of the city have been wonderful."

The chief said he is considering running for Sonoma County Sheriff again next yeor. Curtis was defeated in the 1966 election.

Curtis became the first police chief in Cotati in 1964 when the city was incorporated. He heads a force of three regular and five reserve officers.

A native of Santa Rosa, he began his law enforcement career in 1949 with the California Highway Patrol in Marin County. He was transferred to Sonoma County in 1951 and served there until becoming Cotati chief.

The Cotati City Council Also:

COMMISSIONERS — Reappointed Mrs. Frank Piazza and Harry Sumigawa to the parks and recreation commission for two-year terms. Dr. William Kortum and Mrs. Christine Manning indicated they were not interested in reappointment. The council asked that an amendment be prepared to reduce the commission from seven to five members, which would leave one vacancy remaining.

EMPLOYMENT — Introduced an ordinance amendment which would place all cases of firing employees in the hands of the city council rather than an arbitrary review board.

SEWAGE — Authorized Mayor Morris J. Houser to apply for federal funds to assist construction of new sewer lines to connect with the Rohnert Park sewage plant. No amount was specified.

LANDSCAPING — Authorized an agreement with the state to landscape the Cotati section of Highway 101. The city will provide free water for the project.

REZONING — Denied application of Lester H. Petersen to rezone his property at 405 Sierra Avenue from single-family to multi-family residential.

In 1457, golf was prohibited in Scotand because it diverted men from archery which was needed for defense, according to Collier's Encyclopedia.

Unification Plan Draws Opposition

Directors of the Sleepy Hollow Home Owners Association last night unanimously opposed the proposed splitting of the Tamalpais High School District ito three parts.

The eight-member board took the action after hearing a highly-critical report on the proposal from former San Anselmo school trustee Doris Harnsberger.

The unification plan proposed by the County Committee on School District Organization would set up three new districts around the Tamalpais, Redwood and Drake High Schools attendance areas.

The association board also met with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. in what president Frank Berto termed an "amicable discussion" on Highway 17, the possibility of additional roads from West Marin into the Terra Linda area, the widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and rapid transit proposals for the county.

Coast Artists To Stage Show

An art show featuring work by artists of the Bolinas and Stinson Beach areas will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. daily March 30 through April 6 at the Bolinas Community Public Utility District building.

The show will be sponsored by the Duxbury Daubers, a recently-formed group of artists and sponsors of art.

Children and adults may enter in the following categories, painting, photography, sculpture, mobiles, ceramics, weaving and other handcrafts.

Information on how to enter may be obtained at the Bolinas Library or from Barbara Lewis, Box 21, Bolinas, or Kate Martin, Box 72, Bolinas.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Cultivation Of Simplicity Is A Must At The Bridge Table

"Some performers admire technique for its own sake," an eminent violinist remarked recently. "They execute brilliant tricks where the music calls for absolute simplicity, and they expect a pat on the back when what they really deserve is a kick somewhat lower down." I hated to admit that the same ailment afflicts some of our best bridge players.

TAKES FINESSE

When today's hand was played in a recent tournament, East took the ace of diamonds and returned the nine of diamonds. South, a rather flamboyant young man, took a finesse with the jack of diamonds.

South didn't really expect the finesse to win, but he thought that West might foolishly lead the suit back, and this would give him a free finesse with the K-8 of diamonds. South kept a straight face, but he could hardly keep from chuckling with admiration of his own cleverness.

West knew all about South's cleverness and managed to resist the temptation to lead another diamond. Instead, West shifted to the queen of spades.

KILLING DEFENSE

This was the killing defense. South had to lose the heart finesse, and then the opponents would defeat the contract with a total of two spade tricks, two diamonds and one heart. South had given the opponents time to beat him.

The winning line of play was simplicity itself. South should take the king of diamonds at the second trick and should lead hearts at once. Even though the finesse loses, South is sure of four hearts, one spade, one diamond and three clubs.

NEED DIAMONDS

If East can lead another diamond when he is in with the king of hearts, the defenders can get a total of three diamond tricks, but they need four diamonds to defeat the contract.

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

You have 12 points in high cards, and two for the doubletons, just enough for an opening bid.

Alioto Drops Mint Request

SAN FRACISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto, after a year's study, wrote the federal government yesterday that the city no longer is interested in obtaining the Old Mint at Fifth and Mission Streets.

Opened in 1874, the building was used as a mint until 1934 and then as a federal office building until last year when it was emptied.

Alioto suggested it be turned over to San Francisco State College for a downtown educational center.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, March 21st, the 80th day of 1969 with 285 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1918 American and German soldiers fought in the key World War I Battle of the Somme.

In 1945 some 7,000 Allied planes dropped more than 12,000 tons of bombs on Germany in a daytime raid.

In 1962 Premier Nikita Khrushchev pledged that Russia would cooperate with America in peaceful exploration of space.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "Marriage is a thing you've got to give your whole mind to."

Mark Van Doren Has Heart Attack

A hospital spokesman said yesterday Van Doren, who lives in Falls Village, was admitted March 10. Doctors reported him in good condition.

SPLENDID ANACHRONISM

This is the kind of home that people don't often live in these days, but should. Obsolescent, impractical, inconvenient & absolutely delightful. Tamalpais. 2 frplcs., quarry tile floors and old-fashioned charm. House & grounds are private, serene, & sundrenched. The price for all this glory? A mere $47,500, far below present owner's cost.

CREAMPUFF
'66 GMC PICKUP
$1395

We can really say that this is a real creampuff pickup due to the fact that it's our own company truck that we purchased new and have used here at our company for general use and picking up of parts around the city.

This half-ton pickup has just been repainted to blot out our signs and there isn't a mark of wear or damage anywhere. Popular V-6 engine with standard transmission, w/w tires, radio, power steering, Barden bumper, all the chrome mouldings and lots of other extras. A really top-notch truck that's dressed up appearance-wise to look like new. Serviced regularly in our shop so this truck shouldn't need a thing done to it. T68692.

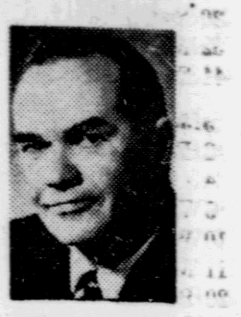
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

This Type Of Knobby Joints Not So Bad As Other Arthritis



VAN DELLEN

Heberden's nodes are small, hard knobs that appear over the tops of the finger joints not far from the roots of the nails. This hereditary condition is a form of arthritis that usually develops in midlife. Most of the victims are women.

Baseball finger is a traumatic type of Heberden's nodules and follows an injury in which the end of the digit is hit by a ball, hammer, or gets caught in a door.

AN ENCOURAGING aspect of this arthritic disorder is that other joints are spared because it is not generalized in nature. In the early stages, Heberden's resembles rheumatoid arthritis in that the membranes lining the joint are involved.

This period is most painful because the nodules are inflamed and distended with fluid. The swollen nodes are extremely tender to the touch and using the hand results in considerable aching.

In time, the acute phase subsides spontaneously, but gnarled, unsightly fingers remain. However, despite appearances, function is good.

THE JOINTS NOW have all the characteristics of osteoarthritis. Except for morning stiffness, the fingers are more comfortable.

Potent arthritic remedies are not needed. Aspirin and heat relieve distress. Washing dishes in hot water affords temporary relief.

Paraffin baths also are helpful. The hands are soaked in hot water for three minutes; then, dipped immediately into cooling, melted wax. When the waxy "glove" sets, dip again. This process is repeated a dozen times and the hands are allowed to rest for an hour before the wax is peeled off.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

ILEITIS EXPLAINED

E. R. writes: What is ileitis?

REPLY

Ileitis means infection. The ileum refers to the last few feet of the small intestine. An inflammation in this segment is called ileitis. The ileum joins the large intestine in the lower right side of the abdomen at a point not far from the appendix. As a result of infection, one disease may mimic another. Regional ileitis is a special type of inflammation of unknown origin that simmers for years without causing much trouble.

HISSING EAR NOISES

H. N. writes: Can a hole in the eardrum cause hissing noises?

REPLY

Yes, but the hissing sounds are not due to escaping steam. Have you consulted an ear specialist about the possibility of having the opening closed? Numerous conditions can cause head noises. These are discussed in our leaflet which may be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

PERFUME DOESN'T LAST

Miss J. writes: I use perfume every day, but no matter how expensive it is, the scent does not linger. Do you think I have too much acid?

REPLY

I don't know why the perfume dissipates, but I'm certain your problem is not caused by "too much acid." Perhaps the fragrance is washed away, diluted, or masked by perspiration or skin oils.

DIET AND WENS

A reader writes: Does the diet have anything to do with plugged up grease glands in the scalp that result in wens?

REPLY

No. Injury or infection damages the openings of the sebaceous glands and prevents the secretions from escaping to the outside. The result is a cyst (wen).

OUT WITH GALL BLADDER

REPLY

The gall bladder is removed in 999 cases out of 1000. When gallstones are present, nothing is gained by taking out the pebbles without eliminating the cause (infected gall bladder).

Today's Health Hint—One difference between humans and lower animals is man's eagerness to take medicines.

Two-Car Crash Injures Four

A 16-year-old San Anselmo girl received facial cuts and three other persons suffered minor injuries yesterday in a two-car auto accident in Ross.

Zana Darrow, of 73 Austin Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated for facial cuts at Marin General Hospital after the accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Camino Bueno.

Police said the occupants of the other car, Mr. and Mrs. Bob M. Belenski, of 1½ Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross, and Marshall Otwell, a member of the Sixth Army Band at the Presidio of San Francisco, received minor scrapes and bruises and were to be treated by their physicians.

The accident occured about 6 p.m. when the brakes on Miss Darrow's auto locked and she slammed into the car driven by Belanski, police said.

Sirhan Blackout Held Not Linked To Schizophrenia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's claimed amnesia during the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy would not have been caused by schizophrenia, a psychiatrist said today at Sirhan's murder trial.

Dr. Eric Marcus, like psychologist who testified before him, said the young Jordanian suffers from schizophrenia—two personalities within one person.

But, asked by the prosecution if this would explain the mental blackout Sirhan says he suffered when Kennedy was shot last June, Marcus said: "No, I don't consider there is any direct connection between amnesia and schizophrenia."

In testimony yesterday, Marcus said Sirhan "thought he was really more or less the savior of society . . . He was going to destroy the current political leaders of the country. He thought he knew what was best for society."

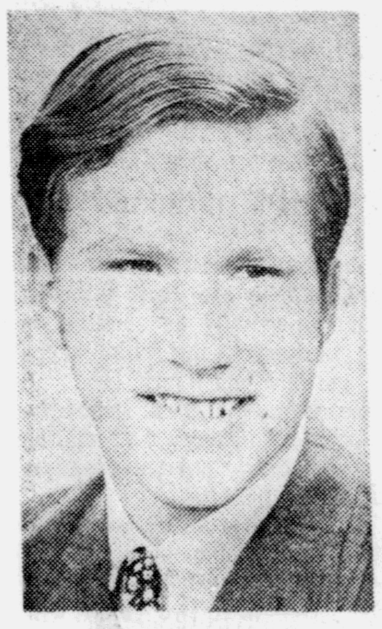
Tam's Don Mackin Headed For UCLA

FLASH—Don Mackin, Tamalpais High School's gentleman quarterback, has signed a letter of intent to enroll at UCLA.

"Don was rated extremely high by the Bruin coaches and we feel he could probably develop into one of the finest quarterbacks in the United States," said ex-Bruin end Ray Bennigson of San Rafael, who did a great deal of the recruiting.

It was a spirited battle for the talents of the soft-spoken Mackin, said Bennigson. "I think every school in the Pacific Eight Conference made a pitch for him plus Arizona State and some eastern schools," he added. "We visited the campus last weekend and saw the UCLA-Santa Clara (basketball) game. At halftime Don turned to me and said, 'Mr. Bennigson, it looks like I'm going to go to UCLA.' I felt like grabbing the public address system and announcing it to the world," the recruiter said, "that's how much I think of Don. It was the most rewarding recruiting experience I have ever had because Don is the finest youngster I have ever been around. It was a real thrill. He is a blue ribbon football player."



DON MACKIN

Success With Quarterbacks

Bennigson said Mackin's selection of UCLA is wise because of coach Tommy Prothro's success with quarterbacks. "He had Terry Baker at Oregon State and Gary Beban at UCLA," Bennigson reminded one and all, "and remember, they were Heisman Trophy winners." Reminded that both Baker and Beban failed to live up to potential in professional ball, Bennigson countered: "Maybe the third time's the charm."

Mackin will major in engineering.

'MY NOTE here the other day about the lack of a ticket agency in Marin and Sonoma counties for the Sears Point International Raceway has been remedied pronto quicklike and fast, too.

Gen. Mgr. James R. Coleman says the pasteboards for the March 29-30 Sports Car Club of America national points races are on sale at Dervin Ford Co. in Novato, and J & B Ford Sales in Corte Madera, and Sanderson Motor Co. in Petaluma.

Tickets, good for both days, go for $5 a pop (and mom, too). Even if you go only one day it's still a finski. Kids under 12 will get in free when accompanied by an adult.

New Man At Sears Point

Coleman also announced the appointment of Steve Castoldi as director of press and public relations for the new Sonoma County raceway. Castoldi is leaving his post as regional manager of SCCA.

PING PONG—Dan Goodman of Mill Valley is the only gent I can think of at the moment who has in his possession missives from the White House, Gov. Ronald Reagan and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

It's not that Goodman is all that important, it's just that he is chairman of 39th annual U.S. International Table Tennis Championships May 9-10-11 in S.F. and the letters are greetings, to be published in the tournament program, to the participants, sponsors and guests.

The letter from the Casa Blanca is signed by astronaut Navy Captain James Lovell, consultant to the president for Physical Fitness and Sports.

A's Tumble In Barrage Of Homers

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — You can talk about the fast ball and the curve ball and the knuckle ball, but a hurler's worst pitch above all is the "home run ball." Ask the Oakland Athletics.

Three home runs helped the Chicago Cubs give the Oakland Athletics their sixth loss in their last seven exhibition baseball games yesterday in a 9-2 contest at Mesa, Ariz.

BACK-TO-BACK

The teams faced each other again today, moving over to nearby Scottsdale.

Cub homers were by Randy Hundley in the fourth against Catfish Hunter, Ernie Banks' two-run effort off Vida Blue in the seventh and another in the seventh by Jim Dunegan.

Hunter homered for the A's with the bases empty in the third, off winning pitcher Ferguson Jenkins.

IN SEVENTH

The final Oakland run came with seventh-inning singles off Hank Aguirre by Rick Monday, Dick Green and Campy Campaneris.

Chicago moved ahead with a two-run double in the fifth by Billy Williams after walks to Don Kessenger and Dave Young.

The Cubs now have a 4-12 Cactus League record. The A's are 4-7.

Giants Whip Padres In Exhibition Game

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—The San Francisco Giants could attest today to the wisdom of the old baseball saying, "it doesn't matter how you score, as long as you score."

At the expense of the San Diego Padres yesterday, the Giants parlayed five unearned runs into an 8-5 victory in exhibition play. But Willie McCovey and Ron Hunt socked home runs to add power to the unearned tallies.

REMATCH

The Padres, seeking revenge, faced the Giants again today with ace Juan Marichal of San Francisco opposing veteran Johnny Podres of San Diego.

McCovey's homer yesterday was a three-run slam off rghthander Dick Selma in the fifth. Hunt's was a two-run homer off Selma in the eighth.

12 HITS

San Diego collected 12 hits off Bob Bolin and Mike McCormick including a two-run homer by Jerry Davanon.

Rookie Clarence Gaston singled in a San Diego run and veteran left fielder Tony Gonzalez had a single and triple.

Bruins Vs. Purdue In NCAA Finals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — UCLA and Purdue meet tomorrow for the national collegiate basketball title, but UCLA Coach John Wooden isn't banking on a repeat of the teams' season opener when UCLA beat Purdue 94-82.

That match was played at UCLA, and Wooden thinks Purdue is a vastly improved team.

The Bruin coach, seeking an unprecedented third straight NCAA title and the fifth in six years, was anything but complacent after UCLA held on for an 85-82 victory over stubborn Drake in the semifinals last night.

Purdue gained the championship game with a convincing 92-65 win over North Carolina in the first semifinal.

"We'll have to play a lot better than we did tonight," Wooden said of a Bruin team that hit 56 per cent of its field goal shots, but committed 22 floor errors and technically won on free throws.

Referring to Purdue, Wooden added, "If they played all season like they played tonight, we wouldn't have beaten them last fall."

Purdue Coach George King was a little happier with his team's performance.

"I don't believe we were looking ahead to anyone tonight," King said.

But when questioned before the second game about the possibility of meeting UCLA, he said he would let his Boilermakers run with the Bruins just as they did in their first meeting.

"We like for a team to pressure us," he said, "so we can develop our running game."

And King added that Purdue has picked up more poise and togetherness in play throughout the season.

But King faces the same large problem he did earlier—UCLA's 7-foot-1½ Lew Alcindor proved his All-American ranking against Drake with 25 points and 21 rebounds.

TALL 'IF'

"If we had Chuck Bavis," King said, "we probably would play them straight away. But since we don't . . ." He wouldn't say just what Purdue might do.

Bavis is Purdue's 7-foot junior center who is out of tournament play with an injury.

Wooden's chief concern in meeting the Boilermakers is the guard duo of All-American Rick Mount and Bill Keller, who bombed the Tar Heel defense with their outside shooting.

Mount hit 14 of 28 field goal attempts and finished with 36 points. Keller connected on nine of 19 floor shots and wound up with 20.

Wooden pointed to Boilermaker depth which he called better than UCLA's bench strength.

Last night King went to his bench early in the game. He credited his ability to do so as one of the reasons Charlie Scott of the Tar Heels was held to 16 points by at least three defenders, including Mount.

Neither King nor Wooden was planning on any line-up changes for tomorrow, the day, as Wooden said, when "it's all over, one way or the other."

Phillies' Richie Allen Hits Grand Slam Against Cards

Yankees Run Win Streak To Six Games

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Richie Allen will have only himself to blame if his wish to be traded to another major league team isn't fulfilled by opening day.

Allen has become disenchanted with playing in front of the hometown Philadelphia fans and openly admits he would like to be wearing a new uniform by April 8, the day the Phillies open against Chicago.

However, the Phils' asking price for Allen may have risen a little higher yesterday. The high-priced slugger hit a grand slam homer to lift Philadelphia past the St. Louis Cardinals 9-7.

The homer highlighted a six-run fourth inning which enabled the Phils to overcome an early 4-0 Cardinal lead. Rookie Ron Stone also homered for Philadelphia and got two other hits to boost his spring average to .464.

Dave Giusti, the victim of Stone's blast, was the loser for the Cards while Bill Wilson, who worked the last four innings, was the winner.

The New York Yankees ran their winning streak to six games by defeating Minnesota 4-2 and in the process snapped the Twins' five-game victory string.

An error by centerfielder Pat Kelly, allowing one run to score, and a steal of home by Mike Lum enabled the Atlanta Braves to defeat the Kansas City Royals 5-3 in 10 innings. Bob Oliver hit a two-run homer for the Royals in the losing effort.

ASTROS WIN

Curt Blefary drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Gary Geiger, Denis Menke and Doug Rader drove in two runs each as Houston outslugged the Montreal Expos 10-7.

Carl Yastrzemski had three hits, including a two-run triple in the first inning, as the Boston Red Sox edged the Detroit Tigers 5-4.

Tommie Sisk, Luke Walker and Dennis Riddleberger combined for an eight-hit shutout in Pittsburgh's 5-0 defeat of the Cincinnati Reds. Fred Patek drove in one run and scored another to lead the Pirates.

Andy Messersmith scattered five hits over six scoreless innings and California capitalized on poor fielding by Cleveland to score a 4-1 victory over the Indians. Vic Davalillo doubled home one run for the Angels.

Lucky Golf Is Out; Now It's S.F. Open

COMBINED AP & UPI

The Lucky International Golf Tournament has been officially taken off the Professional Golfers Association calendar.

However, the Oct. 30-Nov. 2 dates have been retained and the $100,000 tournament will go on as scheduled, probably as the San Francisco Open, under the auspices of the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Final arrangements were completed yesterday between the PGA and the SFCC.

"This will be a San Francisco effort with civic and business leaders contributing their money and efforts to continue the tradition of the Lucky International, sponsored by the General Brewing Company since 1961," Bob Cardinal of the Chamber said.

Schoendienst Remains In Hospital

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, hospitalized yesterday because of severe abdominal pain, was reported improved today.

A Cardinal spokesman said Schoendienst's pain lessened a great deal during the night. He said the manager's physician had considered exploratory surgery but changed his mind as the pain eased.

Dr. William Mallette, a St. Petersburg physician, said there is a slight possibility of appendicitis.

Schoendienst became ill following his team's 9-7 loss to Philadelphia in an exhibition game.

The Cardinal organization said Schoendienst will remain in the hospital for several days for tests.

Rookies Get Chance With Pirates' Club

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The infield of the Pittsburgh Pirates will be flanked by rookies this spring. Al Oliver and Bob Robertson could platoon at first base while Dick Hebner, who hit .276 for Columbus, Ohio, lasst season, seems set at third base.

The Pirates were hard hit in the expansion draft, losing third baseman Maury Wills, first baseman Donn Clendenon and outfielder Manny Mota.

Lopez Second Negro Manager

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the naming of Hector Lopez as manager of the Buffalo Bisons, organized baseball for the first time has a Negro manager in the high minor leagues.

Lopez, a 36-year old native of Panama, was named to manage the triple A club of the International League yesterday by Robert E. Short, owner of the parent Washington Senators.

Lopez is believed to be only the second Negro ever to manage in organized baseball in the continental United States.

Gene Baker, a Negro who spent his playing days as an infielder with the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates, once managed Batavia of the Class A New York-Penn league.

'Wings' Off Porsche Cars For Sebring

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Air foils are the in thing in international road racing, but favored Porsche removed the wing-like devices from its brand new open cockpit cars after only a couple hours practice for tomorrow's Sebring 12-hour endurance race.

"On this bumpy track, the air foils were making the cars vibrate too much," said Rico Steineman, manager of the German team whose long-time reputation for reliability has been tarnished in recent races.

FASTER

To his surprise, the cars were a full second a lap faster without the air foils and, to no one's surprise, the fastest of all yesterday.

One of the four Spyder open cockpit models making their racing debut for Porsche beat the track record by almost four miles an hour as qualification began.

Veteran drivers Gerhard Mitter and Udo Schutz of Germany each had a lap at 2 minutes 42.77 seconds or 115.009 m.p.h. The time was unofficial but indicates a record is likely tomorrow.

RECORD

The official lap record, set by Mike Spence in 1967, in a high powered Chaparral-Chevrolet, is 111.032 m.p.h. Last year, when power limits were cut to a maximum of three liters for sports prototypes—first of a kind experimental cars—the fastest lap was 110.759 by Scooter Patrick in a Lola-Chevrolet.

Lola, surprise winner of the 24 hours of Daytona in February, was only a couple seconds slower than the Mitter-Schutz Porsche and another of the German factory models driven by Jo Siffert of Switzerland and Brian Redman of England.

GARNER'S CAR

The fastest Lola at 114.105 m.p.h. was driven by Californians Ed Leslie of Monterey and Lothar Motscenbacher of Beverly Hills. It is one of movie star Jim Garner's entries.

A brand new 12-cyliner Ferrari, driven by Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., and Chris Amon of New Zealand was only seventh fastest, but its 113.815 m.p.h. was easily competitive.

Drivers had all of today to improve their qualifying times and earn a spot closer to the front for the race starting at 11 a.m., EST, tomorrow.

San Rafael Hurdler Makes Big Hit At Berkeley; Rags To Riches Story

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — "With my speed and form how can I possibly run 14.2?"

The speaker was Bob McLennan, former San Rafael High School hurdler, who as a prep earned no great fame.

McLennan was talking about his season opening high hurdle victory, a race equal to the second fastest in University of California history and his lifetime best.

At San Rafael, McLennan could manage no better than 15.2 seconds for the prep height highs, 22.0 for the 180 lows, and, he continued his mediocrity into the long(?) jump where he thudded 19-6.

FASTER 'N'FASTER

With his lack of speed he certainly could not have been called an "underachiever" in high school, but he certainly is an overachiever now, and the way he works he should continue to overachieve, faster and faster.

Hix coach, Sam Bell, figures McLennan might be able to run the 100 in 10.2; assistant coach Charlie Craig feels that Bob is faster than that, but Bob himself thinks that he is more in the 10.4 category, "if conditions are right."

His form is a long way from perfect, so that isn't what is achieving success for the 6-0, 170-pound California junior.

What it probably is, is his determination, during practice and in a race. He attacks the hurdles fiercely, and he is getting stronger and stronger as time goes by.

UP AND OVER—Bob McLennan hurdling his way to prominence on the University of California track team.

McLennan started to indicate some promise when he ran 15.0 as a freshman in the highs and 55.5 for the intermediate hurdles.

Last year, he astounded himself, and most everyone else, with a 14.3 high hurdle race — well behind Earl McCullouch who was running 13.3 for Southern Cal, but, in front of a world class athlete, Geoff Vanderstock.

He didn't come within three-tenths of this clocking again last year, although at the season end he was running consistent 53.6 intermediate races.

He's lowered his quartermile hurdle best to 53.1 and he is just starting to improve in this event.

To indicate just how little McLennan had achieved in athletics, until this year he claimed his biggest athletic thrill was beating a Cal freshman two miler in a 440 and winning a milk shake from coach Bell for it.

To further illustrate McLennan's improved strength and speed, he has run a mile relay leg in 49.3 this year, as opposed to his best previous time of 51.8.

TEAM HUMORIST

An impish looking blond youngster, just 20-years old, McLennan is the team humorist and can usually be counted on for the quick line that keeps things light and funny.

He is majoring in what he calls Social Theory and claims that his grade point average is "something fantastic."

While that probably isn't true of his grade point average, what he will accomplish on the track during the next two years will be, because it virtually is fantastic already.

With his determination, intelligence and humor, his future accomplishments in all areas very probably will also be "something fantastic."

Hull, Orr Set New Records

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Hull and Bobby Orr were record-breaking winners last night but the Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins came out losers despite their 5-5 National Hockey League tie.

Hull scored twice late in the game, giving him 55 goals and erasing the record of 54 he set three years ago. Orr's 21st goal with only one second to play forced the tie and established a mark for most goals by a defenseman. Detroit's Flash Hollett set the old standard of 20 in the 50-game season of 1944-45.

The deadlock dropped Boston four points behind front-running Montreal in the East Division and left the last-place Black Hawks nine points behind Toronto and seven in back of Detroit in the race for the fourth and final playoff berth.

Littler On Top

Boston Vs. Temple In NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The defense rested its case in the semifinals of the National Invitational Tournament last night.

The verdict went against it.

Army and Tennessee, ranked 1-2 in the nation in team defense, were both beaten in the semifinals. Boston College chalked up its 19th straight victory by downing Army 73-61 while Temple turned back Tennessee 63-58.

Temple, which won the first NIT in 1938 and hasn't been in the finals since, will now meet Boston College, trying to win for coach Bob Cousy's farewell, in Saturday afternoon's finals. The Army-Tennessee defensive match will be the consolation game.

B.C. and Temple, two teams loaded with slick ball-handlers and displaying a lot of schoolyard savvy, should provide an interesting matchup in the finale. They showed their class the way they picked apart the Army and Tennessee defenses.

Temple threw a press at Tennessee midway in the second half and ran up 10 straight points as the Vols, who pride themselves on their good ball-handling, were forced into numerous mistakes.

B.C. normally a fast-breaking team, beat Army at its own game as the Eagles followed Cousy's pre-game plan and slowed the game down and also played a zone defense for one of the few times this season.

Wardens Cracking Down On Littering Problems

Section 5652 of the Fish and Game Code says it is unlawful to dispose of any cans, bottles or garbage within 150 feet of the high water mark of the waters of the state.

This has been a recent legislative section entered in the Fish and Game Code. At White House Pool, near Pt. Reyes Station, some steelhead fishermen were cited recently under this section. In one week, after a group of sportsmen had cleaned up the area, Constable Michael McLean counted 253 cans thrown around, so citations were issued to everyone caught littering. This had to be done as the rancher-owner might have closed the area. In a few weeks, with the help of Judge David R. Baty, the area was thoroughly cleaned by the litterbugs as part of their sentence.

With more than 200 boats out on San Pablo Bay each weekend it is also important that we keep this area clean. If each boat throws three or four cans overboard, there could be up to possibly 10,000 cans in the bay in a three months period.

In a Napa courtroom recently the littering of Lake Berryessa came up. The defendant explained to the judge that he had thrown only one can into the lake, whereupon the judge questioned the game warden as if the citation weren't a little "chicken."

The warden's answer: "The reason they throw them one at a time is that they drink them one at a time."

All throughout the state officers hate to make "chicken" cases, yet it's the one-at-a-time throwing of beer and soda cans that creates litter problems. This, indeed, is the crux of the case, so beware, you can throwers.

Salmon fishing out of Sausalito is still going good.

Sturgeon fishing also is excellent in the San Pablo.

Black bass were taken this week in Nicasio Lake and it should be good at Berryessa.

NOTE: Trout season opens March 29 at Lake Almanor, Donner Lake and Jenkinson Lake.

Oaks Take On Miami Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Oaks will try to break a three-game losing streak—their longest this season—when they play host to the Miami Floridians in an American Basketball Association game at the Oakland Auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Oaks hold a 5-0 edge over Miami as they play the final game of their series.

Oakland, with a 53-16 season record, leads the Western Division. Miami is in third place.

Floridian coach Jim Pollard will be renewing hometown acquaintances, having been on the basketball squad at Oakland Tech High and an All-American at Stanford.

Redwood, Tam Favored In Prep Track

Take two long-time top dogs and three solid contenders and you have pretty much the shape of things to come in the 1969 Marin County Athletic League track and field race, which kicked off today.

Redwood High School, with an overflowing array of athletes, and Tamalpais, who have fought it out for the title the past three years, are again expected to be on top of the pack but either Novato, San Rafael or Drake could pull off some major surprises.

Redwood is literally loaded in numbers.

New coach Gary Shaw, replacing Tony Bailey, who is now head coach at College of Marin, has plenty to work with at the Larkspur school. He probably has more depth than any team in the league, with the possible exception of Novato.

The traditional Redwood weakness in the sprints has been shored up somewhat by the presence of newcomer Chris Sigur, a 10.3 seconds 100-yard dash man, but the Giants still lack depth there.

STAR RETURNEES

Genuine standout returnees from last year's championship squad include pole vaulter Brian Hicks (13-0), 880 and 440 man Tod Norris, discus man Judd Pillar, who has already had a toss of 152 feet, 4 inches, sprint man Tom Poppin, distance standout Kevin Pusser and shot putter Bob Bartel.

Craig Cochrane and Dan Friedman are expected to pick up points in the hurdles while basketballer Bruce Candrian and last year's Class B star Tom Estudillo will help in the middle distances.

If the Giants lack anything it is probably depth in the hurdles and sprints. But there are few, if any, gaping holes on a traditionally strong squad.

"I'd have to say we're one of the favorites," Shaw said. "I will be among Redwood, Tamalapis, San Rafael or Novato."

SEVERE JOLTS

Tamalpais was jolted severely by the loss of miler Bruce Boyd and Class B discus champ Gary Soderstrom, both of whom transferred out, but veteran coach Bruce Grant has quite a bit left. The question is where to put whom.

Luther Gray is a talented sprinter, running right behind ace Allan Lee last year, but Grant will have to use him to shore up the hurdles. Ron Small could help out, if he recovers from an injury. The Indians are solid in any of the running events, but have very little to show in the field events. They'll have traditionally tough relay teams, almost no pole vaulters. But 250-pound Verdean Herbold has surprised in the shot where he's already thrown 48 feet in his first effort at the shot.

TOO THIN?

Still, the Indians have always been tough. But they may be too thin this year.

Novato looks loaded and could provide trouble for anybody. Some genuine standouts head coach Bob Patterson's squad, including sprinter Phil Emswiler, distance runner Don Makila, the league's cross-country champ, sprinter Vance Brown, two-miler Ron Elijah, league shot put champ Ron Sparling, discus man Tom Phillips, and middle distance man Jeff Wagner.

The Hornets are deep in the running events, with good all-around balance, but they are weak in the field events, especially the high jump, long jump, pole vault and new triple jump.

"I think you have to go undefeated to win the title," Patterson said. "One loss, and you're through."

SENIORITIS

Drake coach Morrey Shepherd thought he had the makings of a championship squad a month ago at San Anselmo. But quite a bit of the team simply didn't show up as a severe case of what Shepherd calls "Senioritis" decimated his team.

The Pirates do have 9.9 sprinter Norman Biss, hurdler Grant Darrow, miler Jim Ahola, and 440 man Chuck Emery, to name a few. But what's left could still pull an upset or two.

Top returnees are 12-9 pole vaulter Mark Molica, pole vaulter and high jumper Rick Earhart, 6-0 high jumper Rich Smartt, 440 standouts Dick Tierney and Paul Mayhood, miler Dave Stancliffe, sprinter Jim Harris, and hurdlers Kip Knorr and Rowley McVeigh.

TOP RUNNERS

San Rafael has two of the top runners in the county in sprinter Bob Peterson (9.9 in the 100) and middle distance man Dave Bariski, but coach Gay Quandt is awfully thin in other areas.

"We just don't have enough to go around," Quandt said. "Some excellent people, but not enough."

Expected to help is former standout class B hurdler Dennis Silva, and distance man Frank Elias as well as a flock of youngsters.

Terra Linda is strictly on a rebuilding year, with ex-B thinclads expected to fill the ranks.

Only six seniors are out, five of them for the first time.

Junior Mark Jones, a 12-9 pole vaulter, is the top returnee.

Both Marin Catholic of Kentfield and newcomer San Marin of Novato will have an old problem — not enough veterans and thin ranks. In San Marin's case, there are no veterans.

Lacrosse Games On Tap Sunday

A lacrosse doubleheader will be played Sunday at Novato High School.

First game at noon will match junior teams from Novato and San Francisco and the nightcap at 2 p.m. will pit the senior Marin and Palo Alto lacrosse clubs.

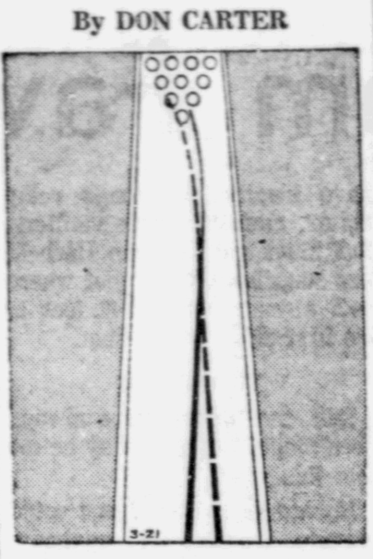
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Do "slow" lanes sometimes cause your ball to hook too much? There are some solutions. First, however, be sure it is the lanes that are causing the problem. Maybe you are going to the left of your spot without knowing it.

If the lanes are too slow, though, you should: 1. Loft the ball a little farther out onto the lane and increase your speed a little; 2. Hold your hand more directly behind the ball; 3. Move your starting position a few boards to the left, as shown in today's sketch.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

LOS ANGELES — Hedgemon Lewis, 145, Hollywood, Calif., knocked out Miguel Hernanaez, 148, Monterey, Mexico.

PORTLAND, Maine — Leo Difiore, 129, Portland, knocked out Louis Vidot, 124, New York, 10; Tommy Foss, 160, Peaks, Island, Maine, outpointed Gene Roberts, 153, Portland, 10.

Jacksonville Golf Leaders Bunched Up

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Heard, 21, six feet tall and 180 pounds, quit Fresno State College last fall in his junior year and decided to take out after Nicklaus, Casper & Co. on the $6 million pro tour.

"I've wanted to play on the golf tour since I was 11 years old—I couldn't wait," the strapping young athlete said today. "I came from an athletically minded family. My dad played pro baseball and even had a contract with the Cardinals.

MARRIED

"But he got married instead.

Heard is one of the brash, new breed of hungry tigers who have abandoned other pursuits—including higher education—and plunged into the rich golf tour.

Heard popped up among the leaders of a tightly bunched pack after the first round of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open tournament yesterday.

He fired a 68, four under par, which placed him in a tie with six others, just one stroke back of pace-setting Lionel Hebert, the 41-year-old veteran from Lafayette, La., leading at 67.

PRO GRID MEETINGS

No Sign Of Agreement

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — The joint meeting of the National and American Football Leagues labored into its fifth day today with no sign of agreement in sight over the compounded problems of realigning for the 1970 season.

Emerging from a series of meetings, both joint and by the individual leagues, which lasted well into the night, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said nothing definite had been resolved yesterday.

NOT OPTIMISTIC

In fact, said Rozelle, he was not optimistic that the problems would be settled today.

There then posed the prospect that the thing will be taken up at a spring meeting in New York in May.

Boiled down, the issues as far as public interest go, are: in the 1970 merger of the ex-warring leagues, will the old NFL remain a separate identity of 16 teams and the relatively new AFL keep its 10-team image; or will there be total realignment of the 26 teams:

The NFL, Rozelle confirmed, still stands on its demand for the 16-10 alignment—with no deviations from its ranks, and any expansion teams, as projected in the future, to go to the younger AFL.

AFL owners, it became known, are unified more than ever in calling for complete amalgamation, and offered a plan to the NFL that would create four new divisions in the over-all league, two with seven teams and two with six teams.

Colts' Braase Hangs 'Em Up

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ordell Braase, who played 12 seasons in the National Football League, announced his retirement today from the Baltimore Colts.

Braase, 37-year-old defensive end, was the third Baltimore player to retire since the Colts won the 1968 NFL championship and then lost to the New York Jets in the Super Bowl.

Defensive back Bob Boyd and center Dick Szymanski preceded Braase into retirement.

Seals Hike Playoff Tickets $1

OAKLAND — The Oakland Seals have announced a $1 across-the-board increase in ticket prices for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Prices will be from $3.50 to $6.50, with mail orders now being accepted. Counter sales will begin March 29.

William Torrey, executive vice president of the Seals, said the $1 increase was among the lowest of teams which will be participating in the playoffs and that the hike would not meet the higher costs of Stanley Cup play.

The Seals, who clinched a playoff spot Wednesday night, have four games left in the regular National Hockey League season. Oakland expects to open Stanley Cup play at home April 2.

U.S. Amateur Hockey Team Loses Fourth

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The U.S. amateur ice hockey team faced a dismal prospect today, with four defeats in four games already and a key defense man unlikely to play again in the world championships.

Coach John Mayasich, more worried than ever after last night's 5-0 defeat by a ragged Canadian team, said, "I don't know when Paradise can play again, or whether he will play at all in these championships."

The 35-year-old coach, who is general manager of the Green Bay Bobcats club, stepped in for Paradise agai Canada.

The Americans now have played four of their five opponents once, with only Finland to come. The Finns, too, have lost all their games thus far, and the Americans' big hope is to win against Finland tomorrow.

Warriors Play In Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — San Francisco Warriors, who already have clinched a spot in the National Basketball Association's playoffs, play in the Coliseum Arena tonight at 8 o'clock against a last place Milwaukee team.

Coach George Lee probably will be able to rest Warrior guard Al Attles, who is suffering from a muscle pull. He also will be able to give part time rest to center Nate Thurmond, who has a cold, and guard Jeff Mullins, who has a twisted ankle.

San Francisco has a 40-40 record in the league's western division while Milwaukee is 25-54 in the eastern division.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sale Of Inherited Stocks Can Satisfy Travel Hopes

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'm retired and would like to travel. My pension, along with dividends from 200 Standard Oil of New Jersey and 50 Maytag, takes care of my ordinary needs. I'm about to inherit the enclosed list of stocks. What shall I sell for travel money? What shall I hold and add to? — A. S.

A. Of your fine inheritance, I'd hold Anaconda, Northern Illinois Gas, AT&T and G.M. These four provide good income, and in my opinion you'd do well to build up G.M. and AT&T to 50 shares each as cash becomes available. When the market moves up again, the sale of R. R. Donnelly, Reliance Electric and Engineering, St. Regis Paper and National Propane preferred will release the capital you want for travel. I suggest that you discuss these proposed sales with your lawyer or accountant to determine your tax liability.

National Propane is traded over-the-counter, transactions are limited and hence daily quotes are not published. The company is controlled by DWG Corp., through the latter's ownership of approximately 90 per cent of the common stock. Latest quarterly earnings are disappointing, and price action is difficult to follow. Furthermore, the conglomerates are facing possible federal investigation and a less favorable attitude by New York Stock Exchange governors toward the issue of debt securities to acquire desired companies.

When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip visited Lake Villarica in Chile, a new airstrip was built especially to accommodate their plane.

Orices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Restaurant Associates, the most-active issue, was off 1⅛ at 25¼. Second most-active Asamera Oil was up ⅞ at 32⅝. Technical Operations gained 3½.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Wife Must Report Income From Alimony, Separate Maintenance

Wikel

Alimony and separate maintenance payments are deductible by the husband and must be included in the wife's income if:

1. The payments are made under a decree of divorce or legal separation, or they are made under a written separation agreement made after August 16, 1954, or under a court decree for support made after March 1, 1954, and for payments made after August 16, 1954, under such decree.

2. The payments must be made after such decree or agreement.

3. The payments must cover a legal obligation arising out of marital or family relationships.

4. The payments must not be for the support of children. Child support does not count.

5. Only periodic payments count: Lump sum payments do not count.

Periodic payments are those which extend over a period of time greater than 10 years, or where it is impossible to figure the total amount that will be paid.

LUMP SUM

Lump sum payments are those where a fixed definite amount is payable immediately following the decree, or where fixed amounts can be figured from the terms of the decree that is payable over a period of 10 years or less.

Temporary payments pending divorce or legal separation do not count. Neither do payments intended to repay loans received previously from the wife, or to induce her to turn over community property. Payments for attorneys' fees or court costs do not count.

Provided that all payments qualify, a husband can deduct all payments made to all previous wives during the year, regardless of the number of such previous wives.

The husband cannot deduct attorneys' fees.

The wife can deduct the cost of collecting taxable alimony.

However, attorneys' fees which might be for getting child support would not be deductible.

Any child support received is not income to the wife.

NEW SUPPORT RULE

There is a new rule for determining who gets the dependency credit for children of divorced parents.

It applies only to people who are divorced, legally separated or separated pursuant to a written agreement and who file separate returns. Also, the parents together must furnish more than one-half of the total support of the child for the year and the child must be in custody of either or both parents for more than one-half of the year.

Generally speaking, the parent having custody of the child for the greater period of the year will normally be entitled to the dependency credit.

There are two exceptions to this.

1. If a parent who does not have custody of the child contributed at least $600 towards the child's support and the decree of divorce or separate maintenance or written agreement between the parties states that he is entitled to the exemption, or

2. If he contributed more than $1,200 in child support regardless of the number of children for the year and the parent having custody for the greater period during the year does not clearly establish that his share of child support was greater.

If the child lives with you and you do not furnish over one-half of the child's support, you still may be accorded treatment as the "head of household" which would give you a tax advantage if your net income is over $500.

Alimony, separate maintenance, child support and divorce are tricky questions. You and your spouse should be in agreement as to who is going to pay the taxes and claim the dependency on your tax returns. An amicable agreement between you can save you both a great deal of trouble and misunderstanding later.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Warning A Year Ago Goes Largely Unheeded

Just a year ago, the Committee for Economic Development published a searching report on "The National Economy and the Vietnam War."

Citing the rapid inflation since the United States in mid-1965 transformed token participation in the Vietnam War into the role of major antagonist, it called for a series of governmental curbs.

One of these was the 10 per cent tax surcharge for which President Johnson months later won congressional approval and which President Nixon now says must continue.

OTHERS, HOWEVER, have been largely ignored. They included:

"1. A slowdown in the space program and some shift of scientific and managerial talent to the solution of the more critical problems of the cities.

"2. Sizable cuts in the $4.5 billion expenditure for agriculture, most of which goes for subsidies.

"3. A more substantial stretchout than the President has proposed in the program for reclamation, rivers, and harbors.

"4. Postponement of highway expenditures (to) permit a shift in construction activity toward urban construction projects that are urgently needed."

ONE YEAR LATER, we are going full-speed-ahead to land a man on the moon this summer — scarcely a slowdown in the space program.

Subsidies to agriculture have been left virtually untouched.

Although there has been some slowdown in rivers, harbors and highways expenditures, it has not been accompanied by a speedup of urgently needed urban projects.

Also, a year after the Committee for Economic Development's report, the stock market is in the midst of strange gyrations, generally tending downward, which are reminiscent of those in the early months of 1929.

THE COMMITTEE, looking with hope to the future, suggested what would need to be done if the Vietnam War should end this year. "The committee has no basis for predicting when the war will end," it commented. "However, it seems more prudent to plan on the assumption of an early termination."

Should the war end, said the committee, taxes should be immediately reduced to encourage private investment. At the same time, it urged, there should be "expansion of government programs directed to the national concern with city, race, and poverty problems and with housing and education."

A YEAR LATER, the war appears no nearer its end. But a trend may be developing toward new military expenditures (the ABM system being merely one example) in preparation for a greater war should we foreclose our adventure in Vietnam.

The inflation has not been checked, although interest rates have accompanied taxes to new highs.

It might be profitable for our national policy makers to re-read the recommendations and predictions of the Committee for Economic Development a year ago. The committee then held that the rapid inflation starting in 1965 was "a result of policy failures."

Too many of the same policies seem to be with us despite the warning.

Pussy Willows

Each spring we go to the florists to buy some pussy willow branches. These delicate, silver-gray buds are very pleasing to the eye and to the sense of touch.

Like some tiny, furry creatures crawling in patterned precision along the slender branches, the delicate little things have an out-of-this-world quality which makes them a natural favorite of flower-arrangers.

They probably grow in Marin. Most plants do. However, we don't know exactly where.

'Margin Tax' Bill At Least Provokes Some New Thinking

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—With the measure by Sen. William E. Coombs, R-Rialto, proposing a "gross margin tax" before the state legislature, the public at least will have an opportunity to see and study a new approach to tax reform in California.

Past attempts at tax reform, based on conventional systems of taxation, have proved woefully inadequate.

SENATOR COOMBS, who had the foresight several years ago to envision that conventional methods of taxation eventually would be out-dated, set himself to work out new and daring plans to change the system. More than two years of study has gone into his gross margin tax measure.

He is dubious as to whether it will be adopted this year, but has introduced the plan so that fresh thinking concerning taxation will be applied to problem.

His plan, he says, is, put in a new light as Gov. Ronald Reagan has decided not to use all the recommendations of the tax advisory commission, and "it looks as if my own tax reform program may be incorporated in the governor's tax relief program."

"THE BILL," the senator said, "lowers the property tax, eliminates the inventory tax, and restores income and franchise taxes to their lower pre-1967 rates and rules.

"Replacing the revenue lost by these changes would be a tax on gross margins on sale of goods by business and industry on business services. Although the tax is relatively new in the United States, it has been widely adopted in Western Europe, where it was hailed as a completely 'neutral' tax.

"In other words, it has less effect on the business and financial decisions that people make than any other kind of a tax. This plan creates a tax system which is very sensitive to changes in the economy and provides permanent relief to over-taxed property owners."

THE STATE'S system of taxation now is geared not only to meet the annual budget, but also to provide some surplus, which Governor Reagan proposes to return to taxpayers in some form or another.

However, with the present policy of spending, it is not expected that this situation will last any length of time. The only outlook is an eventual increase in levies on the taxpayer, which have now grown so large as to be approaching the confiscatory stage.

Thus, unless the legislature adopts new methods of taxation, the outlook is hopeless for the taxpayer.

The Coombs plan does not include any provision for a decrease in spending, but seeks to equalize the aount of taxes the people pay for government operation.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Little Sears Points Abound In Marin

The recent traffic jam at the Sears Point raceway was predictable. It was very similar to the jamups that occur regularly at Candlestick Park, and at Golden Gate Fields in the East Bay. And at S.F.Airport, despite a freeway to the door and hundreds of acres of parking lots. And in Los Angeles, all over, every day.

Why did the jam occur? Because a large people-attracting facility was built in the boon-docks with only one way to get there — by automobile (or maybe, by helicopter).

In Marin we have lots of little Sears Points, less spectacular, on a smaller scale. But only one way to get there: by automobile. As a few examples: Northgate Shopping Center — one customer equals one car; our own Civic Center; Dominic's Restaurant; the new fair grounds . . .

All of these are busily generating more and more automobile trips. So what? So, Los Angeles in Marin. So Sprawlsville. So Smogsville.

What's the answer? Three things:

1. Get behind the Marin Transit District and the Golden Gate Bridge District plans for expanded bus transportation and other mass transit facilities. (There's no use flogging a reluctant Greyhound management to do the job.)

2. Plan all new developments to be accessible to and compatible with public mass transportation.

3. Restrict developments that generate high levels of auto trips, such as drive-ins . . .

Of course, there are a couple of alternatives — pave over the counties and turn them into freeways and parking lots . . .

Smog Board Hits At 'Paper Tiger'

The "Bay Area Smog Control Board" ban on Bay Area residence backyard burning appears to be a degree of frustration taken upon the general population.

I have commuted from Marin County to San Francisco for 15 years. Observation of wind and seasonal weather conditions show that varying degrees of smog conditions will be present in Marin County with an east wind, in San Francisco by a northeast wind, down the peninsula when a north wind is present.

One look shows this stifling blanket of lung and eye irritant to be blowing in from refineries and industry located in the East Bay counties.

The principal sources of Bay Area smog are (1) oil refineries, to a lesser degree other industry and (2) diesel fuel transportation, e.i. autos, trucks, buses, freight and passenger planes. What further steps and control legislation is the smog board proposing to local state or federal governments and industry to eradicate the pollution emitted from the above sources? . . .

In short, gentlemen, you are attacking a "paper tiger," to ban backyard burning.

The board should be able to do better.

Grabbing Clothes Is Not Ju-Jitsu

I am writing in regard to an article in your March 13 edition, "Teaching Women To Street Fight."

Mr. (Norman) Kreuter states that ju-jitsu is not practical for women because she must depend on the grabbing of clothing.

This is an untrue and false statement. Mr. Kreuter should get the facts straight before he talks about something that he obviously knows nothing about (ju-jitsu).

Having taught hundreds of women the art of ju-jitsu self-defense, I can tell Mr. Kreuter that grabbing of clothing has nothing to do with ju-jitsu.

ABM Issue Gives President First Showdown With Congress

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — the next six weeks will be crucial to the future of the Nixon Administration.

Mr. Nixon knows he is the only person who can win his antiballistic missile fight — the President himself, no one else.

To do it he is committing the power and prestige of the presidency.

WHY SIX WEEKS? Because it takes that long to develop national public opinon strong enough to influence votes in the Senate where the real crunch will come. Mr. Nixon will have this much time because it will take that long for congressional hearings and debates — and he intends to use each minute of it.

Why is it that the President must take personal charge of the ABM campaign? Because the deployment of the ABM is above all a presidential issue. It goes to the heart of the President's responsibility as commander in chief — the security of the nation. It vitally affects foreign policy, and the President has constitutional primacy in foreign policy. It bears directly on the forthcoming U.S.-Soviet arms-control talks, and here the President's actions are critical.

THE ABM is overlaid with other controversies which only the President can pierce. It causes the hawks and doves to line up almost automatically. It raises the sensitive issue of military versus domestic priorities. It raises the specter of the power of the "military-industrial complex" despite the fact that Mr. Nixon overruled more of its wishes than he granted.

The President knew he was taking on a potentially divisive hotly controversial issue in the ABM decision, but he intentionally drew the controversy directly to himself by not having Sec. of Defense Melvin Laird make the announcement. He did so becaue he knew that only the President could provide the proper advocacy and get the needed public acceptance.

WHY IS WINNING the ABM vote so vital to Mr. Nixon's future? For these reasons:

The President sees the ABMs as essential to protect the American deterrence to nuclear war. He doesn't propose to take unnecessary chances on that.

Limited U. S. deployment of ABMs to match limited Russian deployment will improve the prospects of getting an arms-control agreement with Moscow. True or false? Answer: True — and the best evidence is that the Russians were never willing to talk about arms control until President Johnson first approved a form of ABM deployment.

Finally, Mr. Nixon is quite aware that his decision in favor of limited deployment of the ABM ends his honeymoon with his opponents in Congress and it is vital to his future effectiveness as an activist President that he win on the first big issue on which he is politically challenged.

HE ISN'T worried about ending the political honeymoon; he is rather relieved because, as he has told friends, it is not the length of the honeymoon but the stability of the marriage that counts, and the marriage he is talking about is the continuing good-faith relationship between the President and Congress.

With a Democratic majority in both houses, Mr. Nixon doesn't expect to win them all, but he does expect to win the ABM one, and in the coming weeks you will be seeing a skillful President marshaling all his resources.

He is in a stronger position than the first headlines might suggest. Before he made his announcement, congressional opinion was running against the ABM. Immediately after it, Senators Fulbright, McGovern, McCarthy, Javits and others were able to pre-empt the news. But on the morning of his ABM press conference, Mr. Nixon conferred with the entire Democratic and Repblican leadership plus the chairmen and ranking minority members of the Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committees, the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, the Appropriations Committees and the Armed Services Committees. There were 26 in all. At the end of the conference only three of the 26 opposed the President.

Only a credible President can win on this issue, and so far Mr. Nixon's credibility is unmarred.

Dissidents Find New Catch Phrase: Brain Drain

By JOHN W. GILBAUGH
Professor of Education
San Jose State College

Grist for the dissident professors' propaganda mill is being produced by the use of two simple but loaded words. By combining these two words into a catchy phrase, professors have created a weapon which is being used to make parents tremble and legislators quake. And, with it the public is being led to believe that the system of higher education is on the verge of total collapse. The words? Brain drain.

With considerable effectiveness, the dissident, anarchist, and revolutionist message to the public that the brightest minds on college and university faculties are being lured to greener pastures. That the brains of the intellectually elite professors are being siphoned off by business, industry, and richly endowed colleges and universities in far-away places.

THE BULLY BOYS of academe are threatening a mass exodus from college campuses to force a stoppage in the flow of knowledge. And, they would have the public believe that the educational processes will grind to an abrupt halt with the absence of their disruptive antics. Quite the oppostie is true, however.

The dissident and anarchist professors who engagee in the recent, illegal strike at San Francisco State College and San Jose State College, along with their sympathizers on other college and university campuses, would make a most substantial contribution to higher education if they made good on their threat. That is, to leave it.

Who would miss a recurrence of the disruptive blasts, "On Strike! Shut It Down!" fired through classroom corridors from 12-gauge bullhorns by members of academic goon squads during the recent strikes? Who would miss the four-letter obscenities hurled at the governor of California, members of the State Legislature, regents and trustees? Would these elective and appointive officials miss them? Apparently not.

COLLEGE ADMINSTRATORS have reassured these officials by vouching for the professional competence of the subversive, anarchist and revolutionist professors. Furthermore, college presidents insist that it would be impossible to replace them with candidates of comparable degrees of distinction.

Because the college administrators who imported th revolutionists are viewed a honest men, their word ha been accepted by public officials, who, now have misse their single opportunity t restore peace and tranquilit to California higher education They have failed to impose th resignation regulation alread on the law books, which provides the basis for separatio from employment of any stat employe who absents himse from assigned duties, witho authorization, for five co secutive days. Full reinstat ment for all those to whom th rule applied, who have retur ed to their classrooms, ha been recommended by colle officials.

Meanwhile, taxpayers mu take a new measure of the e durance of their patienc Perhaps taxpayers, whil stretching their patienc might find the brain-dra philosophy of the dissident pr fessors more palatable if th could find strength to subm to a system best described paraphrasing Tennyson: Ou not to make reply, Ours not reason why, Ours but to p taxes and sigh.

Student Writers Differentiate Blacks From Negroes In Class

Two reports by black students at Redwood High School tell pretty clearly, to the reader with an eye for nuance, what the black student faces and what he thinks about.

The reports appeared in "Right On," newsletter for Tamalpais High School District's Project Breakthrough.

Frances Tate, Redwood senior, wrote this about a "third world" group:

"THE REDWOOD High third world consists of 11 black students and 14 white students. . .

"We have so-called meetings on Tuesday and Thursday. What I mean is that they talk about a lot of things they want to do — but what's the use of talking and never doing anything about what you are talking about. . .

"Here at Redwood there are only 15 black students. Most of them just realized they were black. They just woke up to what the white man has been doing to them.

"The white people at Redwood won't let, or the president of the third world won't arrange for, all the black students to have a black student union. . .

"IN THE BLACK history class there are a lot of Negroes as well as black students. It takes time to try and make these Negroes realize that they are black.

"The white students in the class are trying to see how a group of black students act in class together. They are trying to find out if what their parents are saying about black people is really true.

"Almost all of the white students in the black history class are hippies. Maybe this is good and maybe not.

"The teacher is very interested in black identity. But the black students can't actually trust and lay all their belief in him.

"We need all the help we can get. I think every black person. . . should know if they belong to white America or not.

"I hope by the time I graduate from Redwood my people are more advanced than they are now (that includes me too).

"As it stands now, we're not together at all. We have to learn how to fuss among ourselves, and not in front of white people. The white man loves to see black people argue and down each other. We don't want to do what whitey likes, but what whitey doesn't like."

DEBORAH PERRY, student in the black history class, wrote in similar vein:

"My opinion of the Redwood black history class is that the black students either have to unite or compromise. They argue too much. . . while the white students (mainly hippies) sit around exchanging glimpses and grins at one another.

"The class is a total disaster and the Negro students act or take the class for a circus exhibit. . . Whitey wants the black and Negro students at Redwood to stay in their places at all times. The black students will not, but the Negro feels as one said, 'Whatever my counselor tells me to do or be, I am going to be or do. . . If he wants me to be a model, I'm getting on a diet today to be a model. . . But what I do behind closed doors is none of his business."

AN "ONLY in Mill Valley" item: When the post office annex was repainted from federal prison gray to an ochre shade in the city beautification program, the painters carefully left the mass of ivy on the wall and painted the wall under and all around it, hardly touching a leaf.

Youth is catching up to all of us. Discussing a new playground supervisor hired at Sausalito's Central School, Principal Robert Lea described Isaiah Solomon as "an older man — in his early 30s."

"I guess I can trust him then," trustee James E. Muldoon said, "since he's over 30."

It is unfortunate, considering that enthusiasm moves the world, that so few enthusiasts can be trusted to speak the truth. — Arthur James Balfour.

Strange Story Out Of Madison With Overtones Of Brasilia

Fusselman

Last Friday I told you about the folks back in Madison, Wis., who, 12 years ago, were having the same sort of problems as we were with the Civic Center situation, and that they are now faced with mounting costs on the project there as we are here with the Brasilia complex.

I have before me duplicate copies of stories carried in the I-J on Aug. 29, 1957, and March 7, 1959, together with current memos from a newsman in Madison. It seems, that to give you a clear picture, a running line of quotes will be best. This will take more space than is available for the column, so it will come to you in two sections.

THE 1957 ONE in the I-J was headed: "Man Who Fought Wright Structure In Wisconsin Tells Marin 'Beware.'"

"Marin County had better have 'a lot of money' on hand if Frank Lloyd Wright is to design the multi-million-dollar county civic center, a vacationing Wisconsin legislator declared here yesterday" (Aug. 28, '57) (I had received a telephone call from the paper that this young attorney was there looking for me. He had been following the story of the debate here in news stories carried by Madison papers. I went up, had a long talk with him and then lunch the next day in San Francisco. We corresponded for several years.)

"He said Wright has a contract to design a civic auditorium on the shores of Lake Monona . . . A clause in the contract, he said, provided that Wright's design be submitted to independent estimators 'before he is paid a red cent.'

"HE SAID the estimators took Wright's first set of sketches and determined that the proposed four-million-dollar project would cost $5 and one-half million. 'So the sketches were returned to him for redesigning.'

"Wright at first urged that more money be spent but finally agreed to prepare new sketches. To bring the project within the four-million-dollar bond issue, he complained, 'Wright has reduced the auditorium seating capacity from 8,000 to 2,000 and the number of parking spaces from 4,200 to about 700.'

"'For four million dollars he couldn't get near what they wanted,' the young legislator said. The council wanted to pay 6 per cent, the fee it normally paid for designs of public buildings. Wright asked 10 per cent. After a stormy debate the council compromised at 8 per cent and Wright said it was the worst contract he had ever signed. What Wright has designed is a semi-circular structure 102 feet high, with wings. The parking area would be located atop a funnel-type structure above some railroad tracks."

THE MEMOS from the newsman in Madison now show that even the final sketches, which reduced the seating capacity from 8,000 to 2,000 and parking from 4,200 to 700 and was to be a $4 million project had the lowest bid offering of $13 million, so the whole thing was then dropped.

However, a new mayor has revived it and a contract for a new design was made with the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation and a resident architect has been assigned to the project. The city has $5,500,000 available.

Case Continued In Burglary, Car Theft

John Lyle Mead, 52, of 7 Napa Avenue, Fairfax, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of burglary and auto theft. His case was continued until today in order for him to obtain an attorney.

Mead was arrested Wednesday after a San Anselmo man told police that his car and television were missing Monday after he had allowed Mead and another man to stay overnight at his home.

Red Paper Raps Church Loyalty

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Communists were told today that too many people—including some card-carrying party mem-members—were still going to church.

"Every Communist is a fighting atheist," or at least he should be, the party central committee newspaper Sovietskaya Rossiya declared in a front-page editorial.

The newspaper criticized party officials who have ignored the fact that many party members are also having their children baptized.

"All this is going on despite the fact that K. Marx says religion is the opiate of the people, a reactionary force and holds back the development of society," the editorial said.

Fairfax Planners To Review Market

The Fairfax Planning Commission will continue its hearing on an application for a special use permit for a 7-11 store at 161 Bolinas Road at next Thursday's meeting at 8 p.m. in the Fairfax Pavilion.

The commissioners will also consider three other applications for encroachment and variance permits.

Moratorium On Killing Gray Whales Issued

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A moratorium on the killing of gray whales was in effect today, while scientists investigated the deaths of five of the big mammals found on California beaches including two in Marin County.

The embargo on hunting the whales was announced by the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, which normally allows 29 whales to be killed during their migration season.

Preliminary autopsies have failed to ascertain whether the whales died as a result of passing through the oil slick in the Santa Barbara channel.

Two-Story Addition Permits Approved

Two residents of Cay Passage were given permission to build two-story additions to their homes by the Corte Madera Board of Adjustments Wednesday night, Betty Long, secretary, said today.

Applications were for adjoining properties of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Scola of 9 Cay Passage and E. J. Karandy fo 5 Cay Passage. Objections to the applications were made by Mariner's Cove Improvement Association members on the basis that the development originally had only one story dwellings.

Wisconsin has more than 8,500 lakes.

Education Discipline To Be Topic

Three educators will discuss "Discipline in Education?" at the Mill Valley Forum at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Mill Valley City Hall.

According to forum director Alan W. Barnett, panelists will debate whether teachers and administrators should enforce strict codes of behavior and dress or whether students should be free to work out their own codes and whether disciplines of math, science, literature and other subjects should follow a teacher's directions or encourage students to take the initiative.

Other questions to be explored by the panel include: Should grades be awarded for class performance? Is competitiveness a proper motive for learning? Should learning be individualized? Conventional or multi-level classrooms? What kind of preparation is best for college and the professions?

Speaking will be J. Richard Suchman, educational consultant and author of the inquiry development programs published by Science Research Associates.

A former professor of education at the University of Illinois, Dr. Suchman is a past director of educational research in the U.S. Office of Education and presently is director of the Ortega Park Teachers Laboratory.

Theodore Mitchell, guidance counsellor at Tamalpais High School and Dr. Ellen Binkley, chairman of the Tamalpais High School District Committee on Discipline, will also speak. Questions from the audience will be answered following the panel discussion.

Education Committees Set Three Meetings

The Marin County Board of Education will hold three committee meetings Monday in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

The Administrative Services Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the 1969-70 county school service fund budget and budget revisions. They also will review the Marin County Committee on School District Organization and the annual audit report.

The Special Education Committee will meet at the same time and will discuss applications for federal funds for students with various handicaps and thrash out the budget. Reports will be heard on the status of plans for Kent School for the deaf and on an agreement with Dominican College concerning a development center for the handicapped.

The Educational Services Committee, meeting at 8:30 p.m., will act on instructional materials and hear reports on development of its Education Professions Development Act project and on Bayview School's educational program.

Rusk Says Nixon Careful So Far

OAKLAND (AP)—Dean Rusk, who served two Democratic administrations for eight years as secretary of state, says he thinks the Nixon administration has been "careful and prudent" so far in its handling of international affairs.

"We left them some interesting problems to solve," Rusk remarked at a news conference.

He added that he is enjoying "the change from a world of decision to a world of opinion."

Student Help Sought For Art

Mill Valley Art commissioners Wednesday night heard that Tamalpais High School students are being recruited as docents for art exhibits in the Mill Valley Library, sponsored by the commission.

The recruitment program is headed by Mrs. Leonard Downey, Tamalpais High School Parent-Teacher Association art committee chairman, secretary Priscilla Dillingham reported.

Commissioners also agreed to ask Becky Jenkins of the San Francisco Neighborhood Art Association to speak at the commission's April 16 meeting.

An exhibit by Roy Gover was approved for the library gallery during April, Mrs. Dillingham said.

Many Quakes Jitter Mexican Coastline

PASADENA (AP — A spasm of earthquakes beneath the sea in the northern Gulf of California rattled Mexico's Baja Peninsula yesterday but probably did no damage, scientists at California Institute of Technology said. There were no reports of injuries.

Two potentially damaging shocks, registering 5.5 on the Richter scale at 7:10 p.m., were followed by a series of lesser quakes "beyond counting," Max Wyss of Caltech's seismological laboratory said.

333 Are Found Guilty So Far In Chicago Case

CHICAGO (AP) — Police arrested 677 persons in disorders surrounding the Democratic National Convention and 333 have been found guilty, a check of court records disclosed yesterday.

The 333 mark was reached Wednesday with the conviction of history instructor Staughton Lynd and nine other persons on charges of disboeying a police order to stop picketing the convention hall last Aug. 28.

Courts have discharged or acquitted 157 and 187 cases are pending, including those of 13 persons now on trial.

The city has collected $18,106 in fines in the cases.

The 13 on trial include New York Post columnist Murray Kempton, who was a convention delegate; Patricia Saltonstall of Washington, cousin of former Massachusetts Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, and several other persons who were delegates or alternates.

Weapon Stolen

The theft of a .22-caliber automatic pistol from Milt's Pawn Shop at 5941 Redwood Highway, Novato, was reported Tuesday the sheriff's office said yesterday.

State College Strike Ends; Hayakawa Balks At Terms

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Acting president S. I. Hayakawa today refused to accept in its entirety an amnesty section of an agreement ending the San Francisco State College student strike.

The agreement was reached yesterday between representatives of students who have been on strike for 113 days and the five members of a Select Committee appointed by Hayakawa.

However, at a morning news conference Hayakawa said he could not agree with seven recommendations dealing with discipline to students arrested on the campus—scene of many turbulent periods that included acts of violence and 678 arrests.

" . . . I cannot agree prior to any hearing what the limits of the penalty for a given offense will be," Hayakawa said.

"I do, however, agree that a review of current disciplinary procedures should commence immediately."

Hayakawa also told the news conference his position had not changed on personnel matters and indicated he considered the agreement between the strikers and the committee to be only a recommendation.

The strike leaders at a news conference yesterday indicated they felt it was a binding agreement.

"Dr. (Nathan) Hare's contract expires in June as already announced. George Murray's contract has already expired," Hayakawa said.

One of the 15 "non-negotiable demands" by the student strikers was that Hare be placed in charge of the college's black studies program. Hayakawa agreed previously to establishment of the program and named Hare as chairman but the Negro sociology professor rejected the appointment.

Another demand called for the reinstatement of Murray, a Black Panther, as a part-time English instructor. Murray's suspension, for allegedly advocating that Negroes bring guns onto the campus to protect themselves against "racist administrators," triggered the strike last Nov. 6.

Hayakawa also announced police would remain on campus

Senate Foes Ridicule Safeguard: Defense In Search Of A Mission

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate opponents of President Nixon's Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system today ridiculed the plan as "a defense in search of a mission" that would lessen and endanger U.S. security.

The ABM opponents, led by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., spoke sharply to the Nixon Administration's highest military chieftains, headed by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, at a hearing by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Gore.

At one point in the nationally televised hearing, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., got into a heated argument with Laird over Vietnam. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman used the occasion to criticize the Nixon administration's policy in the war. Laird refused to debate him on Vietnam.

Laird today repeated his contention that the Safeguard plan would protect U.S. missile sites so the United States could retaliate for any Soviet attack with ABM-protected U.S. missiles.

The defense secretary read from a formal statement; "We cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities..."

"Nor on our missile sites," Gore interrupted.

"It's easier to protect a few missiles than people," Laird replied.

Later, Fulbright, D-Ark., the Foreign Relations chairman, picked up the argument with Laird, switching the subject to Vietnam. He said the Administration was playing a "dangerous and tragic" game in Southeast Asia.

Laird retorted that he did "not believe it serves the cause of peace to carry on our

Nixon Gives Truman His Old Piano

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — President Nixon and Harry S Truman repaired their long-standing breach today with Nixon declaring that where the nation's strength is concerned, "We're not Republicans or Democrats—we are all Americans."

Accompanied by Mrs. Nixon the President visited the former chief executive at his home here. Truman and his wife awaited them on the front porch and exchanged cordial greetings before moving inside for some conversation. Nixon beamed at the Trumans but the 84-year-old former President—who had severed relations with Nixon more than 16 years ago in a hassle over campaign oratory—looked sober as he greeted his visitors.

Hickel Acts To Curb Off-Shore Drilling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel barred today oil leasing on some 55,000 acres off the coast of Santa Barbara, where a well blew out and oil polluted the beaches.

Hickel also issued more stringent petroleum operating regulations for the federal offshore area along the entire California coast.

He said that drilling and production in the Santa Barbara Channel would remain shut down indefinitely until the Interior Department is satisfied that its resumption would be safe.

Hickel said it might be necessary to abandon entirely a Union Oil Co. drilling platform, where the well mishap last Jan. 28 spread an oil slick over some 800 square miles of ocean as well as the area beaches.

Hickel revealed his plan, prompted by the Santa Barbara pollution, in a statement following a closed meeting with the House Interior Committee.

It came just ahead of a scheduled weekend visit by President Nixon to the polluted area. Nixon planned a helicopter inspection of the Santa Barbara beach area during his weekend visit to California.

"The program we are developing in response to the Santa Barbara tragedy will serve as a model for our future actions along the nation's entire coastline," Hickel said.

He said no decision has yet been made on canceling the Union lease or any others.

Reds Pound At 65 Bases

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese smashed at American bases with renewed fury today, hitting them with rockets, mortars and infantry assaults that caused serious casualties and losses of aircraft, vehicles and fuel.

In one of the heaviest series of blows since the opening of the spring offensive 27 nights ago, enemy rockets and mortars hit 65 allied bases and towns, and infantry assaults ripped into three of the bases.

It was the largest number of attacks since last Friday, when 70 bases and towns were hit.

All of the enemy infantry attacks were on American bases along the northwest approaches to Saigon, between 31 and 51

Tougher Pollution Ban Asked

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SANTA ROSA — Potent new powers to toughen California's water pollution laws, including a $6,000-a-day fine against polluters, were called for yesterday by the State Water Resources Control Board.

The porposed legislation would require polluters to pay the full cost of cleaning up their wastes, streamline legal steps to stop pollution, increase representation from the public on each of the nine regional water quality control boards, and specifically extend the state's jurisdiction to houseboats.

"We're all a little tired of being firemen," said board chairman Kerry W. Mulligan of Napa County of the need to overhaul the patchwork amendments made to the state's Water Quality Control Act since it became law 20 years ago. "Hopefully, these (revisions) will give us the tools to really do something for the future of California."

The legislative proposals, drawn by a study panel appointed by the board a year ago, were presented to the board in a meeting in the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors' chambers.

The study panel, which included Jerome B. Gilbert of Novato, former general manager and chief engineer of the North Marin County Water District, spent $75,000 on "probably the best value study the State of California ever has received," Mulligan said.

Gilbert now is executive officer of the state board, succeeding Mulligan, who was appointed chairman by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The key to the proposed legislation, Gilbert said, was the study panel's finding that activities and factors which may affect the quality of the waters of the state shall be regulated to attain the highest water quality possible after allowing for all the complex and often conflicting interests involved.

The seven-member study panel included representatives of conservation groups, industry and government.

Mulligan noted that the study panel's recommendations have been incorporated in a bill (AB 413) introduced by Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, D-Compton, chairman of the Assembly Water Committee. It was introduced so hearings could be scheduled, but with the understanding that the water board reserved the right to make minor changes, he said. Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael is a co-author.

Appointment of the study panel was authorized in a bill Porter got passed last year.

Cleaner's Shop Raided As Hippie Dope Depot

Throngs of hippies rushing to get their clothes cleaned?

The police didn't believe it either, and even though the Larkspur Cleaners was well decorated with psychedelic posters, it appeared to have an appeal far beyond the usual drawing power of cleaning establishments for the unwashed set.

Official suspicions led agents to make a marijuana buy from an employee of the shop, who happened to be a Marin County jail inmate spending his days working there on a work furlough basis.

Armed with a warrant for Steven Cowan, 22, after the Marin County Grand Jury indicted him yesterday for the sale Feb. 28, Larkspur police and agents of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau went to the shop at 274 Magnolia Avenue, about 5:30 p.m.

A search revealed "the largest amount of LSD I've ever seen," in the words of a drug agent, who placed a "conservative estimate" of the value of the illegal drug at $6,555.

The LSD was in a drawer on the back side of the shop's counter, agents said.

Arrested along with Cowan were another jail inmate who was working at the shop, John Robert Thiele, 19, of San Ra-

Crime Plan Is Approved; Secrecy Hit

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A master plan to upgrade law enforcement throughout the Bay Area, prepared at a cost of almost $50,000 in public funds, was adopted secretly last Saturday by the Association of Bay Area Governments' regional advisory board on comprehensive justice planning, it was learned last night.

No notice of the meeting, held at the Hotel Claremont, was given either to the press or to the public despite California's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act, which requires that 24-hours notice be given of such meetings.

The holding of the meeting was disclosed by ABAG's executive director, J. Julien Baget of Novato, at a meeting at the hotel of the association's executive committee.

Marin Supervisor John F. McInnis, a member of the executive committee, was highly critical of the advisory board's closed meeting — and of the board's forwarding its report to Sacramento without first having it reviewed by the executive committee. San Francisco

Support Is Growing For Legal Marijuana

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

(Last of 10 articles)

Some controversies over marijuana are growing warmer.

Should "pot" be legalized? Or, at least, should severe penalties for possessing it be reduced?

Proponents of legalizing it are apparently growing in number.

They argue it is less dangerous than alcohol, which kills thousands of Americans each year. No one becomes physically addicted to pot, they add, and it doesn't kill anyone unless he accidentally harms himself under its influence. Marijuana, they assert, is safer than smoking regular cigarettes.

Proponents hold that people should have a right to enjoy a mild drug that brings them a sense of well-being, that offers a way to relax, to fantasize, to have social and intellectual communion with other people. They argue that if pot were made legal, many drinkers would give up alcohol in favor of marijuana.

Opponents counter that alcohol is so badly abused that five to six million Americans are outright alcoholics, and that marijuana has the same potential to produce an equal or greater number of people who would have problems from pot.

"Because we have rum-heads, there is no reason to have potheads," is one argument. Opponents question that many alcoholics would give up booze, and that six million "Marijuanics" might come along atop all the alcoholics. The cigarette smoker, they add, can go about his usual business while he smokes, but the marijuana smoker cannot.

On more of a middle ground, others argue that the real question is not whether marijuana is potentially dangerous, because all drugs, even aspirin, are. They oppose legalization because they say not enough is known yet about

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI — Jordon reported new attacks by Israeli jet fighter-bombers today and said antiaircraft fire shot down one plane half a mile east of the King Hussein bridge across the Jordan River, killing the pilot.

A military communique issued in Amman said two Israeli Air Force Mystere jets attacked Jordanian Army positions east of the bridge at 3:55 p.m. and that the wreckage of the plane fell on Jordanian territory.

It was the fourth time this week Israeli jets have been reported in action against Jordan.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Praises Youth

GENEVA (AP) — America's youth in spearheading their country's quest for racial equality, the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations Human Rights Commission said today.

"The young of America have truly led the nation in this quest, making the older generation rethink values, attitudes and a way of life," Rita E. Hausser declared.

It was most encouraging Mrs. Hauser said, that the "youth of all countries are united in spirit and motive, bases on their sense of shared humanity."

Worm Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence that a vicious and potentially lethal form of intestinal worm tormented North America's prehistoric cavemen was reported today by a team of Utah scientists.

The new findings suggest that cavemen were sickened by the parasite— a thorny-headed giant of the worm world — from eating such delicacies as crickets, grasshoppers, beetles, cockroaches and whole, small rodents which carried the devilish worms in their own intestines.

Researcher John G. Moore and two colleagues of the University of Utah said in the magazine Science they had found eggs of the worm moniliformis clarki in ancient, dried samples of human waste products discovered in Danger Cave, Utah.

Israeli Denies Nuclear Arsenal

NEW YORK (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said today his country has no nuclear weapons and has "decided not to be the first power to introduce nuclear weapons into the Middle East."

Eban, interviewed on the NBC "Today" show, said he did not believe any Middle Eastern power has nuclear weapons now.

Israel, he said, has the "scientific capacity" to produce such weapons but is not doing so.

To Ignore Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — South Africa indicated last night it would pay no more attention to a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for it to withdraw from Southwest Africa than it has to a similar demand from the General Assmbely

The council called for the withdrawal in a resolution adopted 13-0, with Britain and France abstaining.

"I can't see that this resolution has any meaning," South African Ambassador Matthys I. Botha said.

His government holds that the General Assembly acted illegally Oct. 27, 1966, when it declared that South Africa's League of Nations mandate over the big territory had been terminated.

Denies 'Looting'

MANILA (AP) — Departing U.S. Ambassador G. Mennen Williams has asked the Philippine government to name a panel to determine whether he and his wife are trying to loot the country of rare artifacts.

The Foreign Office said today the request had been turned over to the National Museum for study. After a newspaper campaign, the museum director, Gemma Araneta, had warned Williams and his wife not to disregard a law that states items classed as national treasures cannot be exported.

The U.S. Embassy has refused to comment on the controversy stemming from charges by a columnist for the Manila Chronicle that the wealthy ambassador and his wife were buying up cultural treasures to take home with them.

Stickers Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has rescinded its order telling its active duty personnel they could not display political bumper stickers on their cars, the Armed Forces Journal said today.

The Journal said Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor wrote Sen. Sam L. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., that "Army personnel will, in the future, be permitted to display political bumper stickers on their private automobiles. This of course does not affect the Army's long-standing policy of noninvolvement in partisan matters."

Ervin, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, had urged Resor to cancel the order.

New Panelists

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has named four newcomers to the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, which is responsible for keeping him posted on the government's entire intelligence effort and recommending ways to make it more effective.

Nixon also renewed the board by executive order yesterday. It is headed by retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and has nine other members.

Liza Minelli Denies Aussie Leader Link

LIZA MINELLI
'All a flutter'

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Actress-singer Liza Minelli says she was "all a flutter" over a dressing room visit by Australian Prime Minister John Gorton which figured in a row in his country's House of Representatives.

And so were her mother-in-law and sister-in-law, who were present the whole time last July 1, declared the slender black-haired daughter of Judy Garland in an interview yesterday.

"We were all a flutter. It was like the president coming back," she said of the prime minister's visit in Sydney. "My mother-in-law and sister-in-law were there and we lined up in a sort of receiving line."

Miss Minelli agreed with the prime minister that any story linking their names in a scandalous way as a result of this tete a tete was a pure fabrication. "Vicious lies," was her description.

Speakers in the Australian House of Representatives had said that as they understood it Miss Minelli wrote an article for the British magazine Private Eye recounting experiences with Gorton at night clubs in Bali and Australia.

Albert James, a member of the opposition to Gorton's Liberal party governments, said it was reported the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had paid $15,000 for the article and peddled it to African, European and American publications. This was flatly denied in Washington.

The House ended by voting not to investigate the matter and Gorton won a standing ovation from his Liberal Party followers at a special meeting last night.

"The entire story," Miss Minelli said, "is untrue and ridiculous. It is so ridiculous that I laughed when I first heard it. I sent a telegram to Mr. Gorton and his wife expressing my regrets and assuring them that I was taking legal action to find out who started this lie.

"I've never written any article. I don't even have time to write letters," said Miss Minelli.

No state has a higher low point than Colorado or a lower high point than Florida. Colorado's lowest spot, along the Arkansas River, towers 3,350 feet above sea level. Florida's loftiest altitude — 345 feet — lies in Walton County.

Additional 10 Lunar Trips Set

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — If the first manned lunar landing comes off as planned in July, a space official says, it will be followed up by a series of others for "a sum total of 10 voyages to the surface of the moon."

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the Air Force Association convention yesterday:

"If we do make the first touchdown this summer, we'll follow that with three similar voyages, each time increasing the scientific equipment."

Each of the first four moon landings, he said, would leave equipment to measure lunar surface disturbances and to reflect laser beams back to earth.

The six later landings, he said, could be set up in areas of the most significant interest and could include overland exploration.

"We're talking here really about man's conquest of the seventh continent," he said, noting that the moon has about the area of North and South America.

$50,000 In Bonds Approved For Sale

Old Adobe School District trustees yesterday approved the sale of $50,000 in bonds to be redeemed over an 11-year period.

Supt. Dean Magowan said the funds would be used to purchase additional school sites, plans for new buildings and a six-classroom addition to La Tercera School. The bonds may be put up for sale in late May or June.

Tennessee Campus Building Destroyed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A two-story science building at Lane College in Jackson, Tenn., was destroyed by a suspicious fire and violence hit widely scattered high schools. But the longest student strike in the nation ended at San Francisco State College. (See story, page 1.)

The president of predominantly Negro Lane College, Dr. C.A. Kirkendoll, said, "I personally believe it was arson." Lane reopened eight days ago after a 10-day shutdown due to a student boycott, extensive vandalism and other suspicious fires.

Kirkendoll said he thought the fire was "triggered" at a campus meeting called by the Black Liberation Front. The fire department reported no injuries in the blaze.

Officials at Denver West High School said a teacher who was termed a "racist" by students would be transfered at his request, in the wake of a rock-throwing melee that led to more than 20 arrests and three injuries.

Students threatened to strike the 1,800-student high school and two other schools.

Police waded into a crowd of about 300 students and used chemical Mace to subdue protesters. A television cameraman was arrested and charged with hitting a policeman.

In Forrest City, Ark., about 200 students threw rocks at a junior high school to protest the dismissal of a teacher who had been active in civil rights work.

Rev. J. F. Cooley, who taught seventh grade, was fired by the school board Wednesday without explanation. He had organized demonstrations at a grocery store opposite the all-Negro school to protest a limit on the number of students permitted in the store at one time.

The high school and junior high school in New Brunswick, N.J., remain closed after students battled yesterday.

Police arrested 11 students at Harper High School on Chicago's South Side after fighting between whites and Negroes spread outside the building. Bloom Township High School in a Chicago suburb remained closed after disorders Wednesday.

At other schools:

Buffalo, N.Y.—Students at the State University at Buffalo planned to confront Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today at a campus ceremony, to press demands that led them to seize the administration building for 16 hours Wednesday.

The State University Construction Fund ordered a halt in construction at the nearby Amherst campus, after protesters charged that construction unions at the site employed no Negroes.

Houston, Tex.—Mark Rudd, a leader of last spring's protests at Columbia University in New York, defied an administration ban and spoke at the University of Houston without incident.

Chicago—Two students and a campus guard were injured in a cafeteria brawl at Chicago State College, which canceled classes. The school has been troubled for more than six months. Negro students seek the resignation of President Milton Byrd, a white.

Albuquerque, N.M.—City officials held up final approval of a contract to make the Civic Auditorium available for the national SDS convention. Officials will meet today with SDS spokesmen and the Federal Alliance of Free City States, in whose name SDS sought the facility.

SDS has court action pending against the University of Texas, which barred the convention from its Austin campus.

Recording Star Will Turn 104

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The world's first recording star, who in 1887 played the piano for Thomas A. Edison's first phonograph recording, will be 104 Sunday.

Harriet Atwood made the historic recording in West Orange, N.J. Edison sent his young assistant, George Atwood, down the street to get the neighborhood music teacher to play for the new machine on which they were working. Atwood came back with Harriet Hadden, who became Mrs. Atwood.

Sunday the patients at Terrace Hill Nursing Home here will have a party for Mrs. Atwood, who's been living at the home since 1956.

Mrs. Atwood's husband, who died in 1933, helped Edison perfect the phonograph and then went on to become an electrical engineer with Western Electric. He helped develop the dial telephone system.

Innocent Plea To Jail Escape

Arthur Victor Bornn, 21, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of escaping from the Marin County Jail in 1966. A preliminary hearing was set for March 25.

Judge Hadden W. Roth refused to reduce Bornn's bail from $11,000 after learning from a probation officer of Bornn's extensive criminal record which began with bicycle stealing as a child and most recently included a term in a federal prison for car theft.

Bornn was re-jailed Wednesday when he appeared at Marin County Jail to ask for his possessions left behind when he escaped a bailiff in Marin Superior Court almost three years ago.

He still faces sentencing on car theft and burglary charges to which he pleaded guilty in 1966.

Gang Torture Death Leads To Arrests

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan's East Village, once the seat of East Coast hippiedom, is now the turf of tough motorcycle gangs. The gangs' bitter rivalry, police say, led to the fire-torture slaying of a gang member.

Police arrested a gang chief and his lieutenant last night and charged them with homicide after an intensive investigation into the death of Ray Edward White, 21, of Dayton, Ohio.

Detectives, who received little cooperation from gang members, said they believed the murder may have resulted from the victim's attempt to hold membership in both the Pagans and a rival gang, the Alien Nomads.

Arrested and held without bail were Franklin Frank, 21, president of the Pagans, and Anthony Brucardi, 17. Police said they were seeking two other men in connection with the death.

White's nude body was discovered Monday in a tenement apartment, trussed with piano wire so he would strangle himself if he struggled. He had been doused with a flammable liquid and set ablaze.

The latest arrests brought to 32 the number of persons, many of them gang members, seized during the investigation this week on charges ranging from possession of dangerous weapons to possession of narcotics.

In gang jargon, the Pagans are "bikers" meaning they are among the few who own motorcycles. The Nomads are so-called "subway bikers" who affect the black leather dress but don't own the expensive machines.

Logging To Start Near Bolinas

Logging operations on the 1700-acre Ethel Righetti ranch between Bolinas and Olema probably will start next week, according to Marin County Fire Chief Louis Bloom.

Chief Bloom said he has received a copy of a logging permit issued by the California Division of Forestry, Santa Rosa office, to a firm from North Bend, Ore. Principals in the firm are Robert L. Matthews, Jerald R. Humbert, and George E. Walker, who give their address as Box 265, North Bend.

The permit allows timber cutting from March 17, 1969, to December of 1971.

Youth Admits To Misdemeanor

Ronald Ernest Gustafson, 20, of Mill Valley has pleaded guilty to a lesser charge, car tampering, then the original felony charge of car theft.

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court ordered him to return for sentencing April 18.

A co-defendant in the case, Michael Joseph Bailey, 18, of San Francisco, was earlier certified to Juvenile Court.

The youths were arrested Jan. 5 in Tamalpais Valley, when sheriff's deputies said they drove an auto belonging to a Larkspur man a few blocks and began stripping it of wheels and battery.

Citizens Organize To Support Local Police

A Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee was founded today and it is expected that committees in at least six other Marin cities will be announced soon.

Raymond C. Kesner, Larkspur committee chairman, said that San Rafael and combined Tiburon-Mill Valley committees have been formed and that committees are in process of being set up in San Anselmo, Corte Madera and Novato.

The committees have three main purposes, said Kesner. They are: To support and encourage local police in performance of their duties; to support the concept of control over police authority at the municipal level and to resist the growing danger of a 'federal police force' through federal aid and grants; and to reject "the establishment of 'civilian police review boards' by whatever name they are called and to reject irresponsible harrassment of the police by dissident, anarchist or subversive groups."

A countywide group, Marin County Support Your Local Police Committee, was formed in May 1967 by the John Birch Society, but no longer exists.

Kesner said the county committee had a different approach — that of trying to sell its programs to the police chiefs, but met with a cool response from the chiefs, who felt there were political implications they wished to avoid.

The new committees being formed were initiated at a suggestion of the John Birch Society but are not sponsored by the society, said Kesner. Five Birch members are on the Larkspur committee, however, Kesner being one of them.

Committee supporters, the chairman related, are asked to sign a form which states that their endorsement is of the program alone and does not necessarily represent endorsement of any other organization.

The Larkspur committee has 29 sponsors and, through its program of calling on citizens, distributing literature and bumper stickers, hopes to boost this to several hundred, Kesner said.

Asked if he sanctions the committee, Larkspur police Chief Howard H. Clark said, "I can't say I sanction it because I would want to study it more. I feel I'm being greatly supported already.

"We have the support of people. By the mere fact the people pay their taxes and behave themselves, they are supporting the police department . . . that's the type of support I want."

Kesner, who lives at 113 Sycamore Avenue, is a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison.

Kesner says his committee believes there is an all-out effort to take away local police authority and give it to the federal government. "If this comes about," he said, "it will be through such groups as the Association of Bay Area Governments or the Bay Area regional organization."

Color TV Stolen

Burglars entered the home of Ruth J. Jackson of 3 Owlswood Drive, Larkspur between 7:10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. yesterday, and stole a brand new $500 color television set, Mrs. Jackson reported to police. Entry may have been through the kitchen door, said police.

Dock Employers Asks Help To End Labor Fuss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dock employers asked federal court intervention today in a spreading tie-up of cargo container shipping in West Coast ports.

Longshoremen have refused since Monday to handle prepacked containers and vans in a dispute over the jobs involved in packing and unpacking the containers.

More than 300 workers have been fired in six ports—San Francisco, Oakland, Seattle, Portland, Long Beach and Stockton.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli declined Wednesday to grant an immediate restraining order asked by the Pacific Maritime Association in an injunction suit.

The PMA charged the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union with defying an order by arbitrator Sam Kagel to work cargo containers "as directed by the employers."

Zirpoli said the issue required a full court hearing. His own court commitments will require assigning the cae to another judge, he said.

Testimony Of 'Game Playing' In Mutiny Case

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (UPI)—Testimony today indicated a number of prisoners had to be picked up and boidily returned to confinement during a sitdown at the Presidio stockade in San Francisco.

Lt. John J. Tierney, the officer who directed attempts to quell the disturbance, opened the second full day of testimony in the mutiny court-martial of five of 27 soldiers.

While Tierney testified, Col. John G. Lee, a bald rotund man who is presiding officer at the proceedings, sat sideways to the court, leaned back in his chair and clipped his finger nails.

"A couple (of the demonstrators) played games," Tierney said. "At first they went along easily when an MP grabbed them, then went limp later on."

at least until April 11 so the strikers could show that peace could be maintained on campus. At that time, he said, if no further troubles arise, he will review his amnesty decision.

When asked whether his decisions could change regarding Hare and Murray, Hayakawa said the agreement did not involve their status. As to the students reaction to his decision on amnesty, Hayakawa replied:

"I don't know, I don't know, I don't know."

With that statement, Hayakawa ended the news conference abruptly.

Attorney Frank Brann and Bishop Mark Hurley, who led a citizens' effort to mediate the lengthy dispute, described the pact as a "monumental agreement." Brann said it will "provide a model for colleges around the country."

Benny Stewart and Jerry Varnardo, spokesmen for the striking groups, announced the settlement to students at an impromptu rally. They said they won all 15 of their "non-negotiable" demands.

The student leaders said an agreement on amnesty for the approximately 400 students among the demonstrators arrested would be signed. The amnesty question had been one of the major stumbling blocks. They said there would besome suspensions, but no expulsions.

OIL

erations will be allowed on Santa Barbara tracts already leased as soon as the geological information needed to assure safety is available, Hickel said. He declined to estimate when that might be.

California already has a state-proclaimed oil sanctuary, extending to the three-mile limit off Santa Barbara, from which all oil operations are banned.

But the federal government has been leasing tracts outside that limit for oil and gas operations, except for a buffer zone along the state sanctuary.

Hickel formally declared that buffer zone, 21,000 acres, an ecological preserve, and added that another 34,000 acres still unleased south of this preserve will be made an additional buffer zone with no drilling or production permitted.

Open Campus Session Set

A panel discussion designed to pacify neighborhood opposition to the open campus policy at Terra Linda High School will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the school cafeteria.

Panel members will be Marge Ryan, commissioner of spirit; Mark Regan, commissioner of student activities; Gray Barker, sophomore student council representative, and Rick Mulhaupt, student body president. Principal Frank Stocking will be moderator.

Mulhaupt said he hopes the neightbors can "cool" some of their feelings against the open campus. He said the student council wants to demonstrate to the Esmeyer residents its eagerness to alleviate problems of litter and parking that may have arisen from open campus.

He did bow low when shaking hands with Mrs. Nixon.

Several hundred townspeople gathered behind wooden police barricades across the street from Truman's white frame dwelling. Most cheered Nixon's arrival, but a small group waved colored placards criticizing the military and Nixon's proposal to go ahead with deployment of a thin antiballistic missile system.

A grand piano has turned out to be the unlikely peace symbol to end one of the nation's nastiest political feuds — The Nixon-Truman split.

Over the years, charges of treason, cronyism and political ineptness by Nixon and threats of physical reprisals by Truman have marked relations between the two—with playing the piano the only apparent common point of interest.

Nixon moved to heal the breech when he scheduled a stop today on his trip to California for a visit with Truman. The chief executive took along the White House piano often used by Truman as a gift.

Any ties between Nixon and Truman came to an end in 1952 when Nixon, running as the GOP vice presidential candidate, charged the retiring president with coddling Communists in the government.

Truman and other Democratic leaders were "traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe," Nixon charged.

Truman reacted angrily to what he considered an attack on his patriotism. He was quoted as calling Nixon an SOB and once said he never wanted to see Nixon because "it would just start a fight. "That's the awfulest thing a man can be called—a traitor. When I get started on that, I don't want to swear, I want to punch someone."

Their paths have seldom crossed since. They last met at a Washington dinner in 1964.

The rest of Nixon's time after arriving in California late today was to include a helicopter tour of the Santa Barbara beaches despoiled by an oil slick from a runaway offshore well.

Tomorrow Nixon and his wife Pat will go to the San Juan Capistrano Mission famed for its annual springtime visitation by swallows.

bargaining or negotiations in public at this time."

Earlier, Fulbright remarked on the ABM proposal that "we have more than enough" missiles, and Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., said the United States and the Soviet Union were about equal in offensive strength.

"This moment of parity is the time to negotiate," Case said.

In his formal statement, Laird estimated that the Soviet Union could kill 15 per cent of the American population with as few as 200 missiles, while it would take 1,200 U.S. missiles to kill 45 per cent of the Russian population.

Gore said at the outset of the hearing that Nixon's decision to go ahead with the ABM system, even on a scaled down basis, was a mistake.

The Tennessee senator noted that the ABM originally was advertised to defend against a possible Red Chinese missile attack, but said the Chinese don't have any intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"Your principal argument was that the deployment of the ABM's around two Minuteman missile sites ....would preserve the integrity of our deterrents," Gore told Laird.

With the nuclear strength the U.S. now has, he said, the ABM would be an expensive and unnecessary frosting on the cake.

"What country, in the face of all this, would consider that it could launch a nuclear attack upon the United States without suffering utter devistation in looking at Laird. "It would be madness."

WAR

miles from the capital. Twelve Americans were killed and 47 wounded, while known enemy losses were 38 dead, U.S. spokesmen said.

Ten of the Americans were killed and 28 were wounded in one attack on an artillery base.

Other targets included Da Nang Air Base, the biggest north of Saigon, the nearby Marine air station at Marble Mountain, no reported casualties or damage; a U.S. Army transportation base near Cam Ranh Bay, 180 miles northeast of Saigon, moderate damage and some Americans wounded; an American fuel storage depot near Qui Nhon, 260 miles northeast of Saigon, "light to moderate damage," and the headquarters of the U.S. 1st Marine Division at Da Nang, of the 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands and of the 1st Infantry Division, north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command also reported the loss of 11 more helicopters and a jet fighter-bomber. One helicopter and the jet were shot down Wednesday and yesterday in the northernmost provinces, killing two men and wounding five. Most of the other helicopters apparently were destroyed by enemy shelling in the past week.

The report raised aircraft losses from all causes in the Vietnam war to 2,452 helicopters and 2,615 fixed-wing planes, the U.S. Command said.

REPORT

Supervisor Terry Francois, the chairman of the advisory board, was asked to report to the executive committee at its next meeting on April 17.

Only enough copies of the plan to supply the regional advisory board were printed, he said, and none will be available for viewing until additional copies are printed.

The man hired by ABAG to conduct the crash study, Robert A. Mullen, was not at work today because of illness, his secretary reported. She said additional copies will be available early next week.

She said the meeting was closed to the public "because that's the way it was planned."

The study to draw the plan was started in January by ABAG to qualify for federal funds for law enforcement programs under the Crime Control and Safe Streets Act.

The federal funds are to be available to local governments for recruitment and training of police, public education, construction of facilities, control of riots and disorders, and development of community service programs. In most cases, federal grants will cover up to 60 per cent of the cost of a local program.

The plan was to be based on the findings of task force studies of education and training, law enforcement, the judical process, corrections, juvenile delinquency, organized crime, riots and disorders, and narcotics, drugs and alcoholic abuse.

The regional plan was due to be submitted Saturday to the California Council on Criminal Justice. The state is to submit its plans to the federal government by April 1.

Guilty Verdict On Burglary

A jury in Marin Superior Court yesterday found Allan Ludviksen, 23, of San Francisco guilty of the burglary of a Belvedere residence on Aug. 15, 1967.

After a trial of three days, the jury deliberated about three hours.

Judge E. Warren McGuire referred Ludviksen to the probation department and set sentencing for April 15. Ludviksen is free on his own recognizance.

enforcement provisions "would make it unprofitable to violate," said Burton J. Gindler, a member of the study panel. Under present law, little can be done to make it expensive to violate the antipollution laws, he said.

The proposed fine "may sound large to some people, but perhaps it's not large enough in light of what happened in the Santa Barbara Channel — but it's a good start," he added.

(The San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board has asked that the fine be $100,000 a month, with a 10 per cent increase for each additional month a polluter fails to comply with antipollution regulations.

(Assemblywoman March K. Fong, D-Oakland, has proposed the monthly fine be set at $100,000 per 100,000 population in the cases of public agencies guilty of pollution.)

The proposals to change the composition of the regional boards would increase their membership from seven to nine persons. Instead of only one representative of the public at large, there would be three.

The other six include: one person associated with water supply, conservation and production; one associated with irrigated agriculture; one associated with industrial water use; one associated with municipal government; one associated with county government, and one from a nongovernmental organization association with recreation, fish or wildlife.

Gilbert, noting that the study panel's final report will not be ready for about six weeks, said it will include "strong recommendations" to regulate discharges from pleasure boats and ocean vessels.

Discharges from houseboats, the panel declared, "constitute a significant source of waste," and "may impair the beneficial uses of the waters of the state to the detriment of the health, safety, and welfare of the people of the state." Discharges of waste from houseboats, it said, "are not adequately regulated."

(Houseboats on Marin's waterfronts have been the objects of long but unsuccessful local and state government antipollution efforts.)

The proposed legislation also would hike the annual salaries of the five state board members from $20,000 to $25,000.

The legislation has the support of the Reagan administration. The governor, in his "state of the state" message to the Legislature in January, said the findings of the study panel should "be enacted at the earliest possible moment."

fael, and the owner, Robert A. Cogswell, 22, of Larkspur.

Cowan was booked on the earlier marijuana sale charge plus suspicion of possessing a dangerous drug for sale. Thiele was rebooked on suspicion of possession for sale of danger-drugs, and Cogswell was arrested on suspicion of violating as well as suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Agents said they found a marijuana cigarette in his possession.

A fourth youth, painting a poster in the rear of the shop was not arrested nor was a woman customer picking up her dry cleaning.

Agents said that the cleaning shop was carrying on a "volume business"—but not in cleaning clothes.

They did not care to speculate whether any of the illicit drugs were finding their way back to the county jail with Thiele and Cowan.

Both men are serving sentences for pior drug sale convictions.

The three were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today, and Cowan in Superior Court Monday on the grand jury indictment.

OLD WEST LOOK BANNED

A Call Made For Wiping Out Floating Dice Games

Those outdoor crap games in Marin City's commercial area should be wiped out, Marin City Community Services District directors agreed last night.

Law enforcement officers reported they can keep breaking up the games, but arrests are difficult to achieve.

An officer would have to see the dice and the money and either see or hear someone covering a bet, Dewes said. "We just can't get that close. As soon as they see a patrol car, they stand up."

Lt. Ellis Seibert of the Marin City substation said he got a call of gambling near the stores Tuesday and when he arrived two minutes later, there was no one there.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said patrolling will discourage the gambling and curtail it to a degree. "We'll keep the pressure on. If we get calls, an officer will respond."

C. J. Williams, one of the merchants, said, "This place is on the spot. We know there's gambling all over the county, but they hide it." He said it was bad to have gambling in front of the stores, where it is seen by children.

Chairman Douglas J. Quiett said at least the gamblers shouldn't have their games "out in the open where it affects a number of people."

Director Frank Phillips Sr. said the community should work on solving the problem. "It's really a disgrace that more businessmen aren't here to express their views," he said.

The board also received a letter from the Session of St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church of Marin City urging the district and Marin City Council to begin discussions with the community and county agencies toward establishing locally administered law enforcement for Marin City.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos had been invited to the session, but he was represented by Stinson, who explained that the sheriff was unable to attend.

Another Snow Outing Planned

The Gallinas Village Community Services District board agreed last night, according to secretary Marguerite Clark, to sponsor another snow trip in about two weeks, depending upon availability of charter buses.

Gallinas Village Community Services District directors also:

COMMENDATION — Thanked Diane Belben, senior at Terra Linda High School, for handling reservations for the last snow trip. "She brought in the whole junior improvement association," said Mrs. Clark.

EASTER EGG HUNT—Voted to assist the junior improvement association in sponsoring an Easter egg hunt at Pueblo Park between Descanso Way and Hacienda Way, probably on the morning of April 5.

RECREATION — Asked Director Herbert C. Berben to bring in recommendations for summer recreation.

Pair Arrested As Suspects In Shoplifting

Two persons were arrested within minutes of each other yesterday at the Disco store in Larkspur and booked into Marin County —ail on suspicion of shoplifting, police said today. They are Helen L. Zoubok, 18, of 132 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, and Gerard J. Sirocky Jr., 24, of San Francisco.

Sirocky was placed under citizen's arrest by store clerk Harold Smith at about 6:40 p.m. after Smith said he saw Sirocky walk out of the store with a pair of 79-cent socks without paying for them.

Smith, police said, chased the man for a block whereupon Sirocky threw the socks at Smith, Smith brought Sirocky back to the store and called police.

A few minutes later, clerk Donald Streeper said he stopped Miss Zoubok, who was going out of the store with two cards of eye liner and an auto dimmer switch pedal, valued at $3.47, police said.

Marin City Pair Backed For Panels

Marin City Community Services District directors last night recommended two residents for appointment to key posts after a call for local coordination on such recommendations.

Elihu H. Johnson of 31 Buckelew Street was recommended to fill a vacancy on the Marin County Redevelopment Agency created by the resignation of Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr.

The Marin City Council had recommended Mrs. Brooks and Johnson, but there was some debate because the council had acted while the services district board was still awaiting response to its call for suggested nominees from the community.

Director Frank Phillips Sr., who also is a council member, said he didn't know anything about the council acting on recommendations until he read it in the newspaper.

Banks explained that he polled council members by telephone on the recommendations and Phillips wasn't reached.

The council and the services district should work together on such recommendations, Phillips said.

Chairman Douglas J. Quiett said such "hangups" have to be eliminated if the community organizations are to present a unified front for Marin City.

Phillips emphasized he was critizing the council's procedure in nominating Johnson, not Johnson himself.

The Marin City CSD board also:

TB X-RAY — Supported a bid by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council to have the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association send its mobile X-ray unit to Marin City for chest X-rays.

BAY FILL — Tabled a request from the Citizens Alliance to Save San Francisco Bay to support a bill extending the life of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

PLANNING GRANT — Granted use of office space a the Manzanita Center as the district's contribution toward providing matching services needed for the Marin City Council to obtain a $50,000 federal planning grant.

WORKABLE PROGRAM — Designated the Marin City Council as an advisory committee to Marin County on its workable program for community improvements. The county needs a program to qualify for federal housing funds, and the council will be advisory on matters concerning Marin City.

VICE CHAIRMAN — Elected Alvin C. Bynum vice chairman.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until a special joint meeting with the Marin County Housing Authority at 8 p.m. Thursday at Manzanita Center, with the next regularly scheduled meeting April 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the center.

Directors Orpha Elmina Barnes and Dorthea Mitchell were absent.

Man Booked In Drug Probe

Marin County Sheriff's deputies yesterday booked Robert Desmond McKendrick, 35, of Vallejo Street, Inverness, and a female companion into county jail on suspicion of drug violations.

The woman was released without charge and McKendrick was held on $500 bail to appear in court today.

Deputies made the arrest at 10:35 a.m. in the parking lot of the Parkway Cafe at Point Reyes Station and reported findin¼ marijuana, dangerous drugs and drug paraphernalia on McKendrick and in his car.

Youth To Enter Drug Center

Judge Hadden W. Roth gave permission in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for a youth, arrested on anrcotics charges after the death of a 16-year-old girl March 1, to leave jail and go to a teen-age drug treatment center.

He released Stephen Carl Ellsworth, 20, of San Rafael on his own recognizance on the condition that he move into "Teen Challenge" in San Francisco.

A representative of the center described it as a Christian-oriented drug treatment facility. He said about 85 per cent of youths admitted were successful in stopping drug use.

Ellsworth faces a charge of being under the influence of narcotics at the time of the death of Willeen Harper of San Francisco in a Corte Madera motel.

Also awaiting trial on the same charge are William John Helms, 20, of San Anselmo, and Curtis Lynn Ross, 18, of San Quentin.

LeMay Named In Countersuit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Retired Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was sued for $40,208.59 by an electronics company that charged he had used his job as chairman of the board as a springboard to other positions.

The suit by Networks Electronic Corp. of Chatsworth, was an answer and counter claim to a $5.33 million suit filed against the company by LeMay.

The legal battle concerned the circumstances under which LeMay left the company to become the vice presidential running mate of George C. Wallace on the American Independent Party ticket last year.

LeMay's breach of contract suit charged the company tried to fire him when he went into politics because his candidacy was "unpopular" with some stockholders.

Kennedy For Lifting China Barrier

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called for an overhaul of U.S. policy toward Communist China, including pulling U.S. troops off Formosa and giving Communist China a seat on the U.N. Security Council.

Kennedy, in a speech last night, also called for removing all travel and nonstrategic trade barriers with mainland China and opening consular missions there until diplomatic relations are established.

The Massachusetts Democrat told the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations, "Surely, in the entire history of American foreign policy, there has been no fiction more palpably absurd than our official position that Communist China does not exist."

Kennedy, the Senate assistant majority leader, called on the Nixon administration "to rectify the errors of the past" by offering Peking "a clear and attractive alternative to the existing impasse in our relations."

Negotiations with the Communists should begin "at the earliest opportunity," Kennedy said.

The senator proposed that the China seat in the U.N. Security Council and General Assembly be given to the Communists. He said Nationalist China might retain General Assembly membership and that diplomatic recognition should be maintained with the Nationalists. He also proposed the "demilitarization" of Formosa.

The Whisky Ring was a conspiracy by whisky distillers and federal revenue officers to defraud the government on liquor taxes.

Braun-Maine Murder Trial Bills Added Up

UKIAH (AP) — The 45-day Braun-Maine murder trial cost Medocino County $62,000, Dist. Atty. Duncan James says.

That amount, he said yesterday, did not include the cost of his office nor of the sheriff's office.

The trial, longest and costliest in the county's history, was moved from Ukiah to San Jose in a change of venue after defense attorneys said their clients could not get a fair trial in this Northern California Community.

Thomas Braun, then 19, from Ritzville, Wash., was convicted last Nov. 14 of first degree murder in the slaying of Timothy Luce, 17, Ukiah on Aug. 21, 1967 near Upland. Braun was sentenced to die in the gas chamber.

His companion, Leonard Maine, also 19 and from Ritzville, was convicted of second degree murder and received an indeterminate sentence.

Both also were convicted for th kidnap, rape and assault with intent to murder of Luce's girl friend, Susan Bartolomei. She was driven from the Ukiah area to the foothills near Sonora and left for dead alongside a country road.

Miss Bartolomei remains speechless and is partially paralyzed as a result of bullet wounds in the head.

James said the trial costs inludes $42,767 paid ot to attorneys Merle Orchard and John Poulos, appointed by the court to defend Braun and Maine. Other payments included $5,000 in witness fees, $8,400 in jury fees and $6,500 for psychiatric services.

$1,600 Value On Items Taken

Stereo equipment, guitars and other items valued at a total of $1,600 were taken from an apartment at 430 Canal Street between 11:20 a.m. and 3:55 p.m. Wednesday, police said yesterday.

Betty Lou Pfleiderer reported the property owned by her and her roommate, Noreen A. St. Pierre, was taken through a sliding glass door after the lock had been pried, police said.

The theft of a set of Burmese jewelry valued at $850 was reported Wednesday by Mildred Irene Pratz of 3 Lillian Lane, San Rafael. She told police the necklace, earrings and bracelet were taken from a windowsill in her living room.

Officer Acquitted In Fatal Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 10-week trial of white policeman Michael O'Brien ended with his acquittal on voluntary manslaughter charge in the shooting death of George Baskett, a Negro truck driver.

Defense Attorney J. W. Ehrlich predicted O'Brien, suspended since the shooting, would be returned to duty. But O'Brien faces a police commission hearing, as yet unscheduled, on charges of "unofficerlike conduct."

O'Brien, 28, showed no emotion as he heard the verdict yesterday. With an escort of police officers, he quickly left the courtroom with his arm around a weeping red-haired girl friend. He refused comment.

The all-white superior court jury of seven men and five women returned its verdict after 23 hours of deliberation extending over four days.

O'Brien was charged with shooting Baskett, 28, in a dispute that flared with a group of Negroes after a passing car scraped a boat O'Brien and another off-duty white officer were returning to a garage near the Hall of Justice.

In the trial, Ehrlich contended that O'Brien had fired in self defense as Baskett swung at him with a stick.

He said O'Brien was kicked and threatened by angry Negroes before his encounter with Baskett.

Prosecution witnesses testified that Baskett picked up the stick only after O'Brien had warned that he was going to shoot.

They said Baskett was trying to knock O'Brien's service revolver from the officer's hand when he was shot.

The first Negro in the Georgia Legislature since Reconstruction was Leroy Johnson, elected to the Georgia state Senate in 1962.

Jet Guard Gets Hero's Welcome

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Mordechai Rachamim, the young Israeli jetliner guard, who fatally shot an Arab guerrilla attacking an Israeli jetliner in Zurich last month, arrived to a hero's welcome in Jerusalem last night.

Police tried to protect Rachamim, 22, but admirers surged around him and hoisted him on their shoulders. Someone thrust a bouquet of roses into his hands.

"I want you to understand that my trial has not taken place and that I am therefore not at liberty to talk," he told reporters.

Swiss authorities released him on $23,000 bail and a guarantee from Israel that Rachamim would be returned to stand trial for the Feb. 18 shooting.

College Board Shuns Planning For Possible Tax Hike Defeat

Like a persistent prizefighter, trustees of the Marin Junior College District refused last night to consider defeat.

The board balked when Louis H. Herkenhoff, acting College of Marin president, and the college cabinet offered suggestions on possible ways of trimming the college program if the bid for voter approval of a 77-cent tax override fails April 15.

Last night's meeting was the last before the tax vote.

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy was the first to object to any discussion of austerity measures before the election.

"I would like to see us go on a positive basis," she said, "rather than sit up here and say to the people that if you're not going to vote for this, your child may not be able to come to school here.

"These tactics never produce positive support. There are other districts in this county which have said these things and they have had to re-evaluate."

"We should let the people draw their own conclusions as to what could happen," said Trustee Robert E. Oliver.

The suggestions by Herkenhoff and the cabinet included choices to limit enrollment, setting an earlier deadline for enrollment to eliminate late arrivals, restudy of new faculty needs for 1969-70 and a reduction in courses.

Theodore C. Wellman, board president, suggested a workshop session with staff to establish priorities if the override fails. The board has said it needs the new tax, which would last until 1973, for operating expenses and expansion, in addition to a current, 35-cent override which expires in 1972.

Student John Ruchenski told the board he detected "deafeatism" in its ranks, although Wellman said the mood was "just the contrary."

"I think a large number of us are optimistic," offered Herkenhoff, "although we're not going blindly down the primrose path."

The board ultimately voted to defer the tentative proposals for discussion after the election, probabiy of a workshop.

Also in connection with the election, Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond reported that students were playing a large role in efforts to gain passage of the tax.

Wellman announced a board workshop with the citizens advisory panel on the election at 8 p.m. Thursday in the curriculum laboratory at the county schools office in Corte Madera.

Marin Junior College District Board Also:

TRANSFER — Approved interdistrict attendance agreements, although Mrs. Deedy expressed opposition to the policy of permitting exchange with about 50 other districts of up to three students each without charge. Trustee Donald K. Felt also said steps should be taken to restrict enrollment to district residents.

CENTER — Asked for preparation of bid specifications for a complex of portable buildings in the main parking lot off College Avenue to accommodate faculty and administrative offices because of the demolition of Harlan Hall. The office center is expected to cost about $265,000.

NONTEACHING — Asked the staff and nonteaching employees to fix a new calendar for an election to decide whether the employees want to join the civil service system. Board members feared "misinterpretations" during a proposed meeting to discuss election issues might jeopardize the board's attempt to pass a tax override. The meeting had been set for April 8.

AUDIT — Hired the certified public accountant firm of Sodermblom and Co. of San Rafael to audit the district books at $2,500 for 1968-69 and student accounts at $650. The price for the district audit increased $700.

EASEMENT — Approved an agreement to move a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. power line easement to a remote corner of the Novato campus site.

CRUSADE — Learned that $2,057 had been donated in the 1968 United Bay Area Crusade drive by faculty and staff, up $116 over 1967 and amounting to 97.9 per cent of the quota.

HAIR — Heard Trustee Charles W. Gray express concern about the college's right to set appearance standards as a result of temporary dismissal from the track team of star pole vaulter Jeff Hicks because of long hair. Diamond said Hicks was put back on the team, although his hair remained long.

ADJOURN — Endoresed Felt's proposal to adjourn meetings not later than 10:30 p.m.

COMMITTEE — Announced the appointment of Wellman and Gray to the college committee which will review procedure for selecting a permanent president.

CLOSE — Adjourned in memory of Margaret E. Olney, daughter of a founder of the College of Marin, who died Tuesday.

Indians Get California's Water Aid

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California lawmakers are insisting today on safeguarding the water claims of Paiute Indians from Nevada — despite what the Nevada legislature might think.

The California Assembly Natural Resources Committee refused yesterday to accept Nevada - approved language in a water compact dividing Sierra waters between the two states.

The Indians and Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel contend the compact, which took 13 years to draft, threatens water rights of the Paiute tribe at Pyramid Lake and the lake could run dry.

Pyramid Lake is 30 miles north of Reno, at the terminus of the Truckee River. Since 1903, much of the river has been diverted into an irrigation district and the level of Pyramid Lake has declined steadily.

The California legislative Committee inserted a new section into the compact which declares that nothing in the document shall in any way limit the Indians' right to water.

Sentinel System Will Be Discussed

The Sentinel antiballistic Missile defense system will be discussed by Dr. Arthur Rosenfeld, physics professor at the University of California at Berkeley, at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the gallery of the Mill Valley Library.

The meeting is sponsored by the Mill Valley Democratic Club.

Broken Home Program Is Under Study

A new program to help Marin County children whose homes are being broken by divorce is being considered by the Marin County Community Mental Health Center, the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board was told last night.

Dr. Leon Wanerman, director of children's services at the center, told the advisory board that the center already has underway a program to give attention to children who have recently lost a parent by death. He did not indicate when the new program for children of broken homes would begin.

In a review of the center's children's program, Wanerman told the advisory panel that Marin's services are among the most extensive in the country. Not only does his staff perform more than 1,000 client interviews for diagnosis and treatment each month, he said, the center also operates many programs to prevent mental disturbances.

Wanerman said one therapist can give direction to a group of 10 teachers, who in turn can help a total of 300 students and more indirectly, 1,000 family members.

Cash Is Stolen

Louis W. Fenske reported to San Anselmo police yesterday that, between 11 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday, someone entered his home at 186 The Alameda and stole $330 in cash, a gold wrist watch valued at $100 and a pair of $25 gold and pearl ear rings. The burglars were believed to have entered through an unlocked rear door, Fenske told police.

Northridge Worries Fail To Dampen Town's Dinner

Approximately 25 Corte Madera town officials gathered at Bob's of Marin last night for their annual dinner meeting and although there was an official agenda the affair turned out to be mostly social.

Even the specter of Mill Valley's Northridge plan — touched on briefly by councilman Harold B. Wagstaff — failed to diminish the appetites to any appreciable amount.

While most of the councilmen, commissioners and board members were enjoying their meal, Wagstaff quickly outlined the proposal and called the plan "an intrusion into a virginal area."

Mill Valley's Northridge plan allows for the construction of roads in the Northridge area to serve planned residential development there. Corte Madera officials fear that the plan will increase traffic on Corte Madera Avenue to more than 350 cars per hour if adopted.

Wagstaff noted, however, that it appeared that even Mill Valley's planning commission had some doubts about the plan and that it was not receiving wholehearted support in Mill Valley as of yet.

At the annual dinner meeting last night were members of Corte Madera's planning commission, town council, sanitation district, park and recreation commission, board of adjustment, board of design and town department heads.

The dinner was scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. but an elongated social hour and the televised UCLA-Drake University basketball game took precedence and the dinner-meeting didn't begin until about 8:30 p.m.

The city officials also heard brief reports on the Westshore development, proposed improvements of San Clemente and Tamalpais drives, Bay Area regional government and city-county tax equity.

College Ballot Draws 27 Student Hopefuls

Twenty-seven students filed candidacy petitions yesterday to run for all student body offices except treasurer in next Wednesday and Thursday's election at the College of Marin.

The Interim Committee was to screen the petitions at noon today for eligibility. Among the candidates are three for student body president — Charles Maltzahn, Conrad Harris II and Mike Conroy

Train Sabotage Spurs Tips Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Southern Pacific Co., charging "calculated and deliberate" sabotage, is offering a $10,000 reward in the wreck of a freight train.

"It was only a matter of luck that the train crew escaped injury or death and we intend to find whoever was responsible," said vice president William D. Lamprecht of the derailment Wednesday in a marshy area five miles west of Fairfield-Suisuin.

$25,000 QUESTION

Who Will Patch Payroll System?

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

Question: Does Marin County have to spend $25,000 to modernize its data processing system for school payrolls, which all officials concerned agree is on the "brink of disaster?"

Definitely yes, according to County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis and his top business lieutenant, Byron Mauzy.

Probably not, according to Joseph B. Leach, director of the county's data processing department which is responsible for the school payroll. But he adds "if Hollis gets the money, that's fine with me," because it would be turned over to Leach's department.

"We don't know yet," according to County Administrator Alan Bruce, who said no conclusions have been made on what recommendation his office will make on the request. Reliable sources close to the administrator's office, however, said flatly that the money would be cut out of Hollis's budget.

The decision ultimately will be made by the board of supervisors.

Leach will recommend in his own budget that his staff modernize the payroll system, but he will not ask for extra money specifically for the school payroll.

In effect, Hollis's proposal would give Leach money for outside help to do what Leach contends is already being done "within this department . . . and within our present budget."

Said Leach: "You don't hatch the eggs any sooner by putting on more hens."

It is needed, Hollis maintains, to avert a catastrophe. Mauzy told the county board of education last month that the system is hopelessly outmoded and overburdened, a point on which Leach heartily agrees.

"We're not going to get the checks out some day and then we're all going to be in hot water," Mauzy said. The payroll handles about 11,000 checks a month.

Adding a generous filip to the discussion is an offer by Radio Corporation of America to do what Leach says he is doing and Mauzy says he wants done, but for nothing.

Essentially, the problem is that the present system of preparing data for the county's computer is based on a tabular system used for so-called "first generation" computers while the county's current "third generation" computer is based on a tape system.

Mauzy and Leach agree that the "software" — or information preparation — phase of the data processing operation has to catch up with the "hardware" — the actual computer function — phase.

Leach says he is already modernizing the payroll system "in shop," utilizing the "extra hire" of Francis Wells, an electrical engineering graduate from the Universtty of California at Berkeley who took computer programming training at the College of Marin. Wells is paid at a rate of $829 a month.

Mauzy questions whether Wells has enough training to improve the system to the extent desired. Leach told the Independent-Journal he did not know whether Wells was qualified enough because, so far, the schools office has not given him a detailed list of what it wants. "We've asked the schools to come up with a list of specifics on what they want changed . . . we've jogged them but still haven't got it," he said.

Mauzy told the I-J the schools office has come up with "about four or five handwritten pages" of suggestions and is preparing specific examples of needed improvements.

The modernization of the payroll system was supposed to have been done under a $15,400 contract awarded by the supervisors to Information Systems Design, Inc. of Oakland last year. The company was paid $9,862 on the contract but then defaulted and, under threat of court suit, returned the money.

County Auditor Michael Mitchell said $4,250 of the returned money was given to Leach's department to begin work on modernizing the payroll system. That amount, however, was not enough, Leach said, "so I'm stuck to do what I can with what I've got." He did not say how much money would be needed but said the $25,000 requested by Hollis was "plenty enough."

Mauzy says that Leach's method is "just patching a system that needs to be completely overhauled." Because of more and more deductions being added to paychecks by law — such as tax shelter annuties, health insurance and the like — the present system has been "patched so much, there are things in there that nobody knows anything about," Mauzy says.

Even though the schools office is asking for money for the job and Leach says he is already working on it, it may turn out that neither way finishes it. RCA, which will supply the county with a new computer this September if approved by the board of supervisors (possibly next week), has offered to do it free.

In a letter to Leach dated March 7, H. A. Berman, an RCA sales representative, proposed that RCA revise the school payrol system.

Mauzy, speaking for Hollis, said of RCA's offer, "We don't care who does it," but he added, "We don't want to see RCA takes the job and then take three years to do it. It has to be done now."

Robb Escapes Mortar Injury

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb, son-in-law of former President Johnson, escaped injury last night when a Viet Cong mortar round exploded in the building where he was working.

The 82m.m. mortar ripped through the building's tin roof, killing two Marines and wounding two others. Robb's office walls were splattered with shrapnel, but he was in another room a few feet away at the time.

Robb spent his first five months in Vietnam as a Marine rifle company commander and now works as a logistics officer at 1st Marine division headquarters. He is scheduled to return to the United States in May.

$3.2 Million Sought For Petaluma Work

The Petaluma City Council by 5-2 vote yesterday approved a compromise plan to place four capital improvements bond issues totalling $3.2 million before the voters in the June 10 election.

Offered as the second proposal of the day by Councilman Albert L. Battaglia, the plan for four separate issues still could not draw unanimous support from the council, which has long debated the approach to the voters while agreeing on the need.

The four issues provide relocation of Petaluma Boulevard, $1.5 million; widening of Caulfield Lane to Petaluma Boulevard and a pedestrian overcrossing at the Washington Street Highway 101 overpass, $1,214,000; police and fire improvements, $230,000; park improvements and land acquisition, $100,000. Bond contingencies and engineering costs at $160,000 bring the total to $3,204,000.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert will put the plan into ordinance form to be approved at a council meeting in the near future.

Voting against the plan were Councilmen John W. Cavanagh Jr. and Robert S. Lipman. Lipman argued that the Petaluma Boulevard project should not be separated from the Caulfield Lane project. "If we separate it, it will stick out like a sore thumb and won't pass," Lipman warned.

Others argued that the controversial Core Area Plan should be separated from other street projects so that residents wouldn't feel they would have to accept it in order to get other more desirable projects accomplished.

In the compromise, plans for the $300,000 reconstruction of McDowell Boulevard South fell by the wayside. In the attempt to keep the issues within the $3.2 million city bonding capacity, the council decided that the McDowell project must be financed through gas taxes.

Also deleted in the final decision was $50,000 for acquisition of land for the future expansion of the civic center complex. Cavanagh argued unsuccessfully that it be included on the police and fire issue.

Polling the council informally on two other bond issue plans, the panel was divided four to three. A 5-2 margin was required to place the issues on the ballot.

The world's largest sedan?

That little thing? The largest?

Well, certainly not in length. And, most assuredly, not in width.

But when you start counting the things you can get inside its trunks, that's quite another story.

Suddenly our little Squareback becomes the world's largest sedan.

Here are the cold hard facts:

The trunk on the largest conventional sedan measures 22 cubic feet. (And some of this room is taken up by a spare tire.) The Squareback will carry four passengers and 31.2 cubic feet of things. And with the rear seat down you get a giant 48.9 cubic feet of carrying space.

How did we make it so big?

It's really not too complicated. Where most cars have an engine, we have a trunk. (Our engine is tucked behind the rear wheels where all good VW engines are tucked.)

And where most cars have a flashy rear deck, we have more car. (This is what makes a Squareback a squareback.)

But even with all this space, the Squareback is only 7½ inches longer than the bug.

Oakland Mayor Slaps Bay Plan Port Policy

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's master plan for the bay was attacked last night by Oakland Mayor John H. Reading for "hamstringing" his city's port development.

The plan should exempt ports from the jurisdiction of whatever permanent agency may be set up to regulate bay fill, Reading told the executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Citing Oakland's "unique" chance to cash in on the growing maritime industry to solve its unemployment problem, Reading said the plan should "give us a chance to do it, and not tie our hands."

Specifically, he objected to the plan's failure to set aside some 200 acres on the north side of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge for a new port facility to handle containerized shipping. One in five jobs in Oakland "is related in some way to our seaport," he said.

Rebutting Reading was the executive director of the BCDC, Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley, who said it would be "potentially disastrous" to start exempting one sort of development from the plan. Others then would want freeway fills, or dumps or airports exempted, he said, thus starting a chain of exemptions that would undermine the plan for the bay.

The executive committee referred Reading's objections to Victor Jones, a University of California professor preparing a position paper for ABAG to take on various proposals for regional government. A special ABAG general assembly is to be held later this spring on Jones' recommendations.

After the meeting, Bodovitz told newsmen that Oakland's fill plans north of the bridge have run as high as 500 acres.

The question of the north port was left open in the master plan, Bodovitz noted, but added that "Richmond has the same social problems — and a port site that would require less fill."

A 200-acre Oakland port fill "might be a down payment," he said. "These things have a way of growing," Bodovitz said.

Unless Oakland's fill plans were regulated, he added, the city might fill just to help attract new maritime industry. "Once it's filled, you always can find something to do with it," even if new maritime industry did not come," he said.

(Two of Oakland's state legislators, Sen. Nicholas C. Petris and Assemblyman Don Mulford, have introduced bills to continue the life of BCDC, which is to go out of business late this year. Both bills propose that the Legislature adopt the BCDC plan.)

The Rohnert Park Model City Commission last night received a preliminary report on the fast growing housing needs of Sonoma State College students.

Warren R. Tappin, associate dean in charge of housing, said the preliminary results of a housing survey show that privacy is the first prerequisite for the students. He said the ultimate in student living seems to be a place in the country for $30 a month.

Looking at the problem more realistically, Tapping warned the city developers to plan ahead for future construction. He said the present enrollment of 3,000 will at least double by 1974.

No mention was made of plans by the state to construct a dormitory on campus. The city council and chamber of commerce have urged the state to reconsider the plan, before causing unfair competition for off-campus apartment owners.

Students attending also urged privacy in housing designs, but builders questioned whether they could develop such buildings economically.

Students also complained about the high cost of living in Rohnert Park and charged that food prices in local markets are too high. None last night complained about merchants refusing to cash checks, City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan reported.

In the past, merchants have irked students by refusing to honor checks, and citing a series of bad checks.

Novato Girl Is Area Sweetheart

Nanette Hedrick of Novato will be honored as Sweetheart of the Redwood Empire Division of DeMolay during DeMolay Week festivities at the Vallejo Masonic Temple in Vallejo tomorrow.

Initiatory degrees will be presented to members of all 21 Redwood Empire Division chapters at 4 p.m. A banquet will follow at 6 p.m. with the Sweetheart Ball at 8 p.m.

PRISON FILM MAKERS IN COURT

An inmate camera crew from San Quentin Prison filming the role of a correctional officer went to the county courthouse in San Rafael this week to film a simulated sequence of the sentencing process. Inmate actor (center) is flanked by two correctional officers as another inmate (foreground) zeroes his camera in on Sheriff's Inspector Guido Battaglia, who played the judge. Hub Request Endorsed

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The City of San Anselmo's application for a $13,750 federal open space land grant to expand Sorich Park was endorsed last night by the executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The grant would help the city buy 5.63 acres adjoining the park at a total cost of $27,500. It would be added to the 62-acre undeveloped park.

The ABAG approval was conditioned on approval of the park plan by the county because the parcel, at the end of San Francisco Boulevard, is outside the city.

The federal government requires ABAG endorsement before it will consider making such a grant to a local government.

Officer Age Limit Raise Is Favored

An applicant for a peace officer's job should not be turned down just because he has turned 35, the Marin County Personnel Commission decided in a 4-to-0 vote yesterday.

Chairman Bella Aaron said the lifting of the age limit would be particularly useful in hiring sheriff's matrons because a 40-year-old woman could be just as effective as a woman of 22.

The motion, by Robert B. McCreadie, asked the board of supervisors to eliminate the age limit of 35 for peace officers and asked the Marin County Retirement Board to change its rules to allow new peace officers over 35 to join the county retirement system.

Muriel Appenzeller seconded the motion. Chairman Aaron and new commissioner, I. Wayland Bonbright of Ross, made it 4 to 0. A Bruce McKenzie arrived too late to vote on the motion.

The personnel commissioners asked for an early workshop session with the supervisors, at the suggestion of McKenzie.

McKenzie said that new personnel rules and regulations that are being drafted by the commission can be tossed out the window if different rules are agreed upon in the current management-employee bargaining sessions. "Why rewrite the rules if they can be superceded by collective bargaining agreements?" asked McKenzie.

The Marin County Personnel Commission also:

NEW RULES — Completed a preliminary review of new rules and regulations that would update old rules adopted in 1951 and asked personnel director Maren Rinne and the county counsel to make a new draft, incorporating various changes and deletions made in the 27-page document.

PROBATION PERIOD — Extended the probationary period for county probation officers from the present six months to one year. Mrs. Rinne said most professional positions including nurses and sheriff's deputies have a probationary period of one year.

HEARING POSTPONED — Postponed the setting of a hearing date for gardener-groundsman Sterling F. Bradley, who was discharged last November because of a back ailment. Commissioners agreed to wait unti the county retirement board decides whether Bradley should get work-incurred disability retirement.

Rohnert Park Club Slates Open House

The Rohnert Park Homeowners Association will celebrate its sixth anniversary with an open house at the new community and recreation center on April 17 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. William Ayers, secretary, said the association directors felt the community should be invited to tour the building since dedication ceremonies will be delayed until late spring when landscaping is more complete.

Facelifting Sought For Novato Block

Robert D. Carrow, chairman of the chamber's civic improvement committee, reported that the 1200 block between Dean's Rexall Drug and the Central Valley Bank has been chosen as a pilot project to test applicability to the entire business district, according to secretary Billie Garl.

The proposal is to install a new uniform facade on the entire block front and place utilities in that block underground.

Louis Ghiringhelli has offered to donate the strip of land in the middle of the block for a planted rest area, according to Mrs. Garl.

The absentee property owners must still be approached by the chamber for 100 per cent cooperation on the revitalization plan before it can go ahead, she said.

The chamber board named Terry A. Bonner to head a committee to determine if the chamber could provide entertainment for the Western Weekend fair, Mrs. Garl said. The chamber board voted to spend up to $400 for the project, she said.

The board also voted to endorse the 77-cent override tax for four years for the Marin Junior College District at the April 15 election, she said.

The board will poll its members as to whether to endorse the absorption of the Novato Sanitary District by the North Marin County Water District, also before the voters on the April 15 election.

It accepted the resignations of Otto Haiungs and David Young and named attorney John A. Trumbull and Bonner to fill their terms.

HST's Plush Private Car For $77,000

VERNON (AP) — The plush railroad car that carried Harry S. Truman coast-to-coast in his 1948 "give 'em hell" presidential campaign will be returned to his home state of Missouri.

On a dusty railroad siding in this industrial Los Angeles suburb, a Kansas City building contractor bid $77,000 yesterday to become the third owner of the midnight blue and gold private car.

"I buy this car on behalf of Alex Barket, who wants to bring it back to Kansas City in honor of the great State of Missouri," said Robert F. Koste, representative of Metropolitan Construction Co. of Kansas City, as the auctioneer gaveled the lively bidding to a close.

In Kansas City, Mrs. Barket said her husband "bought it out of his great admiration for Mr. Truman."

As he signed a check for $80,850, including tax, Koste said Barket may place the 28-year-old car in an industrial park, Bryams Ford Park.

Anguillans Protest British Occupation

ANGUILLA (AP) — The British government is preparing to pour public works aid on the tiny Caribbean island of Anguilla, but the islanders show no signs of liking the carrot any better than the stick they're now getting.

About 1,000 Anguillans—one sixth of the island population—paraded past the schoolhouse headquarters of the British command yesterday, led by Acting President Ronald Webster on a motorbike and waving the flag of Anguillan independence, orange dolphins over an aqua sea.

The British troops seemed fascinated by the gaily dressed protesters, who sang their freedom song to the Battle Hymn of the Republic and carried such placards as "Brutish British Go Home" and "Take Your Troops to Rhodesia."

But the British commissioner for the island, Anthony Lee, told Webster that the government in London recognized neither him nor his declaration of independence.

"The British government view," Lee told newspmen after a confrontation with Webster, "is that this is an illegal situation going nowhere fast."

Webster in turn said the Anguillans would not recognize Lee's authority. The Anguillan leader said he proposed an immediate referendum permitting the people to decide whether they want (1) independence, (2) association with Britain as a state of their own, or (3) a return to the St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla federation, from which the island seceded two years ago.

Plea Set Today In Stab Case

Leonard Fay Thurman, 26, of Texas, who is visiting his parents at Hamilton Air Force Base, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for assault with a deadly weapon. He was ordered to return today to enter a plea.

Thurmond's arrest stemmed from the stabbing in the back of a 21-year-old Air Force sergeant in a car near Black Point yesterday. Four companions said that Thurmond stabbed John M. Griffis with a pocket knife when Griffis told him there was no more beer.

Griffis was not seriously injured.

TIRE LEGISLATION ASKED

Assemblyman John Foran, D-San Francisco, chairman of the Assembly Tranportation Committee, displays an automobile tire which has prompted proposed legislation to outlaw hazardous white wall tires. Foran said certain segments of the tire industry are converting black wall tires into white walls by cutting out the strip in the sidewall and replacing it with a white rubber strip which sometimes causes cutting of the tire's cords. Report Favors County Treatment In Crimes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An Assembly staff report suggests that the state could save money by encouraging counties to rehabilitate criminals at home rather than sending them to state prisons.

The report, presented last night at a meeting of the Select Committee on the Administration of Justice, may be the basis for legislative proposals, said Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R - Riverside, the chairman.

The study found that sending a man to a state prison is about eight times as expensive as putting him on probation in his home county. And it found that about half the men entering prison each year are no more serious offenders than many placed on probation at home.

"There is as yet no evidence that increasing the use of probation would subject the public to any significantly increased danger," the report says.

The Assembly researchers also said they could find no evidence that an expensive penalty — sending a man to prison — is any more of a deterrent to crime than an inexpensive penalty — like putting him on probation.

By encouroging counties to rehabilitate offenders at home, the report says, the state could eliminate the need to spend money building prisons.

San Anselmo Bus Station May Remain

The San Anselmo Greyhound bus depot may not have to close since three qualified applicants have been found to take over as agent when Mrs. Ada McVerry retires in April.

This was reported yesterday at a meeting of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Lois Mason said today. She refused to release applicants' names at this time, saying that the agent is expected to be named soon.

Greyhound announced to the city council March 11 that it may close the depot at 718A San Anselmo Avenue since efforts to find a new agent were unsuccessful. The chamber has been working with prospective applicants to find a replacement, Mrs. Mason said.

Directors set 12:15 p.m., April 10, to discuss the proposed business license tax revision, in a meeting to be at the San Anselmo Theological Seminary.

Report of a survey showed that there is little interest right now in keeping businesses open at night, Mrs. Mason said.

Angel Island Yearly Study Wins Backing

Plans for Angel Island should be reviewed annually to evaluate the impact of tourists on the ecology and landscape, the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission declared last night.

In a resolution approved by a 5-0 vote, commissioners said the state's revised preliminary plan — which limits commercial development to the east garrison and designates the remainder of the island for more passive recreation activity — deserves support.

Commissioners also praised the state for its "constructive creative" approach to the question of transportation to and from the state park, according to Russell L. Melquist, assistant to the city manager.

Concessions on the island must be of a nature which will not destroy the island's natural or historic values, be located on the east side of the island and be designed and constructed to blend with surrounding areas, the resolution declared.

Commissioners Polly O. Smith and George McKegney were absent.

Nuclear Test Shots In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission fired an underground nuclear explosion today after evacuating a family and closing roads 75 miles from the test in case of an avalanche.

The AEC said there was no movement of snow at 11,918-foot Mount Charleston. The family was later returned to their home.

The sixth explosion of the year at the Nevada Test site had the force of from 20,000 to 100,000 tons of TNT.

A test equal to less than 20,000 tons was fired yesterday.

Six Persons Injured On Rain-Slick Roads

Six persons were injured on rain-slick Marin County highways yesterday and today, California Highway patrolmen said.

George Bowman Bridgett, 39, of 82 Forest Lane, San Rafael was reported in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion, head and neck injuries.

Officers said Bridgett's 1966 Volkswagen was northbound on Highway 101 near Sausalito's Monte Mar overcrossing at 3 a.m., yesterday, when it apparently slid, hitting the center divider, rolled over and threw Bridgett out.

Bridgett was cited for unlawful condition of his car's rear tires and an expired driver's license, patrolmen reported.

Traffic was slowed down for 25 minutes last night on the north end of Richardson Bay Bridge after a Sausalito woman's car stalled on the bridge at about 9 p.m. and was struck from the rear by another.

Officers said Miss Rostad's car stalled in a northbound lane and was struck in the rear by Geppert's vehicle. Miss Rostad's car then hit a vehicle driven by John Francis Doyle, 20, of 412 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael.

Joy Annette Green, 22, of Santa Rosa, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with chest injuries, broken ribs and scalp cuts suffered in an accident on Highway 101 at Alto Hill.

She told officers that she was southbound on Alto Hill when the wheel "whipped" out of her hand and her car shot to the left, hitting the center divider. Her passengers, Glen M. Maxwell, 22, of 22 Two Ranch Station, Petaluma and Susan E. Quale, 21, of 10 Corte Cordova, Greenbrae, were uninjured.

Mrs. Audrey Mae Barnett, 50, of 807 Estancia Way, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for scalp cuts and bruises and cuts after the car she was driving hit a utility pole at San Pablo and San Pedro Roads, San Rafael, officers said.

Mrs. Barnett was cited by patrolmen for driving a car with two smooth rear tires.

Cathy Wachsmuth, 18, of 18 Janet Way, Tiburon, received multiple scratches after her car reportedly went out of control at 2:15 p.m. yesterday, on Highway, just south of the Corte Madera overpass, officers said. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Tomales High School Pay Scale Approved

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night adopted the Tomales High School District pay scale for the unified district when it takes over on July 1, according to Supt. Charles E. McCully.

This was the highest pay scale in the newly unified district and will be applied to the elementary districts over a two-year period, McCully said. Elementary teachers will receive half the difference between their present salary and the higher scale in fiscal 1969-70 and the second half in fiscal 1970-71, he said.

The Tomales High School pay scale adopted last night starts at $6,600 and goes to $12,690 in five steps and 12 ranges. The total cost of the salaries to teachers next year, including half the difference in increases will be $409,037 compared to $403,517 the current year, he said.

The Shoreline Unified School Board Also:

BENEFITS — Approved giving a group dental plan, prepaid prescription plan and vision service plan, plus a choice of Blue Cross or Kaiser Hospital plans to employees at a cost of $26.70 per employee per month.

CONSULTANT — Approved an application for National Defense Education Act funds for a social studies consultant for 10 days.

JUNIOR HIGH — Discussed possibility of forming a junior high school of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades in those of the present Tomales High buildings which have not been condemned as unsafe for earthquakes. The board did not take any action on using these buildings which are the gymnasium, music room and portable classrooms.

DISCUSSION — The board discussed, but took no formal action on the addition of one teacher each at Tomales and Bodega Bay Elementary schools; increasing from halftime to fulltime the psychologist in the district, and the need for an additional school bus.

The committee normally meets on the thrid Thursday of each month, but next month's meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 16, at Bernard Hoffman. Speaker will be George Johnson, director of the East Bay project.

$1,125 In Home Items Are Stolen

Four cases of burglaries and petty pilferage were reported today by the sheriff's department.

A burglar entered a laundry room window at the apartment of Judy M. Lewis of 1141 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, and took $1,125 in assorted goods. Missing were a stereo set, speakers and amplifier with a tape deck, a portable television set and skiing equipment.

Elwood's Restaurant on Highway 1, Stinson Beach, lost a case of beer Wednesday. Bartender Harry Shurtleff told deputies a hippie type asked to use the back bathroom, then tossed the case out the door to friends who were parked behind the restaurant. He described the thief as wearing only a pair of boxer shorts.

A burglar took $12 to $15 from the home of Patrick E. Carroll of 301 Melrose Avenue, Homestead.

While Pacific Gas and Eelctric repairmen were switching on the power on a line they fixed at 4189 Chileno Valley Road, someone walked off with 200 feet of copper wire valued at $35.

Plea Of Guilty To One Charge

I- JSpecial Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 27-year-old military policeman pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of malicious mischief growing out of the theft of mail from a Mill Valley post office box identified in a "teaser" advertisement in the Berkeley Barb.

The M.P., Gene Poor, who is stationed at the Presidio, asked U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert to dismiss a charge of mail theft. Poor is to appear in court for a decision April 17.

Readers of the Barb were urged to write to the post office box "for a swinging time." Poor was accused of stealing two letters from the box on Jan. 18 and returning later to smash the glass to try to steal more letters.

Four Lose Appeal On Court Gag

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four antidraft demonstrators, convicted of criminal contempt for ignoring a pretrial order not to discuss their case with newsmen, have lost an appeal.

The State Court of Appeal affirmed the lower court order which had barred Steven Hamilton, Michael J. Smith, Stewart Albert and Jerry Rubin from talking about their arrest and the demonstration at the University of California Berkeley campus.

(Hamilton and Smith, the latter a former Corte Madera resident, are among the so-called Oakland Seven, whose trial on antidraft charges entered the final argument stages yesterday.

(They and five other are accused of conspiring for others to commit misdemeanor trespassing and obstructing police during 1967 antidraft demonstrations outside the Oakland Induction Center.

(Their jury is expected to begin deliberations Tusday afternoon.)

The four were convicted of committing a public nuisance and unlawful occupation of real property or structure in the trial.

The original case was the outgrowth of a November 1966 mass rally protesting the presence of armed services recruiters on the U.C. campus.

At a pre-trial hearing, the judge ordered all parties, including law officers, attorneys and U.C. officials, not to discuss the case with news media. On Jan. 13, 1967, three days before the start of the trial, the defendants held a news conference in front of the Berkeley Municipal Court building.

Borst Is Guilty In Kidnaping

After deliberating three hours yesterday, a jury in Marin Superior Court found Jerry Stalnley Borst, 22, of Novato guilty of kidnaping and raping a Novato housewife as well as kidnaping her two young children last July 9.

A charge of kidnaping with intent to commit robbery was reduced to simple kidnaping by the jury.

Borst was accused of forcing the 28-year-old woman at knifepoint to drive to a country road, raping her and then tieing her and leaving her there. He also threatened her two little children who were in the car with her.

The abduction took place from the parking lot of a Novato shopping center.

Judge Thomas J. Keating took under submission a motion from Borst's attorney, Albert Rizzo, to have Borst examined to determine if he is a menatlly disturbed sex offender. He will announce his decision Monday, he said.

Kidnaping carries a prison sentence of one to 25 years and rape not less than three years.

Support Is Growing For Legal Marijuana

the long-term effects from regular use of pot.

And still another view is that prohibition of marijuana may be pushing many youngsters to use it, just as Prohibition of alcohol pushed many people toward drinking.

Arguments over reducing legal penalites for possession of marijuana involve such points as whether severe laws really discourage use of pot — some authorities say yes, others no — and whether such laws lead to contempt not only of drug laws but law in general.

Many parents are worried, or convinced that marijuana is a stepping stone to injecting or "mainlining" heroin.

"The distance from the dare to try 'pot' to 'mainlining' is very short," says J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

But other authorities disagree strongly. College students scoff at the statement. Few of them apparently use herioin. They do not themselves see or know of a progression from mild marijuana to opiates.

On the other hand, heroin and other opiates are in fact common in ghetto areas, and there is evidence that some heroin addicts had first been exposed to marijuana.

The charge that marijuana leads to use of addicting drugs needs to be critically examined, says the Task Force on Narcotics and Drug Abuse of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration in a 1967 report.

"There is evidence that a majority of heroin users who come to the attention of public authorities have, in fact, had some prior experience with marijuana," the task force says.

"But this does not mean that one leads to the other in the sense that marijuana has an intrinsic quality that creates a heroin liability. There are too many marijuana users who do not graduate to heroin, and too many heroin addicts with no known prior use of marijuana, to support such a theory. Moreover, there is no scientific basis for such a theory.

"The most reasonable hypothesis is that some people who are predisposed to marijuana are also predisposed to heroin use. It may also be the case that through the use of marijuana, a person forms the personal associations that later expose him to heroin."

On the question of any association between marijuana and crime, "the differences of opinion are absolute and the claims beyond reconciliation," the task force says. It holds that neither side in this debate can prove their case.

One likely guess, it adds, is that "given the accepted tendency of marijuana to release inhibitions, the effect of the drug will depend on the individual and the circumstances. It might, but certainly will not necessarily or inevitably, lead to aggressive behavior or crimes. The response will depend more on the individual than the drug," since there is not evidence that marijuana changes a person's basic personality structure.

Much stiffer penalties governing even simple possession of various mind-influencing drugs were imposed by Congress last fall. It became a misdemeanor — subject to fines and jail terms — to possess LSD, or to possess barbiturates and amphetamines unless you could prove that they had been prescribed for you. State laws also have been becoming tougher.

The next five to 10 years may well see a hundred fold increase in the number of drugs capable of affecting the mind, top authorities predict. Some will become new boons to treat mental and emotional ailments. And some likely will be used illegally, or abused.

Meanwhile, scientific research is being stepped up to answer vital questions about the mind drugs, and to fill in serious gaps in knowledge about them:

Exactly how many high school or college students—or adults — are using or abusing drugs, and what kinds? Why do people use or not use various drugs? What really are the psychological, social, physical or genetic effects from occasional or long-term use of various drugs?

The National Institute of Mental Health is granting funds in increasing amounts to qualified researchers, seeking answers to just such kinds of questions.

One research target is to learn what are the long-term effects of marijuana when used regularly, as against occasional smoking of the kind of "sticks" of varying potency that are available to most users in this country.

Better answers to some questions can be obtained now because the truly active ingredient in the marijuana plant, tetrahydrocannabinol or THC, has been synthesized and purified. The real, effective dose that an animal or person gets can be controlled in such experiments.

Research is deepening into other types of mind-influencing drugs.

For example, in one recent experiment with LSD, Dr. Milton H. Joffe fo the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs found that monkeys who take LSD for five or six days suffer an impairment in their learning ability.

The monkeys became less efficient in making fine discriminations about colors, shapes, patterns, and brightness. Such effects lasted for five or six months.

Medical researchers also are testing drugs that promise to help heroin addicts break their habit. Two such drugs are methadone, and cyclazocine.

Questions and issues about most of the mind-influencing drugs burn in fires of emotions and opinions.

Scientific research promises to bring forth more badly-needed facts to help the public deal more effectively in the future with a plethora of drugs.

Jury Indicts McCoy, 11 Others

Charged with marijuana possession were McCoy, James T. Bartee, Robert McKendrick, 35; Sandra Barton, 48; Cecile Korte, 34; William David Candelario, 19; Walter Hansen Doyle, 22; Olag Valeri Minakov, 30; Robert John Ellison, 23; Joseph John D'Amore, 38; Kris Anthony Stenz; and William Dennis Kalfas, 25.

McKendrick was also charged with possessing cocaine, peyote and DMT. Doyle, Minakov and D'Amore were charged with the misdemeanor offense of possessing devices for smoking narcotics.

All were arrested in January and their cases had been set for a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court today before the indictment was handed up.

Life Insurance Firm Plans Move To Marin

Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. of Los Angeles will move its headquarters to San Rafael, it was learned today.

Lowell B. Martin, president of the company, said Western Travelers plans to acquire a two-acre site on Northgate Drive where a one-story executive office building will be erected. Executive and administrative personnel will occupy temporary offices at 4380 Redwood Highway, Northgate Industrial Park, during construction, Martin said.

The proposed office building will also serve as headquarters for Mutual Fund Associates, Inc., now located in San Francisco. According to Martin the forthcoming move is the result of a decision to house the combined staffs of the two companies under one roof. Both are affiliated with Putnam Management Co. of Boston, manager of Putnam mutual funds.

He said Carrol Snyker of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce provided information used by the life insurance company in a statewide survey which led to the selection of San Rafael for its new headquarters. Harold Valceschini of Coldwell, Banker and Co., San Rafael is representing Western Travelers in the transaction. Realty broker Robert H. Busse is reported as owner of the property, which is near Northgate Shopping Center.

Martin said that Western Travelers and Mutual Fund Associates together employ an office staff of more than 75 persons, with a combined annual payroll in excess of half a million dollars. He said Marin residents will be hired as replacements for employees who are not moving north with the Los Angeles company.

Originally formed in 1892 in Omaha as Western Travelers Accident Association, the company changed its name in 1959 when a California charter was obtained to conduct the business as a capital stock life insurance company. It recently reported life insurance in force in excess of $100 million. Sales are conducted by an agency managed by Mutual Fund Associates. Approximately half of its 900 registered representatives are licensed to sell life insurance.

Planners' New Magazine Reveals Facts On Marin

Of Marin's 332,920 total acreage, 20.7 per cent (68,922 acrses) is owned by public agencies, according to the first issue of an information bulletin series published this week by the Marin County Planning Department.

Entitled "Marinfo," the bulletin will be issued about once a month, but with no regular schedule.

Planner Raymond J. Ahearn, who is in charge of the bulletin, said the idea for the publication came from the many inquiries from citizens and from public agencies in the county and statewide.

"We spend a lot of time supplying answers to these queries, and we thought this would be the simplest and most economical way to disseminate the information developed."

About 150 to 200 copies of the first issue were mailed out this week. Subscription to "Marinfo" is $2 per year. Public and civic agencies will get copies routinely without cost.

The top of the front page is gold bordered and has blue printing, but the rest is mimeographed. The entire printing and mimeographing job is done by county equipment and personnel. Ahearn said the cost is minimal, and the subscriptions and the 25 cents charged for single issues will cover expenses.

The first issue is devoted to public ownership of land in Marin. Subsequent issues will cover such topics as income, employment, agricultural preserves, population estimates, bulding activity, and open space.

The 20 per cent public ownership of land in Marin County is average in comparison with other Bay Area counties, said Ahearn. Statewide, 48.87 per cent of California is publicly owned. Public ownership percentage in San Francisco is 48.64 and in Alameda, 23.69, followed by Marin with 20.7. At the bottom is Sonoma County, which is only 4.03 per cent publicly owned.

Among public agencies, the federal government is the biggest landowner in Marin, with 36,547 acres, the bulk of this Point Reyes National Seashore totalling 32,217 acres.

Next comes the water districts, with 18,963 acres.

Cities own 591 acres, and school districts 1,715 acres.

Ex-Governor Orval Faubus Remarries

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Mrs. Elizabeth Westmoreland were married today in a private ceremony in a Baptist church. It came three weeks after his first wife divorced him.

The former governor said he met Mrs. Westmoreland in mid-1967 when she went to his home in Huntsville to discuss "Info '68," a television program for the Democratic party. She was the program's commentator.

Faubus, 59, was divorced March 1 by his wife of 37 years, Alta, and friends had known for some time that he intended to marry the 30-year-old divorcee who has two children, an 11-year-old girl and a 9-year-old boy.

The former governor said the couple already has a house at Harrison. Faubus is the head of Dogpatch USA, a tourist theme park south of Harrison, which is in extreme north Arkansas.

National Officer Will Give Speech

Dr. John L. Gompertz, president of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, will be the guest speaker at the Marin TB-RD Association's annual installation dinner April 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the San Geronimo Golf Club.

Dr. Gompertz will speak on possible effects of merger proposals for smaller local groups within regional TB-RD associations.

All Christmas Seal contributors are eligible to vote for directors candidates. Reservations for the dinner must be made by April 1 at the association's Greenbrae office.

$1,000 In Cash, Jewelry Stolen

The home of attorney David T. Giannini at 32 Sienna Way, San Rafael, was entered Wednesday night by burglars who stole an estimated $1,000 in cash and jewelry, according to police.

Police said the thieves slipped a locked kitchen door to enter the house. Jewelry boxes and cash were missing from a bedroom.

Students Told To Use Talent To Save Earth

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"What have we been doing on our planet?" David R. Brower asked about 150 College of Marin students in Olney Hall yesterday.

Then the Sierra Club executive director — now involved in a stormy campaign to retain his job — explained how man had started 300,000 years ago with "nothing more formidable than a shaped stone."

"We were hunters and gatherers," the white-haired conservationist said. "Then we started agriculture. Then we went into mining and the balance began to topple.

"Now we're a step beyond — we're adding things — chemicals that may make it impossible for life to use it (the earth) anymore . . . we settle for a profit from cotton, corn, tobacco . . . and suddenly the impact is hitting home. It hit me particularly hard when Apollo 8 did its loop.

"What are we doing to the earth? We're trying to make it as sterile as the moon."

Brower noted that the Aswan High Dam in Egypt had goals of electricity and irrigation but said "now life-giving nutrients that were formerly delivered to the land and Mediterannean Sea are piling up in a reservoir above the dam, unusable and, as a result, a Mediterannean sardine fishery is already doomed."

He cited similar dams being proposed in Brazil, Southeast Asia and Alaska.

Americans are 6 per cent of the population and we're using 60 per cent of the world's resources. We should not encourage everybody else (other countries) to use a similar rate," said Brower.

"What do you do about it?" he asked the students.

"You've got to do something, Rachel Carson is easy — one woman who did her homework, minded her English and cared and she upset the chemical industry. There is Ralph Nader who I think fixed Detroit. On the local scene you had a young English and law student, David Pesenen, who fought to keep an atomic reactor off Bodega Head."

Brower urged the students to put their talents to work "to keep something bad from happening." Referring to the great oil slick, he said, "If we (the Sierra Club) had worked harder last year, we might have done something in Santa Barbara."

In a question period, Brower said that Walter J. Hickel, Secretary of Interior, has the most important conservation job in the country and "he doesn't know what conservation is about."

Brower said the Sierra Club lost its tax status because it tried to save the Grand Canyon from being dammed.

A student asked if Bower wanted to keep people out of wilderness areas. He replied he would like to see 10 per cent of the land left to its own natural maintenance — "you might say let God be the caretaker. Let's go over all the 90 per cent and do better. Start right here in Kentfield and I'll take on Berkeley."

Brower is on a leave of absence to campaign for election as director. There are two slates of candidates, the Active Bold Constructive Sierra Club, which Brower represents, and the Concerned Members for Conservation, which seeks to fire him.

Ballots, now out, are to be returned April 12. Five directors are being elected to take office in May. The new board will select its executive director.

Asked what he will do if he loses, Brower, a club member for 35 years and director since 1952, said he will have to get a job elsewhere. But, he said, "if our side loses, all of us will try to continue to work for the club."

Home Mortgage Costs Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home mortgage interest rates increased sharply in February, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported today.

The average contract interest rate for all lending institutions providing new home mortgages rose from 7.16 per cent to 7.26 per cent. On existing homes, the rate climbed from 7.18 per cent to 7.28 per cent.

At mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations, the home mortgage industry's mainstays, the rate climbed from 7.08 per cent to 7.23 per cent and from 7.11 per cent to 7.25 per cent, respectively.

She's New 'Second Lady'

By EDITH M. LEDERER

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's new Second Lady is the kind of woman who goes shopping for a household ladder and ends up buying her husband an engineless Rolls Royce.

Jeanne Reinecke was a Universal starlet who trained with Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis, Piper Laurie and Jeff Chandler, had bit parts in eight movies, but gave it up to marry her first husband.

After his death, she became active in Republican politics and seriously considered running for Congress. Instead, she married former Congressman Ed Reinecke, now the state's new lieutenant governor.

MRS. JEANNE Raybeck Mietus Reinecke, 43, met Reinecke at a 1966 Congressional Club fund-raising party in Southern California. He proposed four dates later and their engagement party turned into a wedding.

"I think some kind of electric thing happened when we met. They were raffling off a Cadillac and I missed winning it by one number but Ed still says to this day he won me," she says.

Jeanne — a striking redhead who resembles Susan Hayward — and Ed had invited 100 friends and relatives, including a minister in a business suit to their engagement party.

"NO ONE KNEW we were getting married — not even Ed's campaign manager . . . .We put on the 'Wedding March' and nobody heard it. . . . Finally, the pastor stood on the step an said 'We have gathered together . . .' and he married us then and there.

"Ed's campaign manager told us later he was standing by a potted palm . . . holding a glass of Scotch when he realize what was happening. He said it was to sacred an occasion and he poured the scotch into the potted palm.

"It was the only wedding I've ever been to where at the end everyone applauded," she says.

The Reineckes' honeymoon inclued a stop in Sacramento for Governor Reagan's inauguration. Then, it was off to Washington with Mrs. Reinecke's three children by her first marriage — Mark, 11, Mimi, 10, and Tommy, 9.

DURING HER two years in Washington, she started a chapter of ARCS, Achievement Rewards for College Scientists, an organization which raises funds to send outstanding science students through college.

She also continues her work with mentally retarded children and played Mrs. Santa Claus at the Christmas party at the California Educational School in the San Fernando Valley, which she helped start with her first husband, the late Dr. Albert Mietus, who was a Los Angeles physcian.

One day, she says, she heard that a neighbor in Fairfax, Va. who was moving was selling some household things. She says she found they had a ladder for sale and went to buy it — but she bought a 1933 Rolls Royce Phantom II instead.

"My husband has always tinkered with making little model cars . . . and I just couldn't resist . . . I bought it, put a big red ribbon around it and . . . when I gave it to him I said, 'that's your birthday, anniversary and Christmas present for the next 10 years.' We still kid about it," she says.

WHENEVER REINECKE had a few extra minutes, Mrs. Reinecke says, he would go out to their big double garage to work on the Rolls.

"The day Governor Reagan called him to tell him about lieutenant governor, he had the whole garage covered with parts," she says.

Reinecke flew to California immediately. The Rolls is still in Fairfax — but is expected sometime soon.

"We may never ride in it," Mrs. Reinecke says, "the only thing I know is that the longer we keep it, the more of an antique it gets."

When it comes to her husband's future in politics, Jeanne Reinecke thinks positively. She says they bought a home in Sacramento rather than renting

NOW FURNISHING the home that she and the lieutenant governor have just bought in Sacramento, Jeanne Reinecke has drawn on her knowledge as a licensed interior decorator. Here she pauses to pet their new German shepherd pup "Herr Schultz." At bottom, she hangs a picture to her liking in the living room.

Marin County Not Immune To Injuring Little Children

By BETTY FROST

Last year an estimated 30,000 children in the United States were so brutally handled that they required medical attention, according to Dr. C. Henry Kempe, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics, University of Colorado and co-editor of the book "The Battered Child," published in June 1968.

Nor is Marin County immune to cruel treatment of children. Dr. Patricia Hallinan, assistant public health officer for the Marin County Health Dept., and director for Crippled Children Services for Marin County, says she has personal knowledge of 13 cases here within the last four years. At least one Marin child has died of abuse.

IT IS NOT STRANGERS who abuse the child, but the parents or guardians who repeatedly injure children. Attacks often begin shortly after birth, and a number of cases were observed where children three to six months of age were injured.

"Children under three thus brutalized cannot speak for themselves," Dr. Hallinan said. "Fifty per cent of these children go back to more battering. We know that one out of three children returned to the parent or guardian is killed."

The parents who are brutal to their children "can come from any walk of life, any financial bracket,'' Dr. Hallinan emphasized." "There are all professions, all ethnic groups and even couples who adopt children will batter or beat the child to death. It takes two parents to batter — one to use physical violence and the other to permit. The battering parent has been, most often, a battered child himself, perpetuating the tragedy from generation to generation. Many of these people need help psychiatrically, and can be turned into good parents," he said.

A COMMON FORM of brutality to children is to fling them into a wall, causing head injuries, sometimes so severe that they leave permanent brain damage, and a typical side-effect, fracture of the long bones. In the past it was very hard to identify the injuries as caused by brutality.

Dr. Kempe's work gives physicians a set of battered child fine symptoms and syndromes to watch for. They include multiple fractures in different stages of healing, all fractures or head trauma in children under three, shaft fractures from direct blows, dislocations, malnutrition, neglected skin infection, bruises, burns, bites, black eyes, scalding, subdural hematomas, suffocation, poisoning, shootings, stabbings, dropping, sexual molestation, or internal injuries, such as ruptured spleen or bowl.

Observation of the battered child reveals that while receiving medical care for his injuries he cries hopelessly and does not look to the parents for help and consolation. He shows no emotion when discharged from the hospital.

THE PARENTS show a lack of concern, are evasive and contradictory as to the occurrence which caused the injury. If pressed they become belligerent and uncooperative. They are critical of the child and angry with him for being hurt. They do not ask about prognosis, treatment or discharge from the hospital.

Recently enacted legislation in California states in part "in any case of a minor brought to a physician, surgeon or resident, and it appears from observation that that minor has suffered physical injury, not accidental, a report by telephone and in writing should be made immediately to the police, sheriff or district attorney."

THE 1968 LAW, Dr. Hallinan observed, has absolved physicians, allied workers and agencies from liability, while lack of reporting is regarded as a misdemeanor.

Once the battered child syn-

MADCAP MARDI GRAS was the theme for yesterday afternoon's High Jinks following the 56th annual founders' day luncheon of the Sausalito Woman's Club. In this scene from a skit staged by new members assisted by a few others, two court jesters, Mrs. Merrell Sisson, left, and Mrs. Edward Bronson, right, encounter an oil bespattered sea gull, Miss Marie France Deschamps as they search for a lost Mardi Gras queen at Muir Woods and Stinson Beach. From left, dressed as talking redwoods are Mmes., Alfred Kirby and Harvey Riley.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Walk In Dark Hallways, Call The Manager For Light

DEAR HELEN:

What would you do with a light bulb snatcher?

There is one loose in my apartment building. Every time I go out somewhere, the snatcher strikes again. When I come home, I have to climb the stairs in the dark. I almost broke my neck a few times, the hall was so black.

Light bulbs aren't that expensive so someone would steal instead of buy them. What's behind this?—IN THE DARK

DEAR ITD:

Don't walk up those stairs in the dark! Ring for the manager each time a light bulb is missing and insist that he replace it before you chance that black hall. Perhaps the "snatcher" is only playing jokes or saving money, but he might be another Boston Strangler.

Sorry to alarm you, but I'd suggest you look for a better-supervised apartment building. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I've been married 17 years and separated three, for reasons of drinking and other women.

We get along better now than we did when we were together, but he won't come home, though he visits often. He keeps saying he loves me, but I have to call before I go to his apartment so that I won't "surprise" him. Sometimes a woman answers the phone; he swears she's the maid. At 6:30 p.m.?

It's like he's dating me. He says there's no one else and expects me to be true but he says we aren't ready to live together yet. We might start fighting again.

How much longer shall I go on this way? — ALMOST HOPELESS

DEAR AH.:

Just long enough to call and leave a message with the "maid." Like, "Dear Husband, Come home tonight, for keeps, or see my lawyer in the morning." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our kids say most parents have too many hang ups. Every time we get after them, they try to psychoanalyze us. "Don't get uptight" is their favorite expression. They don't seem to realize a house is run on schedule and if everybody had this don't-care attitude, we'd look like shantytown around here.

How do we answer them in their language, so it won't sound like nagging, or we won't have to use violence (which I'm about to)? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

Why not agree with them? Put this note on their bulletin board: "You're darn right I have hang-ups, and if you had more, I'd have less. Like — Hang up your clothes; hang up the towels; hang up the phone; hang up the dish cloth, ironing board, dustmop, broom, etc. after you finish using them! If you don't, I'll get very 'uptight' on restrictions — not to speak of 'tight' about allowances!" — YOUR EVER-LOVIN' MOTHER. — H.

Michele LaVoy Is On Cherry Blossom Court

MICHELE LA VOY

Michele Marie LaVoy, Dominican College freshman student, woke up one morning to find that she is a princess.

To be exact, a Cherry Blossom Princess representing the state of Nevada in the National Cherry Blossom Festival from April 8 to 13 in Washington, D.C.

For Michele it will mean a week filled with dances, pageants, receptions, fashion shows, an embassy tea and the annual Parade of Princesses. At the spin of the Wheel of States, one of the 53 princesses representing each state and territory will be chosen Queen of the Festival.

Miss LaVoy will travel to Washington, D.C. on Wednesday to prepare for the special reception that Nevada Senator Allen Bible has planned on March 28 to introduce the princess to Nevada residents in the nation's capital.

The 20-year-old student says that the appointment was a complete surprise to her and that her parents, Col. and Mrs. John H. LaVoy also deny any knowledge of the selection. Colonel LaVoy, USMC, is with the office of the Secretary of the Navy in the Pentagon. The family is currently living in Alexandria, Va., where Michele will spend Easter with her parents and three brothers.

Born in California Michele has lived in Reno and attended elementary and junior high schools there. Her great grandparents first settled in Nevada in 1868.

She said that from the time she first visited Dominican College "years ago," the San Rafael campus has always been her goal. During her first year in college, she has been elected a freshman representative to the college legislative conference and secretary-treasurer for her dormitory, Meadowlands, and plays on the college tennis team. She hopes to become a teacher in art or the primary grades. Her hobbies include tennis, swimming, horseback riding, art and choral singing.

It is an exciting time for the college freshman. She has mailed her measurements to the festival committee that is having a special dress made for each princess. The committee is also making appointments for hair styling and choosing each princess's special escort.

"And I guess Mother and I will have to do a little shopping," remarks Michele.

Mrs. R. J. Bettencourt Is Parlor President

Mrs. Russell J. Bettencourt of Mill Valley, new president of Sea Point Parlor 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West, is a lifelong resident of Marin County and has been a member of the parlor 10 years. She has previously served in the offices of first vice president and secretary.

She is also active in the SPRSI of Sausalito and is secretary of the Cabrillo Club of Sausalito.

Geraldine, or Jerry, as she is better known, is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and has been employed for the past eight years at a toy store in Mill Valley.

She and her husband, who is with the American Distilling Company in Sausalito, have four children: Mrs. Konrad Knudsen and Richard Bettencourt of Sausalito; Susan, 18, and Michael, 14, of Tennessee Valley.

The Bettencourts have eight grandchildren. Mrs. Bettencourt says these grandchildren are what she enjoys most, together with the Christmas family reunions when she prepares dinner for 38 people. Cake decorating is her special hobby.

Mrs. George Kirkland is past president, and other new officers are Miss Susan Bettencourt, first vice president; and Mmes. Joseph McAleese, financial secretary; Edward Surles, recording secretary; Konrad Knudsen, treasurer; and Ray Rodrigues, Fred Gustafson and George Nunes, trustees; John Erkelens, inside sentinel; and Robert Quayle, outside sentinel.

Nuptial Vows Said By Dallas Pitts

Dallas Pitts was wed to J. Richard Love Saturday in an afternoon ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Pitts of Ignacio, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Love of Redding.

Betty Lamparti of San Rafael was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Juanita Botaro of San Francisco and Evelyn Goodell of Greenbrae.

Dr. Thomas Love of Mountain View was his brother's best man, and Bob Harrison, George Knutson and Bob Michael, all of Mountain View, ushered.

A reception at the Pitts home followed the ceremony.

Dallas was graduated from San Rafael High School, College of Marin and Chico State College. She is employed by Walston and Company, Inc. in San Francisco. Mrs. Myrtle L. Gullmann of Alameda is her grandmother.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Dauphin Technical Collegiate Institute and Colorado College in Colorado Springs. He is employed by E. F. Hutton and Company in Palo Alto. Mrs. Edward Fedinuke of Cranberry Portaga, Manitoba, Canada is his sister.

Mountain View will be the couple's first home.

drome has been detected and reported to the authorities, the cases are handled by the Juvenile Court.

"Too often the private physician does not want to be involved, and the Judge accepts at face value the pleas of the parents to have the child returned to them. Someone must protect the child," Dr. Hallinan said.

IN MANY AREAS, including Marin, the child has no legal representation. In an effort to afford the battered child fair treatment, other areas, such as Los Angeles, obtain a lawyer to represent the child.

"In the matter of protection for battered children I admit to being a crusader," Dr. Hallinan stated. "Sometimes injuries are said to have resulted from a fall from a crib that could not possibly have been suffered in a routine tumble. The woman who stands by while some big brute punches her child around has not even the protective instinct of a beast of the field. I recently read of a sow who stood between her litter and an attacking bear and drove him off," he related.

The doctor offered this specific advice, "The battered child can be reported to the Marin County Probation Office or to the Marin County Social Services or to the Sheriff. A battered child may be reported to me and I will then report to the proper authorities. I also could help any of the parents who are doing this to their children, to prevent any desperate injury to their child which may make them hopeless cripples, mentally defective, and blind. These parents may call on me during my office hours at the Marin County Department of Public Health, and I will try to counsel and advise them about what to do," he concluded.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

We live in a time when the ability to communicate with our fellow man is absolutely vital. Yet, strokes, other catastrophic ailments and accidents every year strike down a number of Marinites, leaving them speechless. It is in recognition of the seriousness of their plight that Marin's Easter Seal Society has launched a group therapy program aimed at helping them to regain their speech. The Marin Magazine reports on it tomorrow.

Mary Golden is the holder of a copyright on the Wedgwood Method of Perfect Pattern Drafting, which she teaches at her Wedgwood Academy of Fashion and Dress Design. It is, she says, a simple technique by which the home dressmaker can produce garments that fit her as well as any custom-made fashion house dress or gown. She tells you more about it and her school in a feature article in tomorrow's issue of the I-J weekend supplement.

Marin Civic Ballet Names New Officers

MRS. MAX THELEN JR.

A woman who plans to live in England for three months "just for the experience" will head the Marin Civic Ballet Association this coming year. Mrs. Max Thelen Jr. of San Rafael is the new president of the association and will, along with her husband and their four children, spend the summer in England.

Phyllis Thelen was graduated from Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and Connecticut College for Women in New London, Conn. She also studied at the San Francisco Art Institute and College of Marin. The Thelens have lived in Marin 10 years and are the parents of Nancy, 15, Jane, 14, Max, 11, and Bill, 9.

Phyllis assists public school teachers with art programs and enjoys printmaking with a new art (etching) press in a shared studio. She is a member of the Citizens' Civic Center Committee and enjoys skiing with her family. She has been a member of Marin Civic Ballet Association six years and is active in other organizations including Fair/Marin, the P-TA, Marin Society of Artists, Junior Theater of Marin and the Marin Charitable Foundation.

The ballet group performs a number of times throughout the year. They give one benefit performance for some group, the last being for the Marin Art and Garden Center; they sponsor the Nutcracker Suite to raise funds for sending association members to the annual ballet festival; and give demonstration performances for schools. In December they appeared in Dixie School District schools and this spring will perform in Mill Valley schools. The group also participates in the concert/lecture series at College of Marin and presents a program at the Marin Art and Garden Fair in July.

REVIEW

Singer Proves A Real Talent

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Soprano Jean Murphy was the talented young artist heard last night in the second recital of the Young Artist Series presented in Caleruega Hall of Dominican College in cooperation with the Dominican College Music Associates.

Miss Murphy was accompanied by Sister Mary Dominic, O. P., concert pianist and teacher whose assured skill gave the young singer the kind of support that adds to a soloist's security.

The program consisted only of Schubert's "Die Schone Mullerin," a German song cycle on poems of Wilhelm Muller dealing with the many emotions aroused in a young man by a pretty miller's daughter.

Having accepted the romantic period's flowery language and other conceits, one could settle back and enjoy Schubert's truly beautiful music.

Miss Murphy had a voice of clear, lovely quality and considerable power. It was very flexible both in vocal technique and in her dextrous handling of the German diction, and she was able to communicate mood and meaning effectively.

She was also poised in manner and attractive in appearance. She improved in vocal security as the cycle progressed.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Bible" — Strikingly filmed stories from Genesis. Picture will be interpreted according to involvement, belief and knowledge of viewer.

"Unsinkable Molly Brown" — Warm, high-spirited, entertaining musical. Pleasant story, striking scenery, gay costumes and interiors of the period.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Bullitt" — Crackling cops-and-killer thriller. Filmed in San Francisco with terrifying auto chase. Violence goes all out in blood and gore for shock effect.

"Charly" — Poignant dramatization of a fictional case history of the first human subject of a new type of brain surgery on a mentally retarded young man. Thought provoking, sensitive performances from the cast.

"Great Catherine" — Film's potential as an exceptional historical comedy drama is dissipated when it becomes repetitious and lapses to crude boring slapstick.

"Heart is a Lonely Hunter" — A rather sad story about a deaf-mute who in his loneliness touches the lives of many. Compassionate tale is tenderly told and played with rare perception.

"Impossible years" — College girl is arrested in a student demonstration. Both parents and teen-age daughter deserve a better image than this film projects.

"The Party" — Inane slapstick comedy. Bubbling actor crashes a lavish Hollywood party; disaster strikes from the minute he arrives. Bathroom vulgarity is crudely juvenile.

"Secret War of Harry Frigg" —A satirical spoof of the military. Paul Newman makes his first appearance as a comedian and a name cast supports him with gusto.

"Subject Was Roses" — Prizewinning stage play faithfully transferred to screen. An intensely developed portrayal of three personalities, superb actors create the feeling of a real and universal situation.

"Wrecking Crew" — Spy comedy. Those who enjoy Dean Martin and pretty but dumb girls who act with him, will be entertained.

BORDERLINE

"Duffy" — The sophistication of this tale of modern piracy wears very, very thin.

"Rachel, Rachel" — Study of a repressed spinster trying to break out of her barren, frustrating existence.

ADULTS ONLY

"Belle De Jour" — French film about a beautiful woman who leads two lives, at home with her husband and in a brothel. Sensational sex orgies.

"Candy" —— A 17-year-old girl wanders through a series of sexual adventures with the strangest assortment of characters ever presented on the screen. Massively dull, ugly pornography.

"The Magus" — Confused fantasy-drama involves mystery suspense and explicit sex and nudity. Its obscure message is that "we all must learn to love."

"Secret Ceremony" — A sham mother-daughter relationship in this unrewarding melodrama about the preverse games sick people play. Like a freak show it leaves one with nothing but a disagreeable aftertaste. (Parents Magazine)

New Executive Producer Named

William Ball, general director of the American Conservatory Theater Foundation, has announced the appointment of James B. McKenzie as the organization's executive producer, a new position created by the board of directors.

McKenzie, 42, of New York City, has been involved in the production of over 800 plays and is a former president of the Council of Stock Theaters and of the Producing Managers Guild.

Biafran Benefit

Annie's Little Band will play a benefit concert for Biafran children tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Redwood High School gymnasium.

Art Show Time

The 10th annual art auction of the Marin Society of Artists will be at 1 p.m. — not 2 p.m. — March 30 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The later time was incorrectly reported to the Independent-Journal, as was an earlier error about the day of the event.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Italian-style Dining To Take Over At Quan Lin Restaurant

Look for another Italian-type restaurant to open soon in San Rafael.

There is dining room and kitchen remodeling now going on at Quan Lin of Marin, and it is likely to continue for another week or two weeks.

When completed, owners Angelo Camilleri and Joe Scotto plan to reopen that department with Italina food, not Chinese, as was here before. And they are talking of giving the place a more suitable name, probably Ang Joe's — a contraction of Angelo and Joe combined.

There is still another Angelo in this picture, by the way. He is Angelo Camporeale, who has reitred from the Marin restaurant business twice but just can't seem to stay inactive. He will be in charge of the new food operation.

If you remember, he used to have Angelo's in San Anselmo before his first retirement. Later he and his wife Vera took over the Hickory Pit in San Rafael, only to sell out there last October to the Fabbris and retire again, this time in Antioch. It appears they will be moving back to Marin.

The menu isn't all planned out, but look for some of Angelo's former specialties and some traditional Italian dishes. There will be lunch and family-style dinner service Mondays through Saturdays and also dinners on Sundays, starting somewhat earlier than during the week.

THERE MAY HAVE BEEN one idea in the mind of Lou Sabella when he began compiling that photographic display of early fishing scenes for the lobby at Sabella's of Marin, but this array of pictures and model ships also seems to serve another worthy purpose.

I have always felt sorry for certain diners-out at restaurants on crowded evenings who must wait for a table. These are the ones who are not cocktail drinkers — or have children with them, so they cannot relax in the bar with a drink until their names are called.

The usual alternative is to stand in line. But since the exhibit was installed, at least something interesting is offered for the waiting interlude.

Not that the cocktail lounge isn't also interesting. Bob Stewart is at the organ console Tuesday through Saturday nights and he usually plays to a circle of enthusiastic listeners.

The seafood menu at Sabella's is particularly inviting these days and is probably as extensive as any in the Bay Area. Quite possibly it is also the largest, but I haven't checked out everything at San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf, so can't be sure.

This writer's suggestion for a very tasty fish dish in the moderate price range: The red snapper — the way it's fixed at Sabella's, that is.

IT WAS ANTICIPATED that Senor Alfredo's Mexican Restaurant in the former Safeway building on San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo would be opened at least by April 1, but now that hardly seems likely.

It isn't that owner Alfred Barthel isn't ready to go; it's a strange matter of trees. The San Anselmo Planning Commission has denied him a use permit until trees are planted in front of the building.

Latest word is that the restaurant will not open before April 15 — and that may also hold for the post office, which has the additional problem of getting its lock boxes installed.

I HAVE RECEIVED a copy of the menu for Bellucci's Spaghetti House opening next Thursday at the Skylark Motel across from Hamilton Air Force Base.

As indicated last week, it's quite reasonable. The special Italian dinner is $1.95, including soup, salad, toasted garlic roll or cheese roll, spaghetti and meat sauce, dessert and beverage. In addition there is a list of several inexpensive a la carte and take home specials.

The Italian sauces used will be from the original recipes of the Bellucci family which came from Calabria in the southern part of Italy.

CAFE BON VIN Wednesday provincial nights are being expanded, starting next week with a French Easter party. Fred Cherry plans on added courses with dishes rarely found in this country and featuring the holiday fare of France.

He is still serving the fresh complimentary caviar during Sunday morning brunches — when the sturgeon cooperate, that is. Since these are fresh sturgeon eggs, nothing is used to disguise the flavor. They are served only with warm toast, sweet butter and a gold spoon.

BOB STEWART
Plays at Sabella's

IF IT APPEARS there is no organ music at San Rafael Joe's on Monday nights, this is not the case. Gordon Tucker is at the new Baldwin PR-220 console then, and Larry Vannucci plays the keys the rest of the week, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Acutally the PR-220 was originally Gordon's organ, he was the first in the county to order and receive one. But Hector Rubini and Guido Farina at Joe's were so anxious to have it there he let them take it and reconciled himself to a place well along the waiting list for a replacement. It may be months before he gets another one, so popular is this new instrument.

BURGE'S DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT at Ignacio, which Ed Burge closed last month, announcing he would remodel it into a coffee shop and cocktail lounge type of establishment, will be the scene of an auction Monday, March 31, at 10 a.m. Present equipment is to be sold.

There has been no further announcement on the reopening date. In fact, remodeling has not even started.

SPACIOUS IS THE WORD for dining room, cocktail lounge and kitchen at the new Holiday Inn now under construction at Northgate Drive and Manuel T. Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda.

There seems to be plenty of room inside and there are windows galore. And I counted five gas ranges awaiting installation in the kitchen, so good patronage must be expected.

But don't look for an immediate opening. Another 60 days at the earliest would be my guess; say May or June.

WITH SPRING OFFICIALLY HERE and the weather a little softer, there should now be more traffic to the coast. And at Stinson Beach it's almost time for the Sand Dollar's seasonal opening.

Scheduled reopening date is Friday night, April 4. Dinners will be served Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights only. If last year's hours still prevail, the bar will open at 5 p.m. on Fridays and 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Dinners should be from 5 to 10 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and to 9:30 on Sundays.

Postman Suspended Over Long Tresses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 23-year-old postal carrier who refused to cut his below-the-shoulder-length hair was ordered suspended without pay yesterday.

A three-man review board decided Michael C. McPharr violated a post office department bulletin issued Aug. 1 which required that employee's hair and beards be neatly trimmed.

Proposed Church Merger Rejected

NEW YORK (AP) — A proposed merger with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern) has been turned down by rank-and-file representatives of the Reformed Church in America.

The Reformed Church has 384,750 members in 939 parishes across the country while the Southern Presbyterian Church has 960,776 members.

"A lot of conservatives out in the Midwest apparently were afraid of being swallowed up," Barbara Mahannah, an administrative assistant for the Reformed Church, said Wednesday.

Four Candidates' Nights Announced

The Mill Valley School board will hold four candidates' nights next month, according to Supt. James A. Collins.

Candidates will appear at Marin Terrace School, April 7; Alto School, April 8; Tamalpais High School's Ruby Scott Auditorium, April 9 and Tamalpais Valley School April 10. All programs will start at 8 p.m.

So many people have liked our "Provincial Nights" we w become a trifle more ambitious. Every Wednesday fr now on: "Festival Foods of France." Holiday fare uniquely French, rarely found in this country. Preceded a "Tasting of Wine Discoveries" as before; but now it's comparative tasting — so you may match the merits an import with its domestic counterpart.

CALIFORNIA NIGHT (Thursday)

A California Vintage Banqu follows each tasting and discussion — more wine, and or or more heirloom recipes of the visiting vintner's famil Dinners limited to 60 — so reservations a "must."

DOCTOR'S CAP (Sunday)

And eleven other happy entrees new to this country . . served from 11:30 to 2:30 every Sunday (except Palm an Easter Sundays when regular dinners will start at noon Fresh caviar served free (occasionally), champagne, Ma seilles coffee, attentive service — brunch at Cafe Bon Vi is generally acknowledged to be the second best thing t do on Sunday.

GALA OCCASIONS (Fri., Sat., Sun.)

Cafe Bon Vin's nationally-known Gala Dinners (lavis feasts of the French Court — 10 courses, 9 wines) hav become the proper way to celebrate an auspicious occasion, to reward such meritorious accomplishments as the achievement of another birthday, or to treat yoursel benignly. If the need for great pleasure exists, but appetite is less than gala, there are smaller dinners from $4 of fewer dishes — chosen from the legendary Epicurien Gala. And always there are Fred Cherry's Wine Discoveries to taste, discuss, and taste again.

MARIN CHOSEN AS HOME

Family Hangs Up Its Ice Skates After 17 Years

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

After 17 years on ice, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams and their two teen-aged offspring like having their feet on terra firma in Marin County.

The Williamses, who have lived at 400 Canal Street in San Rafael since last May, are all former stars of the Ice Follies but have decided it is time to settle down.

"After 17 years of packing suitcases, the grass always looks greener on the other side," said Pat Williams, who is the mother in the family act. "So we decided to get on the other side to see how we like it, and we like it."

She and her husband own and operate the Footlight Restaurant in Belvedere with Richard Lane, former controller of the Ice Follies.

Being on the greener side also means that 16-year-old Debbie and 13-year-old Robbie are going to public school for the first time in their lives. They have always been taught before by their father, correspondence courses and private tutors.

"It's really different," said Debbie, who played the second female lead of Bianca in the recnet Terra Linda High School production of "Kiss Me Kate'" "In some ways it's harder and some ways easier."

Like most teen-agers, she didn't like the pop tests that teachers like to give. "They didn't do that in correspondence school," the pretty, dark-haired teen-ager said.

Robbie is entirely happy with school on a day-to-day basis, because "he can't go to school in his pajamas," according to his mother. He also admits to having a bit of trouble with Spanish, although he has performed both in Mexico and Cuba. It is harder to write it than speak it, he said.

Debbie said she misses the Follies "a little" but also likes being "settled down." Both she and Robbie, whose bronze baby ice skates are displayed in the Williams' comfortable apartment, learned to skate almost as soon as they could walk.

Debbie has also cut a single rock and roll record with a Napa group called The Unwritten Law and is a soloist on the Ice Follies latest album. Both youngsters appeared in television commercials during the family's short stay in Hollywood before joining the Follies.

The parents started out on roller skates and during a European tour with a group called the Skating Vanities, Williams learned to ice skate. When they returned to the U. S., he went with an ice show and she with a roller skating team. "Then we decided to get married and I had to learn ice skating," Mrs. Williams said.

They skated for eight years with Holiday on Ice before the short stay in "the rat race in Hollywood" and then joining the Follies.

They picked Marin County to settle, they said, for a variety of reasons. Natives of Columbus, Ohio, they were familiar with Marin because the Follies rehearse every year in San Francisco and about half of the skaters live in the county.

Williams and his partner hope to expand operations in the county, eyeing possibly a boat marina, skiing facilities and, eventually, a "big sports complex which the county really needs," he said.

The Williams are now looking for a house nearer to Terra Linda High where they also intend to send Robbie, in a large degree because they are sold on the talents of the school's drama coach, Mrs. Sally Rupp, and the students who "worked like troupers" in producing "Kiss Me Kate."

Not only were the Terra Linda performers enthusiastic, his wife chimed in, they were exceptionally talented. "We had a party of 10 people — all professional show business people — and we couldn't rave enough about how good they were."

A LIVE-IN REVIVAL

Instant Ministers In Sonoma

By BONNIE BARD

AWAITING ORDINATION — Sonoma State students hear Hensley declare that as ministers of his church their chief obligation is to be themselves. "Become what you want and go out and tell the world what you are," he said. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Combining the spirit of an old-time revival meeting with a trypical hippie live-in, Rt. Rev. Kirby J. Hensley, self-proclaimed bishop of the Universal Life Church, yesterday ordained everyone on the Sonoma State College campus as ministers of his church.

Forced indoors by heavy rains, more than 300 students gathered in the music building at noon, the appointed hour the religious leader was to arrive to participate in the college's Rites of Spring Festival. The colorful group, however, had to wait another two hours for his grace because the weather cut short his plane trip from Modesto at the Livermore Airport, forcing the remainder of the trip by auto.

The group used the time to set the mood for the event. An impromptu band of drums, a guitar and vibraphone provided background music for the spontaneous singing of hymns and protest songs. A bright red Frisby appeared mysteriously in the crowd and sailed throughout the room for a temporary diversion.

The frivolity ceased when spokesmen announced the impending arrival of Hensely and asked the students to take on a prayerful solemnity. The quiet didn't last, for as the minister entered the room, shouts went up and a shower of flowers fell.

Television cameramen jockeyed for position as Hensley apologized for the delay and promised all would be ministers before the afternoon was out.

"All we ask of our ministers is they be themselves," Hensley said. "Become what you want and go out and tell the world what you are."

The minister explained that the Universal Life Church believes in the reality of people being individuals — not just numbers.

Offering the students heaven on earth, Hensley said, "Heaven is where you have what you want and hell is when you don't have it. Do you want to die first?" Shouts of "no" rang out as the students joined fully in the spirit of the event.

"We're a giant jigsaw puzzle and can't put it together until every piece is found and put in place," he said, urging students to find their true identities.

Hensley called for people to stop rejecting each other and drew a strong response with: "Wars and killing must stop."

A drab looking man who could easily pass for a quiet elementary school teacher, Hensley espoused political activity as well as religion. He said he had run for president in 1964 and 1968 and predicted he was on the way to the White House.

JAUNTY BISHOP — Kirby J. Hensley wears a crown of flowers for his mass ordination of Sonoma State College students. The self-proclaimed bishop says concern for the individual is "the secret of heaven on earth."

RAPT LISTENER — One of the more than 300 Sonoma State students at the ordination gives absolute attention to Hensley's description of the goals of the Universal Life Church.

He asked students to love one another and called sexual relations the strongest tie between people. "Get turned on," he urged.

A student asked, "How can we love Reagan and Rafferty?" Hensley appeared stumped, but said, "We can love them because they're human beings, but just how— now that's the $64 question."

Bringing an end to the questioning, the bishop raised his arms toward the heavens and intoned solemnly, "By the powers vested in me by the State of California and the Universal Life Church, I pronounce everyone in this building and on this campus a minister of the church.

"Cal yourself a pastor, priest or rabbi," he said. "Be whatever you want."

No charge was made for the ordination documents passed among the throng, but friends of the minister passed a faded brown felt hat in hopes of getting enough donations to pay his transportation costs.

After the mass ordination, Hensley said he began the religious organization in Modesto in 1962 when he put a sign in front of a building that said simply, "church." He now claims worldwide membership, including the Beatles, a university professor, two active judges and the sheriff of Sacramento County.

Although admittedly illiterate, Hensley claims to have memorized the entire U.S. Constitution and the Bible.

Faced with misdemeanor charges concerning his church operation, Hensley predicted the matter wouldn't get far in the courts. Noting young men have been penalized by Selective Service draft boards for trying to avoid the draft by claiming to be ministers, Hensley maintains that those who failed were bluffed out of victory. "Hundreds have avoided the draft with this document," he said, waving a ministerial certificate. He said, however, he doesn't counsel against the draft.

Doctorate of divinity degrees are also available from the church, but involve a series of lessons that cost $20. The twice-wed Hensley has performed many marriages and claims 2,200 churches have been chartered by Universal Life Church, Inc.

Hensley estimated that he has ordained 40,000 ministers and admits the documents are practically worthless.

Saying he isn't out to destroy other forms of religion, he said, "When we flood the market with divinity degrees, the divinity schools will die out. When we flood the market with ministers, we'll get back to the individual. That's the secret of heaven on earth."

Strong Opposition At Second Tamalpais Unification Hearing

By JERRY MEGAHAN

The proposed breakup of Tamalpais High School District into three unified school districts ran into strong opposition last night, including a threat of legal action, at the second of three hearings on the proposal.

Unanimous objection had been voiced at Wednesday's hearing conducted by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization at Sir Francis Drake High School, and the plan fared little better last night at Redwood High School, which would be unified with all elementary schools in its attendance area.

Although many school district residents feel that Redwood High School would benefit most from the split, only a half-dozen speakers gave the proposal even qualified support. At least 25 other taxpayers, teachers and students voiced firm opposition when they got to the podium.

The most vehement naysayers in the crowd of nearly 300 were the students and faculty of Redwood High itself.

Members of the committee repeatedly stressed that the three-district proposal was a tentative one, designed to get the Tamalpais district out of its unification dilemma by the 1972 deadline set by the State Board of Education.

That admission led several members of the audience to accuse the committee of sacrificing the schools and the students in the name of political expediency.

"We let politics affect our decision on the Novato Elementary School unification and I've had a guilty conscience ever since," said Wendell D. Ames, a Redwood High teacher who was chiarman of the committee when the first report on Tamalpais unification was made. "Novato has had to live with the nightmare of financial difficulties in the schools ever since.

"I beg of you to wait a while and see if you can come up with a better solution. I think it would be a crime to split up the excellent Tamalpais High School District."

The most emotional aspect of a meeting that at times resembled the libretto of an Italian opera was the racial aspect of the plan. Many black Marin residents feel that the split will result in de facto segregation.

"If you make the split, it would segregate Redwood High School," said Redwood student Barbara Brooks. 'Black people want the same education you want for your children. You people worry about taxes; I'm worried about my education and my chances to get ahead in this world."

John Thompson of the Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union followed that with a bigger bombshell. "We stand ready to test the legality of any unification plan which would tend to promote de facto segregation in the Tamalpais district," he said.

Other speakers pointed out other defects in the plan such as the three-hour bus run for students from the Bolinas-Stinson area to Sir Francis Drake High School, the committee's problems in deciding on an equitable voting plan for the proposal, further overcrowding at Drake and increased taxation in areas least able to pay.

Curtis P. Kamai, a Larkspur School District trustee, was one of the proposal's few supporters. He suggested that it might be easier to pass bond issues in the smaller split districts and that smaller districts would be easier to administrate.

Leo Sousa, a Reed School District trustee, agreed with Kamai's arguments and added that splitting the district might lead to getting construction of high schools in Tiburon and San Geronimo Valley off the drawing boards.

Howard Harvey, another Larkspur trustee, saw more sinister forces at work. "I see a very strong teacher's association which is indoctrinating students for its own purposes. It is a disgrace to the community to see the type of people who have been speaking here."

That statement triggered a warm exchange between Harvey and trustee Bette Wallace of the Tamalpais High School District and strong denials from a large group of students.

Board members complained that regulations for unification changed every time the state legislature met. "And no one could foresee the rigid interpretations by the State Board of Education since the most recent adjustment of regulations," said committee chairman Rachel P. Conner.

"No one is entirely happy with the present proposal," said school committee member Galen Williams. "We invite you to help us if you (members of the audience) can come up with a better idea."

The third and final round of public hearings on the unification proposal will be held at Tamalpais High School Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Cotati Police Chief Quits, Listing 'Personal Reasons'

Cotati Police Chief John W. Curtis resigned last night effective April 15, lisiting "personal reasons" and declining to elaborate.

Members of the city council accepted his resignation without comment. Curtis becomes the fourth member of the police department to resign since the new council was formed last April.

Officers William Flohr, Theodore Johnson and Gary Pitts preceded their chief in resigning.

"It's just for personal reasons and not a problem or lack of cooperation," Curtis said. "The residents of the city have been wonderful."

The chief said he is considering running for Sonoma County Sheriff again next yeor. Curtis was defeated in the 1966 election.

Curtis became the first police chief in Cotati in 1964 when the city was incorporated. He heads a force of three regular and five reserve officers.

A native of Santa Rosa, he began his law enforcement career in 1949 with the California Highway Patrol in Marin County. He was transferred to Sonoma County in 1951 and served there until becoming Cotati chief.

The Cotati City Council Also:

COMMISSIONERS — Reappointed Mrs. Frank Piazza and Harry Sumigawa to the parks and recreation commission for two-year terms. Dr. William Kortum and Mrs. Christine Manning indicated they were not interested in reappointment. The council asked that an amendment be prepared to reduce the commission from seven to five members, which would leave one vacancy remaining.

EMPLOYMENT — Introduced an ordinance amendment which would place all cases of firing employees in the hands of the city council rather than an arbitrary review board.

SEWAGE — Authorized Mayor Morris J. Houser to apply for federal funds to assist construction of new sewer lines to connect with the Rohnert Park sewage plant. No amount was specified.

LANDSCAPING — Authorized an agreement with the state to landscape the Cotati section of Highway 101. The city will provide free water for the project.

REZONING — Denied application of Lester H. Petersen to rezone his property at 405 Sierra Avenue from single-family to multi-family residential.

In 1457, golf was prohibited in Scotand because it diverted men from archery which was needed for defense, according to Collier's Encyclopedia.

Unification Plan Draws Opposition

Directors of the Sleepy Hollow Home Owners Association last night unanimously opposed the proposed splitting of the Tamalpais High School District ito three parts.

The eight-member board took the action after hearing a highly-critical report on the proposal from former San Anselmo school trustee Doris Harnsberger.

The unification plan proposed by the County Committee on School District Organization would set up three new districts around the Tamalpais, Redwood and Drake High Schools attendance areas.

The association board also met with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. in what president Frank Berto termed an "amicable discussion" on Highway 17, the possibility of additional roads from West Marin into the Terra Linda area, the widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and rapid transit proposals for the county.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, March 21st, the 80th day of 1969 with 285 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1918 American and German soldiers fought in the key World War I Battle of the Somme.

In 1945 some 7,000 Allied planes dropped more than 12,000 tons of bombs on Germany in a daytime raid.

In 1962 Premier Nikita Khrushchev pledged that Russia would cooperate with America in peaceful exploration of space.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "Marriage is a thing you've got to give your whole mind to."

Mark Van Doren Has Heart Attack

TORRINGTON, Conn. (AP) — Mark Van Doren, 74-year-old novelist, critic and poet who won the Pulitzer Prize in 1939 for his "Collected Poems," is under treatment at Charlotte Hungerford Hospital for a heart attack.

A hospital spokesman said yesterday Van Doren, who lives in Falls Village, was admitted March 10. Doctors reported him in good condition.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Cultivation Of Simplicity Is A Must At The Bridge Table

"Some performers admire technique for its own sake," an eminent violinist remarked recently. "They execute brilliant tricks where the music calls for absolute simplicity, and they expect a pat on the back when what they really deserve is a kick somewhat lower down." I hated to admit that the same ailment afflicts some of our best bridge players.

TAKES FINESSE

When today's hand was played in a recent tournament, East took the ace of diamonds and returned the nine of diamonds. South, a rather flamboyant young man, took a finesse with the jack of diamonds.

South didn't really expect the finesse to win, but he thought that West might foolishly lead the suit back, and this would give him a free finesse with the K-8 of diamonds. South kept a straight face, but he could hardly keep from chuckling with admiration of his own cleverness.

West knew all about South's cleverness and managed to resist the temptation to lead another diamond. Instead, West shifted to the queen of spades.

KILLING DEFENSE

This was the killing defense. South had to lose the heart finesse, and then the opponents would defeat the contract with a total of two spade tricks, two diamonds and one heart. South had given the opponents time to beat him.

The winning line of play was simplicity itself. South should take the king of diamonds at the second trick and should lead hearts at once. Even though the finesse loses, South is sure of four hearts, one spade, one diamond and three clubs.

NEED DIAMONDS

If East can lead another diamond when he is in with the king of hearts, the defenders can get a total of three diamond tricks, but they need four diamonds to defeat the contract.

Alioto Drops Mint Request

SAN FRACISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto, after a year's study, wrote the federal government yesterday that the city no longer is interested in obtaining the Old Mint at Fifth and Mission Streets.

Opened in 1874, the building was used as a mint until 1934 and then as a federal office building until last year when it was emptied.

Alioto suggested it be turned over to San Francisco State College for a downtown educational center.

CREAMPUFF '66 GMC PICKUP

We can really say that this is a real creampuff pickup due to the fact that it's our own company truck that we purchased new and have used here at our company for general use and picking up of parts around the city.

This half-ton pickup has just been repainted to blot out our signs and there isn't a mark of wear or damage anywhere. Popular V-6 engine with standard transmission, w/w tires, radio, power steering, Barden bumper, all the chrome mouldings and lots of other extras. A really top-notch truck that's dressed up appearance-wise to look like new. Serviced regularly in our shop so this truck shouldn't need a thing done to it. T68692.

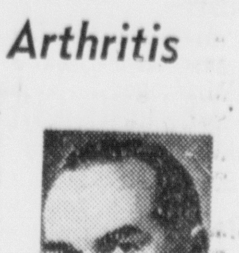
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

This Type Of Knobby Joints Not So Bad As Other Arthritis



VAN DELLEN

Heberden's nodes are small, hard knobs that appear over the tops of the finger joints not far from the roots of the nails. This hereditary condition is a form of arthritis that usually develops in midlife. Most of the victims are women.

Baseball finger is a traumatic type of Heberden's nodules and follows an injury in which the end of the digit is hit by a ball, hammer, or gets caught in a door.

AN ENCOURAGING aspect of this arthritic disorder is that other joints are spared because it is not generalized in nature. In the early stages, Heberden's resembles rheumatoid arthritis in that the membranes lining the joint are involved.

This period is most painful because the nodules are inflamed and distended with fluid. The swollen nodes are extremely tender to the touch and using the hand results in considerable aching.

In time, the acute phase subsides spontaneously, but gnarled, unsightly fingers remain. However, despite appearances, function is good.

THE JOINTS NOW have all the characteristics of osteoarthritis. Except for morning stiffness, the fingers are more comfortable.

Potent arthritic remedies are not needed. Aspirin and heat relieve distress. Washing dishes in hot water affords temporary relief.

Paraffin baths also are helpful. The hands are soaked in hot water for three minutes; then, dipped immediately into cooling, melted wax. When the waxy "glove" sets, dip again. This process is repeated a dozen times and the hands are allowed to rest for an hour before the wax is peeled off.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

ILEITIS EXPLAINED

E. R. writes: What is ileitis?

REPLY

Ileitis means infection. The ileum refers to the last few feet of the small intestine. An inflammation in this segment is called ileitis. The ileum joins the large intestine in the lower right side of the abdomen at a point not far from the appendix. As a result of infection, one disease may mimic another. Regional ileitis is a special type of inflammation of unknown origin that simmers for years without causing much trouble.

HISSING EAR NOISES

H. N. writes: Can a hole in the eardrum cause hissing noises?

REPLY

Yes, but the hissing sounds are not due to escaping steam. Have you consulted an ear specialist about the possibility of having the opening closed? Numerous conditions can cause head noises. These are discussed in our leaflet which may be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

PERFUME DOESN'T LAST

Miss J. writes: I use perfume every day, but no matter how expensive it is, the scent does not linger. Do you think I have too much acid?

REPLY

I don't know why the perfume dissipates, but I'm certain your problem is not caused by "too much acid." Perhaps the fragrance is washed away, diluted, or masked by perspiration or skin oils.

DIET AND WENS

A reader writes: Does the diet have anything to do with plugged up grease glands in the scalp that result in wens?

REPLY

No. Injury or infection damages the openings of the sebaceous glands and prevents the secretions from escaping to the outside. The result is a cyst (wen).

OUT WITH GALL BLADDER

REPLY

The gall bladder is removed in 999 cases out of 1000. When gallstones are present, nothing is gained by taking out the pebbles without eliminating the cause (infected gall bladder).

Today's Health Hint—One difference between humans and lower animals is man's eagerness to take medicines.

Sirhan Blackout Held Not Linked To Schizophrenia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's claimed amnesia during the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy would not have been caused by schizophrenia, a psychiatrist said today at Sirhan's murder trial.

Dr. Eric Marcus, like psychologist who testified before him, said the young Jordanian suffers from schizophrenia—two personalities within one person.

But, asked by the prosecution if this would explain the mental blackout Sirhan says he suffered when Kennedy was shot last June, Marcus said: "No, I don't consider there is any direct connection between amnesia and schizophrenia."

In testimony yesterday, Marcus said Sirhan "thought he was really more or less the savior of society . . . He was going to destroy the current political leaders of the country. He thought he knew what was best for society."

Two-Car Crash Injures Four

A 16-year-old San Anselmo girl received facial cuts and three other persons suffered minor injuries yesterday in a two-car auto accident in Ross.

Zana Darrow, of 73 Austin Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated for facial cuts at Marin General Hospital after the accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Camino Bueno.

Police said the occupants of the other car, Mr. and Mrs. Bob M. Belenski, of 1½ Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross, and Marshall Otwell, a member of the Sixth Army Band at the Presidio of San Francisco, received minor scrapes and bruises and were to be treated by their physicians.

The accident occured about 6 p.m. when the brakes on Miss Darrow's auto locked and she slammed into the car driven by Belanski, police said.

Tam's Don Mackin Headed For UCLA

FLASH—Don Mackin, Tamalpais High School's gentleman quarterback, has signed a letter of intent to enroll at UCLA.

"Don was rated extremely high by the Bruin coaches and we feel he could probably develop into one of the finest quarterbacks in the United States," said ex-Bruin end Ray Bennigson of San Rafael, who did a great deal of the recruiting.

DON MACKIN

It was a spirited battle for the talents of the soft-spoken Mackin, said Bennigson. "I think every school in the Pacific Eight Conference made a pitch for him plus Arizona State and some eastern schools," he added. "We visited the campus last weekend and saw the UCLA-Santa Clara (basketball) game. At halftime Don turned to me and said, 'Mr. Bennigson, it looks like I'm going to go to UCLA.' I felt like grabbing the public address system and announcing it to the world," the recruiter said, "that's how much I think of Don. It was the most rewarding recruiting experience I have ever had because Don is the finest youngster I have ever been around. It was a real thrill. He is a blue ribbon football player."

Success With Quarterbacks

Bennigson said Mackin's selection of UCLA is wise because of coach Tommy Prothro's success with quarterbacks. "He had Terry Baker at Oregon State and Gary Beban at UCLA," Bennigson reminded one and all, "and remember, they were Heisman Trophy winners." Reminded that both Baker and Beban failed to live up to potential in professional ball, Bennigson countered: "Maybe the third time's the charm."

Mackin will major in engineering.

'MY NOTE here the other day about the lack of a ticket agency in Marin and Sonoma counties for the Sears Point International Raceway has been remedied pronto quicklike and fast, too.

Gen. Mgr. James R. Coleman says the pasteboards for the March 29-30 Sports Car Club of America national points races are on sale at Dervin Ford Co. in Novato, and J & B Ford Sales in Corte Madera, and Sanderson Motor Co. in Petaluma.

Tickets, good for both days, go for $5 a pop (and mom, too). Even if you go only one day it's still a finski. Kids under 12 will get in free when accompanied by an adult.

New Man At Sears Point

Coleman also announced the appointment of Steve Castoldi as director of press and public relations for the new Sonoma County raceway. Castoldi is leaving his post as regional manager of SCCA.

PING PONG—Dan Goodman of Mill Valley is the only gent I can think of at the moment who has in his possession missives from the White House, Gov. Ronald Reagan and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

It's not that Goodman is all that important, it's just that he is chairman of 39th annual U.S. International Table Tennis Championships May 9-10-11 in S.F. and the letters are greetings, to be published in the tournament program, to the participants, sponsors and guests.

The letter from the Casa Blanca is signed by astronaut Navy Captain James Lovell, consultant to the president for Physical Fitness and Sports.

A's Tumble In Barrage Of Homers

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — You can talk about the fast ball and the curve ball and the knuckle ball, but a hurler's worst pitch above all is the "home run ball." Ask the Oakland Athletics.

Three home runs helped the Chicago Cubs give the Oakland Athletics their sixth loss in their last seven exhibition baseball games yesterday in a 9-2 contest at Mesa, Ariz.

BACK-TO-BACK

The teams faced each other again today, moving over to nearby Scottsdale.

Cub homers were by Randy Hundley in the fourth against Catfish Hunter, Ernie Banks' two-run effort off Vida Blue in the seventh and another in the seventh by Jim Dunegan.

Hunter homered for the A's with the bases empty in the third, off winning pitcher Ferguson Jenkins.

IN SEVENTH

The final Oakland run came with seventh-inning singles off Hank Aguirre by Rick Monday, Dick Green and Campy Campaneris.

Chicago moved ahead with a two-run double in the fifth by Billy Williams after walks to Don Kessenger and Dave Young.

The Cubs now have a 4-12 Cactus League record. The A's are 4-7.

Giants Whip Padres In Exhibition Game

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—The San Francisco Giants could attest today to the wisdom of the old baseball saying, "it doesn't matter how you score, as long as you score."

At the expense of the San Diego Padres yesterday, the Giants parlayed five unearned runs into an 8-5 victory in exhibition play. But Willie McCovey and Ron Hunt socked home runs to add power to the unearned tallies.

REMATCH

The Padres, seeking revenge, faced the Giants again today with ace Juan Marichal of San Francisco opposing veteran Johnny Podres of San Diego.

McCovey's homer yesterday was a three-run slam off rghthander Dick Selma in the fifth. Hunt's was a two-run homer off Selma in the eighth.

Bobby Ethridge hit two singles, knocking in one Giant run.

12 HITS

San Diego collected 12 hits off Bob Bolin and Mike McCormick including a two-run homer by Jerry Davanon.

Rookie Clarence Gaston singled in a San Diego run and veteran left fielder Tony Gonzalez had a single and triple.

Bruins Vs. Purdue In NCAA Finals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — UCLA and Purdue meet tomorrow for the national collegiate basketball title, but UCLA Coach John Wooden isn't banking on a repeat of the teams' season opener when UCLA beat Purdue 94-82.

That match was played at UCLA, and Wooden thinks Purdue is a vastly improved team.

The Bruin coach, seeking an unprecedented third straight NCAA title and the fifth in six years, was anything but complacent after UCLA held on for an 85-82 victory over stubborn Drake in the semifinals last night.

92-65

"We'll have to play a lot better than we did tonight," Wooden said of a Bruin team that hit 56 per cent of its field goal shots, but committed 22 floor errors and technically won on free throws.

Referring to Purdue, Wooden added, "If they played all season like they played tonight, we wouldn't have beaten them last fall."

Purdue Coach George King was a little happier with his team's performance.

"I don't believe we were looking ahead to anyone tonight," King said.

But when questioned before the second game about the possibility of meeting UCLA, he said he would let his Boilermakers run with the Bruins just as they did in their first meeting.

"We like for a team to pressure us," he said, "so we can develop our running game."

And King added that Purdue has picked up more poise and togetherness in play throughout the season.

But King faces the same large problem he did earlier—UCLA's 7-foot-1½ Lew Alcindor proved his All-American ranking against Drake with 25 points and 21 rebounds.

TALL 'IF'

"If we had Chuck Bavis," King said, "we probably would play them straight away. But since we don't . . ." He wouldn't say just what Purdue might do.

Bavis is Purdue's 7-foot junior center who is out of tournament play with an injury.

Wooden's chief concern in meeting the Boilermakers is the guard duo of All-American Rick Mount and Bill Keller, who bombed the Tar Heel defense with their outside shooting.

Mount hit 14 of 28 field goal attempts and finished with 36 points. Keller connected on nine of 19 floor shots and wound up with 20.

Wooden pointed to Boilermaker depth which he called better than UCLA's bench strength.

Last night King went to his bench early in the game. He credited his ability to do so as one of the reasons Charlie Scott of the Tar Heels was held to 16 points by at least three defenders, including Mount.

Neither King nor Wooden was planning on any line-up changes for tomorrow, the day, as Wooden said, when "it's all over, one way or the other."

Phillies' Richie Allen Hits Grand Slam Against Cards

Yankees Run Win Streak To Six Games

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Richie Allen will have only himself to blame if his wish to be traded to another major league team isn't fulfilled by opening day.

Allen has become disenchanted with playing in front of the hometown Philadelphia fans and openly admits he would like to be wearing a new uniform by April 8, the day the Phillies open against Chicago.

However, the Phils' asking price for Allen may have risen a little higher yesterday. The high-priced slugger hit a grand slam homer to lift Philadelphia past the St. Louis Cardinals 9-7.

The homer highlighted a six-run fourth inning which enabled the Phils to overcome an early 4-0 Cardinal lead. Rookie Ron Stone also homered for Philadelphia and got two other hits to boost his spring average to .464.

Dave Giusti, the victim of Stone's blast, was the loser for the Cards while Bill Wilson, who worked the last four innings, was the winner.

The New York Yankees ran their winning streak to six games by defeating Minnesota 4-2 and in the process snapped the Twins' five-game victory string.

An error by centerfielder Pat Kelly, allowing one run to score, and a steal of home by Mike Lum enabled the Atlanta Braves to defeat the Kansas City Royals 5-3 in 10 innings. Bob Oliver hit a two-run homer for the Royals in the losing effort.

ASTROS WIN

Curt Blefary drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Gary Geiger, Denis Menke and Doug Rader drove in two runs each as Houston outslugged the Montreal Expos 10-7.

Carl Yastrzemski had three hits, including a two-run triple in the first inning, as the Boston Red Sox edged the Detroit Tigers 5-4.

Tommie Sisk, Luke Walker and Dennis Riddleberger combined for an eight-hit shutout in Pittsburgh's 5-0 defeat of the Cincinnati Reds. Fred Patek drove in one run and scored another to lead the Pirates.

Andy Messersmith scattered five hits over six scoreless innings and California capitalized on poor fielding by Cleveland to score a 4-1 victory over the Indians. Vic Davalillo doubled home one run for the Angels.

Lucky Golf Is Out; Now It's S.F. Open

COMBINED AP & UPI

However, the Oct. 30-Nov. 2 dates have been retained and the $100,000 tournament will go on as scheduled, probably as the San Francisco Open, under the auspices of the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Final arrangements were completed yesterday between the PGA and the SFCC.

"This will be a San Francisco effort with civic and business leaders contributing their money and efforts to continue the tradition of the Lucky International, sponsored by the General Brewing Company since 1961," Bob Cardinal of the Chamber said.

Schoendienst Remains In Hospital

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, hospitalized yesterday because of severe abdominal pain, was reported improved today.

A Cardinal spokesman said Schoendienst's pain lessened a great deal during the night. He said the manager's physician had considered exploratory surgery but changed his mind as the pain eased.

Dr. William Mallette, a St. Petersburg physician, said there is a slight possibility of appendicitis.

Schoendienst became ill following his team's 9-7 loss to Philadelphia in an exhibition game.

The Cardinal organization said Schoendienst will remain in the hospital for several days for tests.

Lopez Second Negro Manager

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the naming of Hector Lopez as manager of the Buffalo Bisons, organized baseball for the first time has a Negro manager in the high minor leagues.

Lopez, a 36-year old native of Panama, was named to manage the triple A club of the International League yesterday by Robert E. Short, owner of the parent Washington Senators.

Lopez is believed to be only the second Negro ever to manage in organized baseball in the continental United States.

Gene Baker, a Negro who spent his playing days as an infielder with the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates, once managed Batavia of the Class A New York-Penn league.

'Wings' Off Porsche Cars For Sebring

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Air foils are the in thing in international road racing, but favored Porsche removed the wing-like devices from its brand new open cockpit cars after only a couple hours practice for tomorrow's Sebring 12-hour endurance race.

"On this bumpy track, the air foils were making the cars vibrate too much," said Rico Steineman, manager of the German team whose long-time reputation for reliability has been tarnished in recent races.

FASTER

To his surprise, the cars were a full second a lap faster without the air foils and, to no one's surprise, the fastest of all yesterday.

One of the four Spyder open cockpit models making their racing debut for Porsche beat the track record by almost four miles an hour as qualification began.

Veteran drivers Gerhard Mitter and Udo Schutz of Germany each had a lap at 2 minutes 42.77 seconds or 115.009 m.p.h. The time was unofficial but indicates a record is likely tomorrow.

RECORD

The official lap record, set by Mike Spence in 1967, in a high powered Chaparral-Chevrolet, is 111.032 m.p.h. Last year, when power limits were cut to a maximum of three liters for sports prototypes—first of a kind experimental cars—the fastest lap was 110.759 by Scooter Patrick in a Lola-Chevrolet.

Lola, surprise winner of the 24 hours of Daytona in February, was only a couple seconds slower than the Mitter-Schutz Porsche and another of the German factory models driven by Jo Siffert of Switzerland and Brian Redman of England.

GARNER'S CAR

The fastest Lola at 114.105 m.p.h. was driven by Californians Ed Leslie of Monterey and Lothar Motscenbacher of Beverly Hills. It is one of movie star Jim Garner's entries.

A brand new 12-cyliner Ferrari, driven by Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., and Chris Amon of New Zealand was only seventh fastest, but its 113.815 m.p.h. was easily competitive.

Drivers had all of today to improve their qualifying times and earn a spot closer to the front for the race starting at 11 a.m., EST, tomorrow.

San Rafael Hurdler Makes Big Hit At Berkeley; Rags To Riches Story

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — "With my speed and form how can I possibly run 14.2?"

The speaker was Bob McLennan, former San Rafael High School hurdler, who as a prep earned no great fame.

McLennan was talking about his season opening high hurdle victory, a race equal to the second fastest in University of California history and his lifetime best.

At San Rafael, McLennan could manage no better than 15.2 seconds for the prep height highs, 22.0 for the 180 lows, and, he continued his mediocrity into the long(?) jump where he thudded 19-6.

FASTER 'N'FASTER

With his lack of speed he certainly could not have been called an "underachiever" in high school, but he certainly is an overachiever now, and the way he works he should continue to overachieve, faster and faster.

Hix coach, Sam Bell, figures McLennan might be able to run the 100 in 10.2; assistant coach Charlie Craig feels that Bob is faster than that, but Bob himself thinks that he is more in the 10.4 category, "if conditions are right."

His form is a long way from perfect, so that isn't what is achieving success for the 6-0, 170-pound California junior.

What it probably is, is his determination, during practice and in a race. He attacks the hurdles fiercely, and he is getting stronger and stronger as time goes by.

UP AND OVER—Bob McLennan hurdling his way to prominence on the University of California track team.

McLennan started to indicate some promise when he ran 15.0 as a freshman in the highs and 55.5 for the intermediate hurdles.

Last year, he astounded himself, and most everyone else, with a 14.3 high hurdle race — well behind Earl McCullouch who was running 13.3 for Southern Cal, but, in front of a world class athlete, Geoff Vanderstock.

He didn't come within three-tenths of this clocking again last year, although at the season end he was running consistent 53.6 intermediate races.

He's lowered his quartermile hurdle best to 53.1 and he is just starting to improve in this event.

To indicate just how little McLennan had achieved in athletics, until this year he claimed his biggest athletic thrill was beating a Cal freshman two miler in a 440 and winning a milk shake from coach Bell for it.

To further illustrate McLennan's improved strength and speed, he has run a mile relay leg in 49.3 this year, as opposed to his best previous time of 51.8.

TEAM HUMORIST

An impish looking blond youngster, just 20-years old, McLennan is the team humorist and can usually be counted on for the quick line that keeps things light and funny.

He is majoring in what he calls Social Theory and claims that his grade point average is "something fantastic."

While that probably isn't true of his grade point average, what he will accomplish on the track during the next two years will be, because it virtually is fantastic already.

With his determination, intelligence and humor, his future accomplishments in all areas very probably will also be "something fantastic."

Hull, Orr Set New Records

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Hull and Bobby Orr were record-breaking winners last night but the Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins came out losers despite their 5-5 National Hockey League tie.

Hull scored twice late in the game, giving him 55 goals and erasing the record of 54 he set three years ago. Orr's 21st goal with only one second to play forced the tie and established a mark for most goals by a defenseman. Detroit's Flash Hollett set the old standard of 20 in the 50-game season of 1944-45.

The deadlock dropped Boston four points behind front-running Montreal in the East Division and left the last-place Black Hawks nine points behind Toronto and seven in back of Detroit in the race for the fourth and final playoff berth.

Littler On Top

Boston Vs. Temple In NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The defense rested its case in the semifinals of the National Invitational Tournament last night.

The verdict went against it.

Army and Tennessee, ranked 1-2 in the nation in team defense, were both beaten in the semifinals. Boston College chalked up its 19th straight victory by downing Army 73-61 while Temple turned back Tennessee 63-58.

Temple, which won the first NIT in 1938 and hasn't been in the finals since, will now meet Boston College, trying to win for coach Bob Cousy's farewell, in Saturday afternoon's finals. The Army-Tennessee defensive match will be the consolation game.

B.C. and Temple, two teams loaded with slick ball-handlers and displaying a lot of schoolyard savvy, should provide an interesting matchup in the finale. They showed their class the way they picked apart the Army and Tennessee defenses.

Temple threw a press at Tennessee midway in the second half and ran up 10 straight points as the Vols, who pride themselves on their good ball-handling, were forced into numerous mistakes.

B.C. normally a fast-breaking team, beat Army at its own game as the Eagles followed Cousy's pre-game plan and slowed the game down and also played a zone defense for one of the few times this season.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Wardens Cracking Down On Littering Problems

Section 5652 of the Fish and Game Code says it is unlawful to dispose of any cans, bottles or garbage within 150 feet of the high water mark of the waters of the state.

This has been a recent legislative section entered in the Fish and Game Code. At White House Pool, near Pt. Reyes Station, some steelhead fishermen were cited recently under this section. In one week, after a group of sportsmen had cleaned up the area, Constable Michael McLean counted 253 cans thrown around, so citations were issued to everyone caught littering. This had to be done as the rancher-owner might have closed the area. In a few weeks, with the help of Judge David R. Baty, the area was thoroughly cleaned by the litterbugs as part of their sentence.

With more than 200 boats out on San Pablo Bay each weekend it is also important that we keep this area clean. If each boat throws three or four cans overboard, there could be up to possibly 10,000 cans in the bay in a three months period.

In a Napa courtroom recently the littering of Lake Berryessa came up. The defendant explained to the judge that he had thrown only one can into the lake, whereupon the judge questioned the game warden as if the citation weren't a little "chicken."

The warden's answer: "The reason they throw them one at a time is that they drink them one at a time."

All throughout the state officers hate to make "chicken" cases, yet it's the one-at-a-time throwing of beer and soda cans that creates litter problems. This, indeed, is the crux of the case, so beware, you can throwers.

WEEKEND PROSPECTS: With no minus tides, clam digging, abalone picking and pole poking for eels and rockfish is out.

Salmon fishing out of Sausalito is still going good.

Striped Bass fishing should be reaching a peak at San Pablo and Tomales bays.

Sturgeon fishing also is excellent in the San Pablo.

Black bass were taken this week in Nicasio Lake and it should be good at Berryessa.

NOTE: Trout season opens March 29 at Lake Almanor, Donner Lake and Jenkinson Lake.

Redwood, Tam Favored In Prep Track

Take two long-time top dogs and three solid contenders and you have pretty much the shape ot things to come in the 1969 Marin County Athletic League track and field race, which kicked off today.

Redwood High School, with an overflowing array of athletes, and Tamalpais, who have fought it out for the title the past three years, are again expected to be on top of the pack but either Novato, San Rafael or Drake could pull off some major surprises.

Redwood is literally loaded in numbers.

New coach Gary Shaw, replacing Tony Bailey, who is now head coach at College of Marin, has plenty to work with at the Larkspur school. He probably has more depth than any team in the league, with the possible exception of Novato.

The traditional Redwood weakness in the sprints has been shored up somewhat by the presence of newcomer Chris Sigur, a 10.3 seconds 100-yard dash man, but the Giants still lack depth there.

STAR RETURNEES

Genuine standout returnees from last year's championship squad include pole vaulter Brian Hicks (13-0), 880 and 440 man Tod Norris, discus man Judd Pillar, who has already had a toss of 152 feet, 4 inches, sprint man Tom Poppin, distance standout Kevin Pusser and shot putter Bob Bartel.

Craig Cochrane and Dan Friedman are expected to pick up points in the hurdles while basketballer Bruce Candrian and last year's Class B star Tom Estudillo will help in the middle distances.

If the Giants lack anything it is probably depth in the hurdles and sprints. But there are few, if any, gaping holes on a traditionally strong squad.

"I'd have to say we're one of the favorites," Shaw said. "I will be among Redwood, Tamalapis, San Rafael or Novato."

SEVERE JOLTS

Tamalpais was jolted severely by the loss of miler Bruce Boyd and Class B discus champ Gary Soderstrom, both of whom transferred out, but veteran coach Bruce Grant has quite a bit left. The question is where to put whom.

Luther Gray is a talented sprinter, running right behind ace Allan Lee last year, but Grant will have to use him to shore up the hurdles. Ron Small could help out, if he recovers from an injury. The Indians are solid in any of the running events, but have very little to show in the field events. They'll have traditionally tough relay teams, almost no pole vaulters. But 250-pound Verdean Herbold has surprised in the shot where he's already thrown 48 feet in his first effort at the shot.

TOO THIN?

Still, the Indians have always been tough. But they may be too thin this year.

Novato looks loaded and could provide trouble for anybody. Some genuine standouts head coach Bob Patterson's squad, including sprinter Phil Emswiler, distance runner Don Makila, the league's cross-country champ, sprinter Vance Brown, two-miler Ron Elijah, league shot put champ Ron Sparling, discus man Tom Phillips, and middle distance man Jeff Wagner.

The Hornets are deep in the running events, with good all-around balance, but they are weak in the field events, especially the high jump, long jump, pole vault and new triple jump.

"I think you have to go undefeated to win the title," Patterson said. "One loss, and you're through."

SENIORITIS

Drake coach Morrey Shepherd thought he had the makings of a championship squad a month ago at San Anselmo. But quite a bit of the team simply didn't show up as a severe case of what Shepherd calls "Senioritis" decimated his team.

The Pirates do have 9.9 sprinter Norman Biss, hurdler Grant Darrow, miler Jim Ahola, and 440 man Chuck Emery, to name a few. But what's left could still pull an upset or two.

Top returnees are 12-9 pole vaulter Mark Molica, pole vaulter and high jumper Rick Earhart, 6-0 high jumper Rich Smartt, 440 standouts Dick Tierney and Paul Mayhood, miler Dave Stancliffe, sprinter Jim Harris, and hurdlers Kip Knorr and Rowley McVeigh.

TOP RUNNERS

San Rafael has two of the top runners in the county in sprinter Bob Peterson (9.9 in the 100) and middle distance man Dave Bariski, but coach Gay Quandt is awfully thin in other areas.

"We just don't have enough to go around," Quandt said. "Some excellent people, but not enough."

Expected to help is former standout class B hurdler Dennis Silva, and distance man Frank Elias as well as a flock of youngsters.

Terra Linda is strictly on a rebuilding year, with ex-B thinclads expected to fill the ranks.

Only six seniors are out, five of them for the first time.

Junior Mark Jones, a 12-9 pole vaulter, is the top returnee.

Both Marin Catholic of Kentfield and newcomer San Marin of Novato will have an old problem — not enough veterans and thin ranks. In San Marin's case, there are no veterans.

Lacrosse Games On Tap Sunday

A lacrosse doubleheader will be played Sunday at Novato High School.

First game at noon will match junior teams from Novato and San Francisco and the nightcap at 2 p.m. will pit the senior Marin and Palo Alto lacrosse clubs.

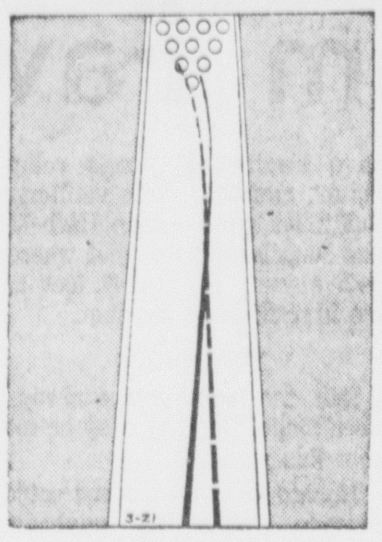
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Do "slow" lanes sometimes cause your ball to hook too much? There are some solutions. First, however, be sure it is the lanes that are causing the problem. Maybe you are going to the left of your spot without knowing it.

If the lanes are too slow, though, you should: 1. Loft the ball a little farther out onto the lane and increase your speed a little; 2. Hold your hand more directly behind the ball; 3. Move your starting position a few boards to the left, as shown in today's sketch.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

LOS ANGELES — Hedgemon Lewis, 145, Hollywood, Calif., knocked out Miguel Hernanaez, 148, Monterey, Mexico.

PORTLAND, Maine — Leo Difiore, 129, Portland, knocked out Louis Vidot, 124, New York, 10; Tommy Foss, 160, Peaks, Island, Maine, outpointed Gene Roberts, 153, Portland, 10.

Jacksonville Golf Leaders Bunched Up

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Heard, 21, six feet tall and 180 pounds, quit Fresno State College last fall in his junior year and decided to take out after Nicklaus, Casper & Co. on the $6 million pro tour.

"I've wanted to play on the golf tour since I was 11 years old—I couldn't wait," the strapping young athlete said today. "I came from an athletically minded family. My dad played pro baseball and even had a contract with the Cardinals.

MARRIED

"But he got married instead.

Heard is one of the brash, new breed of hungry tigers who have abandoned other pursuits—including higher education—and plunged into the rich golf tour.

Heard popped up among the leaders of a tightly bunched pack after the first round of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open tournament yesterday.

He fired a 68, four under par, which placed him in a tie with six others, just one stroke back of pace-setting Lionel Hebert, the 41-year-old veteran from Lafayette, La., leading at 67.

PRO GRID MEETINGS

No Sign Of Agreement

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — The joint meeting of the National and American Football Leagues labored into its fifth day today with no sign of agreement in sight over the compounded problems of realigning for the 1970 season.

Emerging from a series of meetings, both joint and by the individual leagues, which lasted well into the night, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said nothing definite had been resolved yesterday.

NOT OPTIMISTIC

In fact, said Rozelle, he was not optimistic that the problems would be settled today.

There then posed the prospect that the thing will be taken up at a spring meeting in New York in May.

Boiled down, the issues as far as public interest go, are: in the 1970 merger of the ex-warring leagues, will the old NFL remain a separate identity of 16 teams and the relatively new AFL keep its 10-team image; or will there be total realignment of the 26 teams:

The NFL, Rozelle confirmed, still stands on its demand for the 16-10 alignment—with no deviations from its ranks, and any expansion teams, as projected in the future, to go to the younger AFL.

AFL owners, it became known, are unified more than ever in calling for complete amalgamation, and offered a plan to the NFL that would create four new divisions in the over-all league, two with seven teams and two with six teams.

Colts' Braase Hangs 'Em Up

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ordell Braase, who played 12 seasons in the National Football League, announced his retirement today from the Baltimore Colts.

Braase, 37-year-old defensive end, was the third Baltimore player to retire since the Colts won the 1968 NFL championship and then lost to the New York Jets in the Super Bowl.

Defensive back Bob Boyd and center Dick Szymanski preceded Braase into retirement.

Seals Hike Playoff Tickets $1

OAKLAND — The Oakland Seals have announced a $1 across-the-board increase in ticket prices for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Prices will be from $3.50 to $6.50, with mail orders now being accepted. Counter sales will begin March 29.

William Torrey, executive vice president of the Seals, said the $1 increase was among the lowest of teams which will be participating in the playoffs and that the hike would not meet the higher costs of Stanley Cup play.

The Seals, who clinched a playoff spot Wednesday night, have four games left in the regular National Hockey League season. Oakland expects to open Stanley Cup play at home April 2.

U.S. Amateur Hockey Team Loses Fourth

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The U.S. amateur ice hockey team faced a dismal prospect today, with four defeats in four games already and a key defense man unlikely to play again in the world championships.

Coach John Mayasich, more worried than ever after last night's 5-0 defeat by a ragged Canadian team, said, "I don't know when Paradise can play again, or whether he will play at all in these championships."

The 35-year-old coach, who is general manager of the Green Bay Bobcats club, stepped in for Paradise agai Canada.

The Americans now have played four of their five opponents once, with only Finland to come. The Finns, too, have lost all their games thus far, and the Americans' big hope is to win against Finland tomorrow.

Warriors Play In Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — San Francisco Warriors, who already have clinched a spot in the National Basketball Association's playoffs, play in the Coliseum Arena tonight at 8 o'clock against a last place Milwaukee team.

Coach George Lee probably will be able to rest Warrior guard Al Attles, who is suffering from a muscle pull. He also will be able to give part time rest to center Nate Thurmond, who has a cold, and guard Jeff Mullins, who has a twisted ankle.

San Francisco has a 40-40 record in the league's western division while Milwaukee is 25-54 in the eastern division.

Sale Of Inherited Stocks Can Satisfy Travel Hopes

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'm retired and would like to travel. My pension, along with dividends from 200 Standard Oil of New Jersey and 50 Maytag, takes care of my ordinary needs. I'm about to inherit the enclosed list of stocks. What shall I sell for travel money? What shall I hold and add to? — A. S.

A. Of your fine inheritance, I'd hold Anaconda, Northern Illinois Gas, AT&T and G.M. These four provide good income, and in my opinion you'd do well to build up G.M. and AT&T to 50 shares each as cash becomes available. When the market moves up again, the sale of R. R. Donnelly, Reliance Electric and Engineering, St. Regis Paper and National Propane preferred will release the capital you want for travel. I suggest that you discuss these proposed sales with your lawyer or accountant to determine your tax liability.

National Propane is traded over-the-counter, transactions are limited and hence daily quotes are not published. The company is controlled by DWG Corp., through the latter's ownership of approximately 90 per cent of the common stock. Latest quarterly earnings are disappointing, and price action is difficult to follow. Furthermore, the conglomerates are facing possible federal investigation and a less favorable attitude by New York Stock Exchange governors toward the issue of debt securities to acquire desired companies.

When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip visited Lake Villarica in Chile, a new airstrip was built especially to accommodate their plane.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Wife Must Report Income From Alimony, Separate Maintenance

Wikel

Alimony and separate maintenance payments are deductible by the husband and must be included in the wife's income if:

1. The payments are made under a decree of divorce or legal separation, or they are made under a written separation agreement made after August 16, 1954, or under a court decree for support made after March 1, 1954, and for payments made after August 16, 1954, under such decree.

2. The payments must be made after such decree or agreement.

3. The payments must cover a legal obligation arising out of marital or family relationships.

4. The payments must not be for the support of children. Child support does not count.

5. Only periodic payments count: Lump sum payments do not count.

Periodic payments are those which extend over a period of time greater than 10 years, or where it is impossible to figure the total amount that will be paid.

LUMP SUM

Lump sum payments are those where a fixed definite amount is payable immediately following the decree, or where fixed amounts can be figured from the terms of the decree that is payable over a period of 10 years or less.

Temporary payments pending divorce or legal separation do not count. Neither do payments intended to repay loans received previously from the wife, or to induce her to turn over community property. Payments for attorneys' fees or court costs do not count.

Provided that all payments qualify, a husband can deduct all payments made to all previous wives during the year, regardless of the number of such previous wives.

The husband cannot deduct attorneys' fees.

The wife can deduct the cost of collecting taxable alimony.

However, attorneys' fees which might be for getting child support would not be deductible.

Any child support received is not income to the wife.

NEW SUPPORT RULE

There is a new rule for determining who gets the dependency credit for children of divorced parents.

It applies only to people who are divorced, legally separated or separated pursuant to a written agreement and who file separate returns. Also, the parents together must furnish more than one-half of the total support of the child for the year and the child must be in custody of either or both parents for more than one-half of the year.

Generally speaking, the parent having custody of the child for the greater period of the year will normally be entitled to the dependency credit.

There are two exceptions to this.

1. If a parent who does not have custody of the child contributed at least $600 towards the child's support and the decree of divorce or separate maintenance or written agreement between the parties states that he is entitled to the exemption, or

2. If he contributed more than $1,200 in child support regardless of the number of children for the year and the parent having custody for the greater period during the year does not clearly establish that his share of child support was greater.

If the child lives with you and you do not furnish over one-half of the child's support, you still may be accorded treatment as the "head of household" which would give you a tax advantage if your net income is over $500.

Alimony, separate maintenance, child support and divorce are tricky questions. You and your spouse should be in agreement as to who is going to pay the taxes and claim the dependency on your tax returns. An amicable agreement between you can save you both a great deal of trouble and misunderstanding later.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Warning A Year Ago Goes Largely Unheeded

Just a year ago, the Committee for Economic Development published a searching report on "The National Economy and the Vietnam War."

Citing the rapid inflation since the United States in mid-1965 transformed token participation in the Vietnam War into the role of major antagonist, it called for a series of governmental curbs.

One of these was the 10 per cent tax surcharge for which President Johnson months later won congressional approval and which President Nixon now says must continue.

OTHERS, HOWEVER, have been largely ignored. They included:

"1. A slowdown in the space program and some shift of scientific and managerial talent to the solution of the more critical problems of the cities.

"2. Sizable cuts in the $4.5 billion expenditure for agriculture, most of which goes for subsidies.

"3. A more substantial stretchout than the President has proposed in the program for reclamation, rivers, and harbors.

"4. Postponement of highway expenditures (to) permit a shift in construction activity toward urban construction projects that are urgently needed."

ONE YEAR LATER, we are going full-speed-ahead to land a man on the moon this summer — scarcely a slowdown in the space program.

Subsidies to agriculture have been left virtually untouched.

Although there has been some slowdown in rivers, harbors and highways expenditures, it has not been accompanied by a speedup of urgently needed urban projects.

Also, a year after the Committee for Economic Development's report, the stock market is in the midst of strange gyrations, generally tending downward, which are reminiscent of those in the early months of 1929.

THE COMMITTEE, looking with hope to the future, suggested what would need to be done if the Vietnam War should end this year. "The committee has no basis for predicting when the war will end," it commented. "However, it seems more prudent to plan on the assumption of an early termination."

Should the war end, said the committee, taxes should be immediately reduced to encourage private investment. At the same time, it urged, there should be "expansion of government programs directed to the national concern with city, race, and poverty problems and with housing and education."

A YEAR LATER, the war appears no nearer its end. But a trend may be developing toward new military expenditures (the ABM system being merely one example) in preparation for a greater war should we foreclose our adventure in Vietnam.

The inflation has not been checked, although interest rates have accompanied taxes to new highs.

It might be profitable for our national policy makers to re-read the recommendations and predictions of the Committee for Economic Development a year ago. The committee then held that the rapid inflation starting in 1965 was "a result of policy failures."

Too many of the same policies seem to be with us despite the warning.

Pussy Willows

Each spring we go to the florists to buy some pussy willow branches. These delicate, silver-gray buds are very pleasing to the eye and to the sense of touch.

Like some tiny, furry creatures crawling in patterned precision along the slender branches, the delicate little things have an out-of-this-world quality which makes them a natural favorite of flower-arrangers.

They probably grow in Marin. Most plants do. However, we don't know exactly where.

'Margin Tax' Bill At Least Provokes Some New Thinking

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—With the measure by Sen. William E. Coombs, R-Rialto, proposing a "gross margin tax" before the state legislature, the public at least will have an opportunity to see and study a new approach to tax reform in California.

Past attempts at tax reform, based on conventional systems of taxation, have proved woefully inadequate.

SENATOR COOMBS, who had the foresight several years ago to envision that conventional methods of taxation eventually would be out-dated, set himself to work out new and daring plans to change the system. More than two years of study has gone into his gross margin tax measure.

He is dubious as to whether it will be adopted this year, but has introduced the plan so that fresh thinking concerning taxation will be applied to problem.

His plan, he says, is, put in a new light as Gov. Ronald Reagan has decided not to use all the recommendations of the tax advisory commission, and "it looks as if my own tax reform program may be incorporated in the governor's tax relief program."

"THE BILL," the senator said, "lowers the property tax, eliminates the inventory tax, and restores income and franchise taxes to their lower pre-1967 rates and rules.

"Replacing the revenue lost by these changes would be a tax on gross margins on sale of goods by business and industry on business services. Although the tax is relatively new in the United States, it has been widely adopted in Western Europe, where it was hailed as a completely 'neutral' tax.

"In other words, it has less effect on the business and financial decisions that people make than any other kind of a tax. This plan creates a tax system which is very sensitive to changes in the economy and provides permanent relief to over-taxed property owners."

THE STATE'S system of taxation now is geared not only to meet the annual budget, but also to provide some surplus, which Governor Reagan proposes to return to taxpayers in some form or another.

However, with the present policy of spending, it is not expected that this situation will last any length of time. The only outlook is an eventual increase in levies on the taxpayer, which have now grown so large as to be approaching the confiscatory stage.

Thus, unless the legislature adopts new methods of taxation, the outlook is hopeless for the taxpayer.

The Coombs plan does not include any provision for a decrease in spending, but seeks to equalize the aount of taxes the people pay for government operation.

Little Sears Points Abound In Marin

The recent traffic jam at the Sears Point raceway was predictable. It was very similar to the jamups that occur regularly at Candlestick Park, and at Golden Gate Fields in the East Bay. And at S.F.Airport, despite a freeway to the door and hundreds of acres of parking lots. And in Los Angeles, all over, every day.

Why did the jam occur? Because a large people-attracting facility was built in the boon-docks with only one way to get there — by automobile (or maybe, by helicopter).

In Marin we have lots of little Sears Points, less spectacular, on a smaller scale. But only one way to get there: by automobile. As a few examples: Northgate Shopping Center — one customer equals one car; our own Civic Center; Dominic's Restaurant; the new fair grounds . . .

All of these are busily generating more and more automobile trips. So what? So, Los Angeles in Marin. So Sprawlsville. So Smogsville.

What's the answer? Three things:

1. Get behind the Marin Transit District and the Golden Gate Bridge District plans for expanded bus transportation and other mass transit facilities. (There's no use flogging a reluctant Greyhound management to do the job.)

2. Plan all new developments to be accessible to and compatible with public mass transportation.

3. Restrict developments that generate high levels of auto trips, such as drive-ins . . .

Of course, there are a couple of alternatives — pave over the counties and turn them into freeways and parking lots . . .

Smog Board Hits At 'Paper Tiger'

The "Bay Area Smog Control Board" ban on Bay Area residence backyard burning appears to be a degree of frustration taken upon the general population.

I have commuted from Marin County to San Francisco for 15 years. Observation of wind and seasonal weather conditions show that varying degrees of smog conditions will be present in Marin County with an east wind, in San Francisco by a northeast wind, down the peninsula when a north wind is present.

One look shows this stifling blanket of lung and eye irritant to be blowing in from refineries and industry located in the East Bay counties.

The principal sources of Bay Area smog are (1) oil refineries, to a lesser degree other industry and (2) diesel fuel transportation, e.i. autos, trucks, buses, freight and passenger planes. What further steps and control legislation is the smog board proposing to local state or federal governments and industry to eradicate the pollution emitted from the above sources? . . .

In short, gentlemen, you are attacking a "paper tiger," to ban backyard burning.

The board should be able to do better.

Seminary Groups Appreciate Story

We have just completed a series of meetings with the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary trustees development council and the executive committee of the alumni association and at every one of these meetings there was tremendous praise for the Independent-Journal and the great story that they did for the seminary in the March 8 issue of the Marin Magazine. We are especially indebted to Mr. Don Keown for the wonderful presentation he made both in pictures and in words.

Grabbing Clothes Is Not Ju-Jitsu

I am writing in regard to an article in your March 13 edition, "Teaching Women To Street Fight."

Mr. (Norman) Kreuter states that ju-jitsu is not pracical for women because she must depend on the grabbing of clothing.

This is an untrue and false statement. Mr. Kreuter should get the facts straight before he talks about something that he obviously knows nothing about (ju-jitsu).

Having taught hundreds of women the art of ju-jitsu self-defense, I can tell Mr. Kreuter that grabbing of clothing has nothing to do with ju-jitsu.

Cancer Society Gains Support

Your two recent articles in the I-J on Virginia Graham and her personal reactions to cancer were excellent. We have already had several offers of assistance from people with a similar problem who have volunteered their services to the Cancer Society.

As you know, our annual crusade here in Marin will be in April. We appreciate your help and hope that we can count on your continued support.

ABM Issue Gives President First Showdown With Congress

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — the next six weeks will be crucial to the future of the Nixon Administration.

Mr. Nixon knows he is the only person who can win his antiballistic missile fight — the President himself, no one else.

To do it he is committing the power and prestige of the presidency.

WHY SIX WEEKS? Because it takes that long to develop national public opinon strong enough to influence votes in the Senate where the real crunch will come. Mr. Nixon will have this much time because it will take that long for congressional hearings and debates — and he intends to use each minute of it.

Why is it that the President must take personal charge of the ABM campaign? Because the deployment of the ABM is above all a presidential issue. It goes to the heart of the President's responsibility as commander in chief — the security of the nation. It vitally affects foreign policy, and the President has constitutional primacy in foreign policy. It bears directly on the forthcoming U.S.-Soviet arms-control talks, and here the President's actions are critical.

THE ABM is overlaid with other controversies which only the President can pierce. It causes the hawks and doves to line up almost automatically. It raises the sensitive issue of military versus domestic priorities. It raises the specter of the power of the "military-industrial complex" despite the fact that Mr. Nixon overruled more of its wishes than he granted.

The President knew he was taking on a potentially divisive hotly controversial issue in the ABM decision, but he intentionally drew the controversy directly to himself by not having Sec. of Defense Melvin Laird make the announcement. He did so becaue he knew that only the President could provide the proper advocacy and get the needed public acceptance.

WHY IS WINNING the ABM vote so vital to Mr. Nixon's future? For these reasons:

The President sees the ABMs as essential to protect the American deterrence to nuclear war. He doesn't propose to take unnecessary chances on that.

Limited U. S. deployment of ABMs to match limited Russian deployment will improve the prospects of getting an arms-control agreement with Moscow. True or false? Answer: True — and the best evidence is that the Russians were never willing to talk about arms control until President Johnson first approved a form of ABM deployment.

Finally, Mr. Nixon is quite aware that his decision in favor of limited deployment of the ABM ends his honeymoon with his opponents in Congress and it is vital to his future effectiveness as an activist President that he win on the first big issue on which he is politically challenged.

HE ISN'T worried about ending the political honeymoon; he is rather relieved because, as he has told friends, it is not the length of the honeymoon but the stability of the marriage that counts, and the marriage he is talking about is the continuing good-faith relationship between the President and Congress.

With a Democratic majority in both houses, Mr. Nixon doesn't expect to win them all, but he does expect to win the ABM one, and in the coming weeks you will be seeing a skillful President marshaling all his resources.

He is in a stronger position than the first headlines might suggest. Before he made his announcement, congressional opinion was running against the ABM. Immediately after it, Senators Fulbright, McGovern, McCarthy, Javits and others were able to pre-empt the news. But on the morning of his ABM press conference, Mr. Nixon conferred with the entire Democratic and Repblican leadership plus the chairmen and ranking minority members of the Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committees, the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, the Appropriations Committees and the Armed Services Committees. There were 26 in all. At the end of the conference only three of the 26 opposed the President.

Only a credible President can win on this issue, and so far Mr. Nixon's credibility is unmarred.

AN EDUCATOR'S VIEW

Dissidents Find New Catch Phrase: Brain Drain

By JOHN W. GILBAUGH
Professor of Education
San Jose State College

Grist for the dissident professors' propaganda mill is being produced by the use of two simple but loaded words. By combining these two words into a catchy phrase, professors have created a weapon which is being used to make parents tremble and legislators quake. And, with it the public is being led to believe that the system of higher education is on the verge of total collapse. The words? Brain drain.

With considerable effectiveness, the dissident, anarchist, and revolutionist message to the public that the brightest minds on college and university faculties are being lured to greener pastures. That the brains of the intellectually elite professors are being siphoned off by business, industry, and richly endowed colleges and universities in far-away places.

THE BULLY BOYS of academe are threatening a mass exodus from college campuses to force a stoppage in the flow of knowledge. And, they would have the public believe that the educational processes will grind to an abrupt halt with the absence of their disruptive antics. Quite the oppostie is true, however.

The dissident and anarchist professors who engagee in the recent, illegal strike at San Francisco State College and San Jose State College, along with their sympathizers on other college and university campuses, would make a most substantial contribution to higher education if they made good on their threat. That is, to leave it.

Who would miss a recurrence of the disruptive blasts, "On Strike! Shut It Down!" fired through classroom corridors from 12-gauge bullhorns by members of academic goon squads during the recent strikes? Who would miss the four-letter obscenities hurled at the governor of California, members of the State Legislature, regents and trustees? Would these elective and appointive officials miss them? Apparently not.

COLLEGE ADMINSTRATORS have reassured these officials by vouching for the professional competence of the subversive, anarchist and revolutionist professors. Furthermore, college presidents insist that it would be impossible to replace them with candidates of comparable degrees of distinction.

Because the college administrators who imported the revolutionists are viewed as honest men, their word has been accepted by public officials, who, now have missed their single opportunity to restore peace and tranquility to California higher education. They have failed to impose the resignation regulation already on the law books, which provides the basis for separation from employment of any state employe who absents himself from assigned duties, without authorization, for five consecutive days. Full reinstatement for all those to whom this rule applied, who have returned to their classrooms, has been recommended by college officials.

Meanwhile, taxpayers must take a new measure of the endurance of their patience. Perhaps taxpayers, while stretching their patience, might find the brain-drain philosophy of the dissident professors more palatable if they could find strength to submit to a system best described by paraphrasing Tennyson: Ours not to make reply, Ours not to reason why. Ours but to pay taxes and sigh.

Student Writers Differentiate Blacks From Negroes In Class

Two reports by black students at Redwood High School tell pretty clearly, to the reader with an eye for nuance, what the black student faces and what he thinks about.

The reports appeared in "Right On," newsletter for Tamalpais High School District's Project Breakthrough.

Frances Tate, Redwood senior, wrote this about a "third world" group:

"THE REDWOOD High third world consists of 11 black students and 14 white students. . .

"We have so-called meetings on Tuesday and Thursday. What I mean is that they talk about a lot of things they want to do — but what's the use of talking and never doing anything about what you are talking about. . .

"Here at Redwood there are only 15 black students. Most of them just realized they were black. They just woke up to what the white man has been doing to them.

"The white people at Redwood won't let, or the president of the third world won't arrange for, all the black students to have a black student union. . .

"IN THE BLACK history class there are a lot of Negroes as well as black students. It takes time to try and make these Negroes realize that they are black.

"The white students in the class are trying to see how a group of black students act in class together. They are trying to find out if what their parents are saying about black people is really true.

"Almost all of the white students in the black history class are hippies. Maybe this is good and maybe not.

"The teacher is very interested in black identity. But the black students can't actually trust and lay all their belief in him.

"We need all the help we can get. I think every black person. . . should know if they belong to white America or not.

"I hope by the time I graduate from Redwood my people are more advanced than they are now (that includes me too).

"As it stands now, we're not together at all. We have to learn how to fuss among ourselves, and not in front of white people. The white man loves to see black people argue and down each other. We don't want to do what whitey likes, but what whitey doesn't like."

DEBORAH PERRY, student in the black history class, wrote in similar vein:

"My opinion of the Redwood black history class is that the black students either have to unite or compromise. They argue too much. . . while the white students (mainly hippies) sit around exchanging glimpses and grins at one another.

"The class is a total disaster and the Negro students act or take the class for a circus exhibit. . . Whitey wants the black and Negro students at Redwood to stay in their places at all times. The black students will not, but the Negro feels as one said, 'Whatever my counselor tells me to do or be, I am going to be or do. . . If he wants me to be a model, I'm getting on a diet today to be a model. . . But what I do behind closed doors is none of his business."

AN "ONLY in Mill Valley" item: When the post office annex was repainted from federal prison gray to an ochre shade in the city beautification program, the painters carefully left the mass of ivy on the wall and painted the wall under and all around it, hardly touching a leaf.

Youth is catching up to all of us. Discussing a new playground supervisor hired at Sausalito's Central School, Principal Robert Lea described Isaiah Solomon as "an older man — in his early 30s."

"I guess I can trust him then," trustee James E. Muldoon said, "since he's over 30."

It is unfortunate, considering that enthusiasm moves the world, that so few enthusiasts can be trusted to speak the truth. — Arthur James Balfour.

Strange Story Out Of Madison With Overtones Of Brasilia

Fusselman

Last Friday I told you about the folks back in Madison, Wis., who, 12 years ago, were having the same sort of problems as we were with the Civic Center situation, and that they are now faced with mounting costs on the project there as we are here with the Brasilia complex.

I have before me duplicate copies of stories carried in the I-J on Aug. 29, 1957, and March 7, 1959, together with current memos from a newsman in Madison. It seems, that to give you a clear picture, a running line of quotes will be best. This will take more space than is available for the column, so it will come to you in two sections.

THE 1957 ONE in the I-J was headed: "Man Who Fought Wright Structure In Wisconsin Tells Marin 'Beware.'"

"Marin County had better have 'a lot of money' on hand if Frank Lloyd Wright is to design the multi-million-dollar county civic center, a vacationing Wisconsin legislator declared here yesterday" (Aug. 28, '57) (I had received a telephone call from the paper that this young attorney was there looking for me. He had been following the story of the debate here in news stories carried by Madison papers. I went up, had a long talk with him and then lunch the next day in San Francisco. We corresponded for several years.)

"He said Wright has a contract to design a civic auditorium on the shores of Lake Monona . . . A clause in the contract, he said, provided that Wright's design be submitted to independent estimators 'before he is paid a red cent.'

"HE SAID the estimators took Wright's first set of sketches and determined that the proposed four-million-dollar project would cost $5 and one-half million. 'So the sketches were returned to him for redesigning.'

"Wright at first urged that more money be spent but finally agreed to prepare new sketches. To bring the project within the four-million-dollar bond issue, he complained, 'Wright has reduced the auditorium seating capacity from 8,000 to 2,000 and the number of parking spaces from 4,200 to about 700.'

"'For four million dollars he couldn't get near what they wanted,' the young legislator said. The council wanted to pay 6 per cent, the fee it normally paid for designs of public buildings. Wright asked 10 per cent. After a stormy debate the council compromised at 8 per cent and Wright said it was the worst contract he had ever signed. What Wright has designed is a semi-circular structure 102 feet high, with wings. The parking area would be located atop a funnel-type structure above some railroad tracks."

THE MEMOS from the newsman in Madison now show that even the final sketches, which reduced the seating capacity from 8,000 to 2,000 and parking from 4,200 to 700 and was to be a $4 million project had the lowest bid offering of $13 million, so the whole thing was then dropped.

However, a new mayor has revived it and a contract for a new design was made with the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation and a resident architect has been assigned to the project. The city has $5,500,000 available.

Case Continued In Burglary, Car Theft

John Lyle Mead, 52, of 7 Napa Avenue, Fairfax, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of burglary and auto theft. His case was continued until today in order for him to obtain an attorney.

Mead was arrested Wednesday after a San Anselmo man told police that his car and television were missing Monday after he had allowed Mead and another man to stay overnight at his home.

Red Paper Raps Church Loyalty

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Communists were told today that too many people—including some card-carrying party memmembers—were still going to church.

"Every Communist is a fighting atheist," or at least he should be, the party central committee newspaper Sovietskaya Rossiya declared in a front-page editorial.

The newspaper criticized party officials who have ignored the fact that many party members are also having their children baptized.

"All this is going on despite the fact that K. Marx says religion is the opiate of the people, a reactionary force and holds back the development of society," the editorial said.

Fairfax Planners To Review Market

The Fairfax Planning Commission will continue its hearing on an application for a special use permit for a 7-11 store at 161 Bolinas Road at next Thursday's meeting at 8 p.m. in the Fairfax Pavilion.

The commissioners will also consider three other applications for encroachment and variance permits.

Moratorium On Killing Gray Whales Issued

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A moratorium on the killing of gray whales was in effect today, while scientists investigated the deaths of five of the big mammals found on California beaches including two in Marin County.

The embargo on hunting the whales was announced by the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, which normally allows 29 whales to be killed during their migration season.

Preliminary autopsies have failed to ascertain whether the whales died as a result of passing through the oil slick in the Santa Barbara channel.

Two-Story Addition Permits Approved

Two residents of Cay Passage were given permission to build two-story additions to their homes by the Corte Madera Board of Adjustments Wednesday night, Betty Long, secretary, said today.

Applications were for adjoining properties of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Scola of 9 Cay Passage and E. J. Karandy fo 5 Cay Passage. Objections to the applications were made by Mariner's Cove Improvement Association members on the basis that the development originally had only one story dwellings.

Education Discipline To Be Topic

Three educators will discuss "Discipline in Education?" at the Mill Valley Forum at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Mill Valley City Hall.

According to forum director Alan W. Barnett, panelists will debate whether teachers and administrators should enforce strict codes of behavior and dress or whether students should be free to work out their own codes and whether disciplines of math, science, literature and other subjects should follow a teacher's directions or encourage students to take the initiative.

Other questions to be explored by the panel include: Should grades be awarded for class performance? Is competitiveness a proper motive for learning? Should learning be individualized? Conventional or multi-level classrooms? What kind of preparation is best for college and the professions?

Speaking will be J. Richard Suchman, educational consultant and author of the inquiry development programs published by Science Research Associates.

A former professor of education at the University of Illinois, Dr. Suchman is a past director of educational research in the U.S. Office of Education and presently is director of the Ortega Park Teachers Laboratory.

Theodore Mitchell, guidance counsellor at Tamalpais High School and Dr. Ellen Binkley, chairman of the Tamalpais High School District Committee on Discipline, will also speak. Questions from the audience will be answered following the panel discussion.

Rusk Says Nixon Careful So Far

OAKLAND (AP)—Dean Rusk, who served two Democratic administrations for eight years as secretary of state, says he thinks the Nixon administration has been "careful and prudent" so far in its handling of international affairs.

"We left them some interesting problems to solve," Rusk remarked at a news conference.

He added that he is enjoying "the change from a world of decision to a world of opinion."

Student Help Sought For Art

Commissioners also agreed to ask Becky Jenkins of the San Francisco Neighborhood Art Association to speak at the commission's April 16 meeting.

An exhibit by Roy Gover was approved for the library gallery during April, Mrs. Dillingham said.
